For none must know that those sweet lips
Could part with sighing.
Come, join in merry song and dance,
Nor sorrow tell by sigh or glance.

God knows 'tis hard to smile when one
Is sad and weary;
To dance as though thy heart were light
When all is dreary.
There's many curious lips to ask
Thy cause for pain. Put on thy mask.

No, no, 'twill never do—that smile,
'Tis not beguiling;
Far better see the tear drops there
Than such sad smiling.
For one could read the story there
Of broken hearted, sad despair. Here is a mask; 'twill hide thy grief;

Here is a mask; 'twill have thy greet;
Come, wear it lightly,
And none will guess that 'heath thy smile,
Beaming so brightly,
Is naught but bitter tears and pain—
A bleeding heart with anguish slain.

True love is like the ivy bold,
That cliugs each day with firmer hold;
That groweth on through good and ill,
And 'mid the tempest clingeth still.
What though the walls on which it climbs
Have lost the grace of former times?
Will then the ivy lose its hold,
Forget the sunny days of old?
Nay, rather will it closer cling
With loving clasp, remembering
That it had hardly lived at all
Without the kindly, shelt ring wall.

True love is like the lvy green,
That ne'er forgetieth what has been.
And so till life itself be gone,
Until the end it clingeth on.
What though the tree where it may cling

DALLAS NURSERY.

Choice Trees at Fair Prices.

I want to say to the public that I am still in the nursery leasiness, and have a finer stock of that trees on hand this fall than ever before, which I am prepared to seil as low as is constant with first class stock. All stock strictly praired with second class stock. All stock strictly traited with secure out from trees bearing good fruit (so you need not be straid of degeneration caused by a practice of some men cutting scions off young and vigorous. Please correspond with me or come and see my stock, as I have no agent in the field. I want every body to know I never did supply anyone to sell trees for me,—though I did wholesale some apples a d pears—but nothing else—to Messrs. Yount & Kunbail, but they were dealers in trees and mixed my trees with trees from other nurseries.
