Is Albin Polk's story?

Dr. Hall's Journal of Health, in a recent issue, says:

"This question has caused a good deal of feeling as to whether the system is bakers to whiten their bread, enabling them to use an inferior flour. It is more extensively employed as a cheap substitute for cream of tartar in the manufacture of baking powders. It has not been considered immediately dangerous, although it is contained in the art. The question is a more serious one, and prudent people will exercise caution in the selection of baking powders."

"Under what conditions, then, does this substance—formerly used only for mechanical or medicinal purposes—become poisonous? They are certainly obscure, and at present we can only surmise what they may be. We suspect that the cause exists in the individual poisoned; some peculiarity of the constitution producing a morbid change in the secretions of the stomach, with which the alum combines and forms a deadly poison."

"For example, two parts of mercury and two parts of chlorine form calomel, which is not poisonous; but change the proportions to one part of mercury and two parts of chlorine, and we get corrosive sublimate, which is a deadly poison."

"Then, again, we know nothing of the causes of constitutional peculiarities. Why is it that one person can eat all kinds of green fruits and vegetables with impunity, while the same course might cost another individual his life? One person can handle poison ivy and smoke without being in the least affected; another is poisoned if he approaches within ten feet of them. Out of a family residing in a malarial district, some of the members will suffer half the year with fever and ague, while the others will enjoy excellent health during the entire year. Feeds that are wholesome and far more palatable to one person than to another."

"We are in entire sympathy with the manufacturers of the Royal Baking Powder who commenced and are vigorously conducting the war against the use of alum in baking powders."

"Before committing ourselves, however, we made tests of a sufficient number of baking powders to enable us to make a reliable statement as to their safety. The substitution of alum for cream of tartar in their composition has not been over-estimated, while a careful examination of the Royal Baking Powder confirms our belief that Dr. Mott, the Government Chemist, when he singled out and commended this powder for its wholesomeness, did it wholly in the interests of the public."

"We do not hesitate to say that the Royal Baking Powder is the most desirable of the community whom they are endeavoring to protect."

"Will not some prominent manufacturer of pure Candies follow their example, and expose the secrets of a business that is doing untold mischief to little children?"

THE NEW PATENT DUST-PROOF Stem Winding Open Face Case

MANUFACTURED BY THE American Watch Co., WALTHAM, MASS.

This case is formed in one solid piece without joint or seam, opening in front only, thus avoiding the dust, and securing greater strength and durability.

These watches are all OPEN FACE. The band into which an extra strong crystal is fitted, with an equally perfect water-proof, cushion, is attached to the case by screwing it thereto, and thus forms a perfect junction with the body of the case, which is proof against dust and moisture.

To railroad men, travelers, miners, husbandmen and others who are almost constantly exposed, and who have to make frequent reference to the watch, these qualities are of the utmost importance.

The following letters tell their own story.

"Valencia, Georgia, July 27, 1882.

"I sold one of your Patent Dust-Proof Cases about ten months ago, and the other day it came back to me with the request to make it tight again. On examination I found that the stem was rusty, and I repaired it into the case of it. The gentleman stated to me that he was starting some saw-logs that had lodged in the bend of the river, when his chain caught in a bend and threw his watch into about twelve feet of water, and he was about two hours fishing it. When he got it out it was running and he thought all right. In about three months he found that the stem was hard to turn and sent it to me."

"I can say that the watch is all that the owner claims for it and recommend it to all railroad and mill men."

B. W. BENTLEY.

"Canton, Iowa, April 23, 1881.

"I wish you would send me a spring for the Wm. Elery Watch."

"By the way the Elery is a watch I sold in your New Bedford case to a watch but told. The kind of spring he had in the watch in the woods, and found it was in about one foot of water. It had been three months and over in snow and water, with but slight injury to the watch—only a hair-spring."

C. S. RAYMOND.

The above were very severe tests, and demonstrate beyond a doubt, that for any reasonable length of time during which a watch might be under water it would receive no injury.

We make these cases in gold and silver, and as perfectly Dust-Proof Stem Winding Watch Case, Challenge the World to Produce its Equal.
