SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Per year $1.00, Per six months .50, Per three months .25. Advertising rates made on application. Correspondence is solicited. Fine Job Printing done at reasonable prices.

EVER since inauguration day the president and his cabinet have been besieged by a swarm of office seekers and their friends to such an extent that they had but little time left to attend to the important duties of their office.

L. Abrams, of Lincoln passed this way Tuesday. Several of our citizens, mostly old married men, have the courting fever this week.

Grandma Graves from Independence was down to see her daughter Mrs. Kingston Monday and Tuesday.

Johnny Clark, of Dallas, came down on Monday's train and went over to Zeena to visit his parents a few days.

Several of the McCoy young people attended the concert at Amity last Saturday evening and reporting having a fine time.

O. H. Sheldon has quite a collection of old coins one 25 cts piece was coined in 1806 and several English and Spanish coins.

Mrs. L. P. Reese, Mrs. J. D. Kelly and Mrs. M. S. Gardner attended the county Sunday school convention at Monmouth last Friday and Saturday.

C. A. Post lost a valuable cow on Monday by locking horns with a neighbor's cow and in a tussle she slipped and was thrown onto her neck which was broken.

Miss Carpenter will give an entertainment at the close of her school Friday evening May 19th. Doors open at 7 P. M. Admission free come all and listen to the little folks.

Gus Gardner seems to be working hard for the deputy sheep inspectors office as he thinks Mr. Erazor is getting most too feeble to get out in bad weather, it is hard to say which will be appointed Gus, or James Butrick as they both seem fully qualified.

J. Waldo Finn is the boss angler of McCoy; he was fishing in uncle John McQuerry's pasture just east of town last week and hooked a mountain trout that measured 14 inches by the rule. It was about as Master Waldo wants to do to land his fish ship but with the assistance of his father they secured Mr. Trout.

Mrs. Nicholas is improving slowly. Bond & McFarlane will build Wm. Ellis' new house.

The Maccabees will give an entertainment on the 11th of June.

The father and mother of Mrs. Lucas have just arrived from the east.

Wilson Carey was home on his wedding tour, but only remained a few days.

Montgomery started his saw mill last week and is cutting lumber at a lively rate.

Mr. Graham's cousin and his family arrived here last week from Michigan to make Oregon their future home.

L. R. Kimes has cut out over 1500 fruit trees this spring. Mr. Kimes raises a very fine variety of fruit on his place.

Now as all the mills are running or will be very soon, every man under Dallas City will be busy during the summer months.

At the council meeting on last Saturday evening Warren Ward was appointed councilman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Jacob Wondertly.

Now we have a cemetery, why not every citizen turn out on decoration day, work on it. There is need of graded drives and walks, also a fence. Let the trustees of the various churches take this matter in hand and start the ball rolling.

Dallas Public School. Today ends the eighth month and there are four more weeks to teach. These patrons and the general public who have kept track of the work being done there during the term are aware that it has been of more than ordinary excellence. There has perhaps not been so much memorizing done as in years past, but the amount of solid, tangible work, requiring time, labor, thought, skill, reasoning and judgment was never before equalled in the school. Hundreds of samples of the work of all kinds is there on file to see and judged by whoever wishes. True enough some pupils have, for one reason or another, not made much progress, but it has not been the fault of the teachers for all have had on equal showing. Cramping has been studiously avoided and there has been systematic, united work from the lowest grade to the highest. An excellent foundation has been laid for future progress. We have sometimes heard that some of the teachers were too lax in discipline, but a recent visit to all the departments gave no indications of it. Everything was quiet and orderly, both teachers and pupils seeming perfectly at ease. The present corps of teachers are W. I. Reynolds, T. J. Jackson, Misses Mildred Jacobs, Ruth McDevitt, Mattie Williams and Mrs. W. A. Wash.

Suitors sawmill will begin cutting lumber next week and Martins mill early in June.

J. C. Gaylor and family have moved into the dwelling between the home of J. N. Campbell and J. W. Crider.

"I Am So Tired" is a common exclamation at this season. There is a certain bracing effect in cold air which is lost when the weather grows warmer; and when Nature is renewing her youth, her admirers feel dull, sluggish and tired. This condition is owing mainly to the impure condition of the blood, and its failure to supply healthy tissue to the various organs of the body. It is remarkable how susceptible the system is to the help to be derived from a good medicine at this season. Possessing just those purifying, building up qualities which the body craves, Hood's Sarsaparilla soon overcomes that tired feeling, restores the appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, imparts health. Its thousands of friends as with one voice declare "It Makes the Weak Strong."

THE WORLD'S FAIR. CHICAGO, May 8.—The day dawned bright on the "White City," and the prospects for a decidedly increased attendance during the current week are very good indeed. The people began to come on the grounds early and before noon it was evident that the day's attendance would be large. In addition to those present during the day, fully 20,000 persons witnessed a magnificent display at night, when the whole electric force stored within the grounds was turned on, making one of the grandest electrical illuminations ever seen in this country. Thousands of electric lights gleamed from almost every crevice of the exterior of the administration, agricultural, electrical, manufacturing and liberal arts buildings, while electrical fountains sparkled in myriads of colored lights.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8.—Sir James Long, proprietor of the Sheffield (England) Telegraph, who visited the world's fair last week with a party of British journalists, has given his impressions of the fair and the prospects of the fair. He said he considered the Chicago show the greatest ever held, the most extensive, the most costly, and architecturally the most imposing. It was a question of money, and never before had so much money been contributed for such a purpose. The buildings were much ahead of those at Paris, but he was disappointed at the unready state of exhibition. Strangely enough, the most backward exhibit were those which the Americans themselves were making. In his Sheffield, all but two manufacturers had practically boycotted the Chicago fair on account of the McKinley act preventing them from selling goods in the United States. He approved this action at the time they decided upon it, but he now thought it was a mistake. Many British merchants were losing the opportunity of a lifetime for advertising. If it had not been for the McKinley act, England's exhibit at Chicago would have been the best that country had ever made. He did not think the exhibition of paintings equal to that made at Vienna. He did not think the fair would be a financial success.

GRAND JURY REPORT. The Grand Jury finished its labors yesterday and was discharged. Here is its report: In the Circuit Court of Polk County, State of Oregon. To Hon. Geo. H. Burnett, Judge of the above named court. We the Grand Jury drawn for the May term 1893 of the Circuit Court of Polk county, having completed our labors, beg to submit the following report: We have examined the office, books and files of the County Clerk, and so far as we can judge everything is properly, neatly and accurately kept. We would recommend the re-wrapping and re-labeling of all the probate papers. We have examined the Sheriff's office, and books and find them in good condition. We find the jail in good condition; but there is a lack of water facilities. We have no recommendations to make with regard to it or any other of the county buildings. Ben Chambers is working in a railroad foundry at Sacramento. While Principal Reynolds was at the Sunday school convention last Friday, that veteran of the schoolroom, Prof. Bell, filled his place with ease and grace.

Three Children Poisoned By Impure Vaccination—Covered with Sores. How their Lives Were Saved.

"When we were living in Chico, Cal., my three children, respectively 8, 7 and 10 years of age, were all in good health until they were vaccinated in January, and after that not one of them was well for months. They were all blood poisoned by impure matter used in vaccination. In August I began giving them Hood's Sarsaparilla. They were covered with sores from head to foot. After they had taken the medicine for about a month, the eruptions healed, their appetites became normal, they slept well and commenced to gain in flesh. They have not had a sick day since. No children are more robust and healthy. My husband and myself believe we owe our children's lives to Hood's Sarsaparilla. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other. Hood's Pills are Constipation by restoring the genuine action of the alimentary canal."

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES

which we always keep in the house. I am only too glad to give this statement and I hope it will be the means of restoring other people to use medicine which I know to have so much merit: Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills. Mrs. James Thayer, San Jose, California. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other. Hood's Pills are Constipation by restoring the genuine action of the alimentary canal.

THE CAPITAL OF OREGON. We pass over the formation of the provisional government of the territory of Oregon, then comprising all the country west of the Rocky mountains lying between California and British Columbia, embracing what is now Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. A territorial government was formed after much hard work by the friends of the Oregon Bill. On the memorable Saturday night, August 12th, 1848, to prevent the passage of the bill, Gen. Foote made his long speech, recounting the creation of the world, the temptation of Eve, the fall of man, the exodus from the garden of Eden also the surgical operation of removing the rib of Adam and the creation of his mate, and the whole story down to the time of that great speech, which lasted until the Sabbath morning, August 13th, 1848. Then the opposition to the bill, seeing there was no hope for them, gave up and it was passed. President Polk within a few hours affixed his signature and Oregon was a territory. The seat of government was established at Oregon City, and the president appointed General Joseph Lane, of Indiana, as governor. He accepted the commission and in three days disposed of his property, made all arrangements and started on the journey to Oregon. Joe Meek was appointed marshal, secretary, King Prichett, treasurer, James Taylor, auditor, B. Garvais, chief justice, Wm. C. Bryant, associate justices, O. C. Pratt and P. H. Burnett. In March, 1853, the territory of Washington was created and Oregon's territory was changed to Salem and the first session of the legislature met at that place in December, 1852, and also the supreme court. Salem remained the capital until a bill passed the legislature on January 13th, 1855, removing it to Corvallis and the university which had been located there to Jacksonville. A bush published the Statesman then and for many years afterward and removed the paper to Corvallis in April, 1856, declaring that the Statesman would be published at the seat of government, wherever it might be located. The opposition to the removal of the capital to Corvallis assumed a bitter magnitude and the work which had commenced on the territorial buildings at Salem was discontinued. Governor Curry referred the matter to the secretary of treasury and received instructions not to annul any contracts or make any new ones nor remove his office from Salem, as the act of removal of the capital to Corvallis had not been acted on by congress and was not legal until it was. The governor and secretary B. F. Harding immediately removed their offices back to Salem. In September, Secretary Harding received instructions not to pay out any money for public buildings erected at any place but Salem, nor for paying to members of the legislature meeting at Corvallis, which settled the question. For legality the legislature met at Corvallis on December 3rd, 1856, and on the 6th a bill was introduced relocating the seat of government at Salem. They passed it on the 10th to take effect on the 12th. The council having a quorum when the bill reached it the same day, could not act upon it. They next day motions were made to substitute Portland, Albany or Roseburg for Salem, but they were all voted down. It was amended to take effect on the 15th and passed, the house concurring in the amendment the same day, 12th. The next steamboat down the river carried the members of the legislature, Statesman office and the whole court, and Salem was again the seat of government. On the 29th of December, 1856, an incendiary fire consumed the nearly finished state house, the next general election. The court, the Statesman office and the whole court, and Salem was again the seat of government. On the 29th of December, 1856, an incendiary fire consumed the nearly finished state house, the next general election. The court, the Statesman office and the whole court, and Salem was again the seat of government.

"Seeing is Believing." And a good lamp must be simple; when it is not simple it is not good. Simple, Beautiful, Good—these words mean much, but to see "The Rochester" will impress the truth more forcibly. All metal, tough and seamless, and made in three pieces only, it is absolutely safe and unbreakable. Like Aladdin's of old, it is indeed a "wonderful lamp," for its marvellous light is pure and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light and more cheerful than either. Look for this stamp—The Rochester. If the lamp dealer has not the genuine Rochester, and the style you want, send us for our new illustrated catalogue, and we will send you a lamp safely by express—your choice of over 3,000 varieties from the Largest Lamp Store in the World.
