THE people of Oregon are being out rageously taxed and feel it keenly. The blame is laid at the door of the ried on a general merchandising bush The blame is laid at the door of the field of a general heremandising busi-legislature. It may be that a majori-ty were not really in favor of such lav-ish expenditures, but, anyway, they allowed themselves to be induced to wote away the money, and the general public will neither forget nor forgive it. If we read aright the signs of the times, the next election will call for altimes, the next election will call for al-most a complete new set, composed of men shrewd enough and strong enough to withstand the pressure brought to hear from so many sources, to tax the working masses beyond reason. Monday morning several thousand dropped their tools and walked out. The managers had fully decided that they would make no difference whatever between union and non union men. Both sides agreed to arbitration, with the result that nearly all the men were more than glad to be re-employed on the same terms as before. The time has come that union men cannot say that non union men shall not be employed on the same work as themselves, without interference and upon such terms as employers and employes choose to make.
