THE LITTLE BROWN CURL.

MARY MUNK M'CALEB.

A quaint old box with a lid of blue,
All faded and worn with age;
A soft little curl of a brownish hue,
A yellow and half written page.

The letters with never a pause nor dot,
In a schoolboy's hand are cast;
The lines and the curl I may hold to-day,
But the love of the boy is past.

It faded away with our childish dreams,
Died out like the morning mist,
And I look with a smile on the silken curl
That once I have tenderly kissed.

One night in the summer—so long ago—
We played by the parlor door;
And the moonlight fell, like a silver veil
Spreading itself on the floor;

And the children ran on the graveled walk,
At play in their noisy glee;
But the maddest, the merriest fun just then,
Was nothing to John and me.

For he was a stately boy of twelve,
And I was not quite eleven—
We thought as we sat by the parlor door
We had found the gate to heaven.

That night when I lay on my snowy bed
Like many a foolish girl,
I kissed and held to my little heart
This letter and silken curl.

I slept, and dreamed of the time when I
Should wake to a fairy life;
And sleeping blushed when I thought that John
Had called me his little wife.

I have loved since then with a woman's heart
Have known all a woman's bliss,
But never a dream of the after life
Was ever so sweet as this.

The years went by with their silver feet,
And often I laughed with John
At the vows we made by the parlor door,
When the moon and stars looked on.

Ah! boyish vows are broken or lost;
And a girl's first dream will fade;
But I dearly loved his beautiful wife
While he was my husband's friend.

When last I went to my childhood's home,
Far over the bounding wave,
I missed my friend, for the violets grew
And blossomed over his grave.

To-day as I opened the old blue box,
And looked on this soft brown curl,
And read of the love John felt for me
When I was a little girl,

There came to my heart a throb of pain,
And my eyes grew moist with tears,
For the childish love and the dear, dead friend,
And the long lost, buried years.

MEETING AND PARTING.

BY IDA GLENWOOD.

How little we know of each other,
As we meet here awhile, and then part;
How little we know of the sorrows,
The pain, or the joy of each heart!
Our hands fondly clasp at the greeting;
We join them again ere we go,
Yet how little we know of each other,
In this Journey of Life here below.

How little we know of each other—
Of the erring we meet on the way,
Or how often the faint heart has struggled
With the tempter which leads it astray;
Of the fightings, relentings, and failings
Of the weary ones struggling for right!
Oh! how little we know as we pass them,
How much we might aid in the fight.

How little we know of each other,
As we mingle in Life's bustling throng!
Nor [illegible] hurriedly past us;
Nor [illegible] shouts, and laughter, and song;
But we see not the wounds deeply hidden
'Neath the covering so joyous and bright!
O, how little we know of each other,
How little we aid in the right.

How little we know of each other,
In this Journey of Life here below!
We meet for a while, and then never,
Yet clasp trembling hands ere we go!
But there is a Land o'er the River,
Where no parting or heartache shall come—
There, there we shall know one another,
When the Father's dear children get Home—

THE QUEEN OF ALL.

Honor the dear old mother. Time has scattered the snowy flakes on her brow, plowed deep furrows on her cheeks, but is she not sweet and beautiful now? The lips are thin and shrunken, but those are the lips which have kissed many a hot tear from the childish cheeks, and they are the sweetest lips in all the world.

The eye is dim, yet it glows with the soft radiance of holy love which can never fade. Ah, yes, she is a dear old mother. The sands of life are nearly run out, but feeble as she is, she will go farther and reach down lower for you than any other upon earth. You cannot walk into a midnight where she cannot see you; you cannot enter a prison whose bars will keep her out; you can never mount a scaffold too high for her to reach that she may kiss and bless you in evidence of her deathless love. When the world shall despise and forsake you, when it leaves you by the wayside to die unnoticed, the dear old mother will gather you in her feeble arms and carry you home and tell of all your virtues until you almost forget that your soul is disfigured by vices. Love her tenderly and cheer her declining years with holy devotion.

"Mister," began a small boy, as he entered a Woodward avenue grocery, "ma bought some mackerel last night."

"Yes."

"And, in making change, you gave her—"

"No, I didn't! I haven't had a quarter with a hole in it for a month!"

"But ma says you gave her a—"

PROHIBITION IN KANSAS.

Governor-elect Glick, of Kansas, asserts that prohibition is not a success in that State, and he does not believe it will be. He is reported as saying:

"There is as much liquor drank in Kansas to-day as there ever was. On election day sixteen large jugs were taken from the train at a small station, being consigned to various parties. Liquor is found in the houses of the rich and poor. The practice of drinking at home has become quite prevalent in all classes of society, and promises to work a great injury. Young boys see their fathers drink and in time will imitate their example."

The Chicago Tribune in a review of the results of prohibition in Kansas as compared with those of high license in Nebraska, says:

"In Omaha, a city of about 30,000 inhabitants, the number of saloons have been reduced from 150 to 90, and the latter contribute $90,000 (instead of $25,000, as formerly) for the maintenance of schools, which was previously levied upon the real and personal property of that city. The contrast between this system and the prohibition system is well illustrated by the condition of things in Topeka, Kansas, a city of 15,000 inhabitants, or about one-half as large as Omaha. A gentleman who has recently returned from Kansas, and who has given the matter some study, reports that there are 170 saloons in Topeka which are run without interference or restraint, although the town is full of noisy cranks of the St. John stripe of coercive tectotalers. Thus a city under a prohibition law, which doesn't prohibit, with a population of 15,000 inhabitants, maintains nearly twice as many saloons as a city with twice as many inhabitants which is required by State law to impose a license of $1,000. In the one case the law is enforced, and in the other case it is not enforced. There are in proportion four times as many saloons in Topeka under the St. John prohibition law as there are in Omaha under the high license act, and also four times as much drunkenness.

As a rule the county press is the true molder of public opinion. It is not hampered by the thousand and one conditions and contingencies that muzzle the pens of city dailies. News is a good thing to have, but it is not the only desirable feature of a public journal. The city papers are valuable for their superior advantages in gathering news—the country papers for the greater weight and breadth of their opinions. We can not well keep house without the city papers, and they would be the veriest husks without the influx of indeas they manage to borrow or steal from their country exchanges.—Ex.

It was a Boston girl who asked: "Why is it that two souls, mated in the impenetrable mystery of their nativity, float by each other on the ocean currents of existence without being instinctively drawn together, blended and beautiful in the assimilated alembic of eternal love?" That is an easy one. It is because butter is forty-five cents a pound, and a good sealskin sacque costs as high as five hundred dollars. The necessaries of life must experience a fall in price before two souls will readily blend in the assimilated alembic, and so forth.

An attorney, on being called to account for having acted unprofessionally in taking less than the usual fees from his client, pleaded that he had taken all the man had. He was thereupon honorably acquitted.

A. S. LATTIMORE, Ph. D., L. L. D., Professor of Chemistry in the University of Rochester, N. Y., knowing the popularity and merit of WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE, after a thorough Chemical Analysis, has furnished the following statement:

UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER,
Chemical Laboratory,
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1880.

MR. H. H. WARNER has placed in my possession the formula of the medicine manufactured and sold by him under the general designation of WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE. I have investigated his processes of manufacture, which are conducted with extreme care and according to the best methods. I have also taken from his laboratory samples of all the materials used in the preparation of this medicine, and upon critical examination I find them, as well as the medicine into which they enter, to be entirely free from poisonous or deleterious substances.

S. A. LATTIMORE.

This Remedy which has done such wonders, put up in the LARGEST SIZED BOTTLES of any medicine upon the market, and is sold by Druggists and all dealers at $1.25 per bottle. For Diabetes enquire for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE. It is a positive remedy.

ADAMS, N. Y., Jan. 30, 1882.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gents:—Having used a good deal of your Kendall's Spavin Cure with great success, I thought I would let you know what it has done for me. Two years ago I had as speedy a colt as was ever raised in Jefferson County. When I was breaking him, he kicked over the cross bar and got fast and tore one of his hind legs all to pieces. I employed the best farriers, but they all said he was spoiled. He had a very large thorough-pin, and I used two bottles of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, and it took the bunch entirely off, and he sold afterwards for $1,800 (dollars). I have used it for bone spavins and wind galls, and it has always cured completely and left the leg smooth.

It is a splendid medicine for rheumatism. I have recommended it to a good many, and they all say it does the work. I was in Witherington & Knoeland's drug store, in Adams, the other day and saw a very fine picture you sent them. I tried to buy it, but could not. They said that if I would write to you that you would send me one. I wish you would, and I will do you all the good I can.

Very respectfully, E. S. LYMAN.

From the Oneonta Press, N. Y.

ONEONTA, New York, January 6, 1881.

Early last summer Messrs. B. J. Kendall & Co., of Enosburgh Falls, Vt., made a contract with the publishers of the Press for a half column advertisement for one year, setting forth the merits of Kendall's Spavin Cure. At the same time we secured from the firm a quantity of books, entitled "Dr. Kendall's Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases, which we are giving to advance paying subscribers to the Press as a premium.

About the time the advertisement first appeared in this paper Mr. P. G. Schermerhorn, who resides near Colliers, had a sparkled horse. He read the advertisement and concluded to test the efficacy of the remedy, although his friends laughed at his credulity. He bought a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and commenced using it on the horse, in accordance with the directions, and he informed us this week that it effected such a complete cure that an expert horseman, who examined the animal recently, could find no trace of the spavin or the place where it had been located. Mr. Schermerhorn has since secured a copy of Kendall's Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases, which he prizes very highly, and would be loth to part with at any price, provided he could not obtain another copy. So much for advertising reliable articles.

From Col. L. T. Foster.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 10, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt, which I prized very highly. He had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other, which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, and I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it. They ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to directions, and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the State. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, and they are now using it. Very respectfully,

L. T. FOSTER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

ON HUMAN FLESH.

PATTEN'S MILLS, N. Y., Feb. 21, 1878.

DR. B. J. KENDALL, Dear Sir:—The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months' standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your Spavin Cure put the foot to the ground again, and for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it exceeds anything we ever used.

Yours truly, REV. M. P. BELL,
Pastor of M. E. Church, Patten's Mills, N. Y.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep-seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as spavins, splints, curbs, ringbone, sprains, stiffings, and any lameness and enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It can fully be known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mildly, and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to and address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

CHAMPION FRUIT DRYER,

MANUFACTURED BY

E. COX,

At Independence, Polk County, Ogn.

SOLE RIGHT FOR POLK & BENTON COUNTIES.

This Dryer is the latest improvement in Fruit Dryers, having been patented in August, 1881. It has the largest capacity of any Fruit Dryer sold at the price, and is the most easily and economically operated of any on the market. The fruit trays are raised by an elevator, operated by a lever at the bottom, and can be put in or taken out without loss of the heated air, and without exposing the fruit to a cold draft. It has also a feature not possessed by any other dryer, to-wit: It has reflectors at the bottom that throw the fresh air on to the furnace, thus heating the air before it goes to the fruit. This is a very important feature. These dryers will be built only on orders, and orders should be sent in early, in order to insure their being filled.

The dryer can be seen at Mr. Paul Hiltebrand's on Luckiamute, or at Robert McLaughlin's, 1½ miles north of Buena Vista. We guarantee satisfaction to any one who will purchase a dryer. Orders can be sent to the undersigned at Independence, Polk County, Oregon. I indulge in no boasting, but am willing for all to see and examine for themselves.
