Summer Resorts.

To the mountains for people in increasing numbers yearly look for those days of relaxation and recreation necessary to maintain the human machine in fair working condition. The languorous sloth of the seashore proves very seductive while it lasts, but many have decided that the annual outing should provide not only radical change of air and surroundings, but also such stimulus of bracing energies as will provide vigor and vigor for the return to labor. For this they urge the mountains and the clear unadulterated mountain air. In this direction the Shasta route now affords a wealth of attractive. The entire line of road from Ashland to Redding is studded with charming and accessible hotels and camps, where are cheer and comfort and heating at reasonable cost, where you can hunt, fish, ride, loaf, or play with equal facility. Or if you look for healing waters, none better can be found, hot or cold, than the springs at Ashland, Coalinga, Anderson, Barlett, Byron and Paso Robles. Before visiting Europe, the people of the northwest should see the glories of Yosemite valley, and the wondrous groves of Mariposa and Calaveras; the Parisians are likely to make inquiries concerning these attractive resorts. See also C. H. Markham, general passenger agent, Portland, for new booklets on Coast Crags, Shasta springs, McCloud river, Yosemite and excursion rates thereto.

How to Prepare Salt Codfish.

Gradually heat to boiling point one pint of salt codfish picked into small pieces and covered with cold water; then drain. Melt one-fourth cupful of butter and cook in it one-fourth cupful of flour until frothy. Then add gradually one pint of rich milk, stirring constantly. Put in the fish and let stand over hot water 10 or 15 minutes. Just before serving stir in two slightly beaten eggs.

How to Bake Haddock.

Choose a medium sized haddock. Clean the fish and remove the eyes. Make a forcemeat of eight, two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, half an ounce of butter, a dash of finely chopped parsley, pepper and salt and a little milk if necessary to moisten the whole. Fill the fish with this, sew it up and truss securely in a shape. Flour the fish, brush it over with egg and sprinkle with bread raspings. Bake in a moderate oven for about half an hour. Serve on a hot dish. Add a few drops of lemon juice to the gravy, and when very hot pour it round the fish.

How to Bake Shad Roe.

Put shad roe in boiling water, adding one teaspoonful of vinegar and one teaspoonful of salt. Cook for 15 minutes. Pour off the water and cover with cold water. Let stand several minutes. Rest the roe in a buttered pan with one-half pint of tomato sauce. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven, basting often. Remove to a platter and pour around one cupful of tomato sauce.

How to Make Tea.

This recipe is given by his excellency Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to Washington, who says that Americans do not know how to make tea: "There are no bad teas; some are better than others. Use green or black as you see fit. Now place in a teapot a sufficient quantity of tea leaves and pour upon it hot water. Let this stand for four or five minutes to allow for thorough infusion, and then you have a drink for the gods. That is all there is to it. No rum, no sugar, no lemon, no milk. Drink it warm, not hot."

How to Curry Oysters.

Melt two ounces of butter in a saucepan, blend with it a tablespoonful of curry powder, a dessertspoonful of flour and fry till brown, stirring all the time. Add the liquor from a tin of oysters, a squeeze of lemon juice and a little milk. Stir the sauce while it boils up. Set the oysters in it and let them slowly heat through. Serve with a border of boiled rice.

How to Make Molasses Cookies.

One cup of molasses, a half cup of sugar, a cup of sour milk, a cup of lard (or butter) and lard mixed, two even teaspoonfuls of soda, any preferred spice. These cookies are nice and moist after keeping shut in a jar or any closed dish. Cold water can be used in place of sour milk with good results, but will not be so moist.

Price, 25 cents. All druggists.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

EVER BEARING STRAWBERRY

A Promising New Departure For the Fruit Grower.

The fascinating possibility of having strawberries through the summer seems to be brought into a reasonable certainty by good management of the new ever bearing variety of this fruit. The St. Joseph was the pioneer of this valuable new feature in the strawberry industry. No great deal has hitherto been said of the St. Joseph except as it has been recommended to suburban gardeners and private use.

Resumes by American Garden of the ever bearing strawberry up to date gives an idea of the importance of this "break" in a most popular branch of fruit growing. It included the latest information on the subject, presented by M. de Vilmorin in the Revue Horticole, and among its items are the following:

The improvement of the large fruited, ever bearing strawberry has entered upon a new phase. The appearance of the St. Joseph greatly excited the horticultural world not so much because of the actual qualities of the plant, the imperfections of which the introducer perfectly recognized, as from the fact that it was the representative of a new principle hitherto unsuccessfully sought.

SAUCES FOR MEATS.

Mint Sauce.—

Wash the leaves of mint, dry them and chop them very fine. Put them in a bowl. Add two teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar. Rub well and then add four tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Strain and serve.

Mushroom Sauce.—

Put one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, brown lightly. Add one tablespoonful of flour, a teaspoonful of onion, one bay leaf and half a pint of stock. Stir constantly until boiling. Then cover and stand over hot water for ten minutes. After straining add half a can of mushrooms, half a teaspoonful of salt and a saltspoonful of pepper. Cover and let stand again over hot water for ten minutes. Serve.

Tomato Sauce.—

Mix one tablespoonful of butter and one of flour in a saucepan. When smooth, add half a pint of strained tomatoes, a quarter of a teaspoonful of celery seed and one bay leaf. Stir steadily until boiling; then add half a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika, strain and serve.

Caper Sauce.—

Mix two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour in a saucepan. When smooth, add one pint of the water in which the meat was boiled. Stir until it boils. Add one teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of capers, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and a few drops of onion juice.

Bread Sauce.—

Cook a slice of onion with a clove or two and half a cup of fine bread crumbs from the center of the loaf in a pint of milk an hour over hot water. Remove the onion and cloves, add two tablespoonfuls of butter and a scant half teaspoonful of salt.

How to Fry Chicken.

Clean and joint the birds and soak them in salt and water for two hours. Put into the frying pan equal parts of lard and butter, enough to cover the chicken as it cooks. Roll each piece in beaten egg and cracker crumbs and drop into the boiling fat. Fry brown on both sides and serve on a platter garnished with parsley. Pour most of the fat from the frying pan, thicken the remainder with flour after adding to it a cupful of boiling water or milk and serve in a gravy boat.

No Plot.

The Hash Fed Philosopher—There's no plot to the landlady's soup.
The Port Clerk—No plot?
The Hash Fed Philosopher—Nope. If there was, by and by the soup might thicken.—Syracuse Herald.

Settled at Any Rate.

Father—My son, you ought to be married and settled by this time.
Adult Son—Well, I'm not married, but I proposed to Miss Flirtie last night, and she settled me.—New York Weekly.

The Modern Drama.

Young Actress—I expect to rise to greatness in the future.
Manager—The future, my dear? It isn't your future that makes you great. It's your past.—Detroit Free Press.

The Stambok.

A Cape Town correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes: "We asked one of the white refugees how the natives were treated by the Boers, and she said, 'They were stamboked, and some have been thus whipped until they died.' She said that many natives were hired to work for a month, and at the end of it if they asked for money they were stamboked instead of paid. These must be Boers and Boers, though they all undoubtedly use the stambok upon the slightest occasion. This weapon is a long whip which will snap like a pistol when brought down in an uplifted hand. It is made from the hide of the rhinoceros and polished till it looks almost like amber. It is very tough and durable and is used upon animals and natives and also upon criminals in the Transvaal."

The Diaz Doctrine.

The Mexican Herald writes: "The Diaz doctrine, declared by President Diaz some years ago, which met with responsive enthusiasm in Latin America, was substantially that not only should Europe not be permitted to gain another foothold on the territory of the new world, but that gradually Europe must withdraw from all interference and dominion in this hemisphere. Nations all over South America cordially assented to the utterance of the president of Mexico, which was a distinct advance on the Monroe doctrine. The Mexican people by their splendid traditions stand committed to the strongest form of the Monroe doctrine, in fact, the Diaz doctrine. This nation has sealed its principles with its blood. And all Latin America is in sympathy with Mexico."

Smile and Suffer.

That's the motto of many a woman's life. She manages the house, receives friends, entertains company, with a moan in the month which is a mask to cover up her pain. Only those who note the dark ringed eyes, the lines about the lips, the occasional pallor of the cheek, know the real story.

Such women are among the most grateful for the cures performed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. To smile and not to suffer is something wonderful to them. Women suffering from female weakness, inflammation, ulceration or the drains that so weaken the body, may take "Favorite Prescription" with almost absolute certainty of cure. It's sure to help. It's almost sure to heal. It has cured ninety-eight per cent. of those who gave it a fair and faithful trial.

Mrs. H. A. Albrook, of Austin, Louisa Co., Ark., writes: "After four months of great suffering with female weakness I write this for the benefit of other sufferers from the same affliction. I doctored with our family physician without any good results, so my husband urged me to try Dr. Pierce's medicine—which I did, with wonderful results. I am completely cured. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of his Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his Pleasant Pellets."

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

F. A. WIGGINS, Salem.
307 Commercial street.

The faculty of perpetual fruiting was the undoubted attribute which distinguished it from all other known varieties. But to make practical use of this perpetuating feature it became imperative to join it to a better vegetative growth and one carrying larger fruits on longer stems.

Experiments of Abbe Thivolle, conducted with great care, were ultimately crowned with success, and through fertilizing his first introduction with pollen of Royal Sovereign, he produced a new plant to which he gave the name of St. Anthony of Padua (St. Antoine de Padoue).

This strawberry may, in fact, be called a really successful cross, inasmuch as it takes from each of its parents their better qualities—from St. Joseph the remarkable fecundity; from Royal Sovereign its large sized fruits of a beautiful red color, very firm flesh, colored right through and aromatic in flavor. While the fruit of St. Anthony of Padua has not fully attained the size of that of Royal Sovereign, it is nevertheless distinctly larger than that of St. Joseph.

But it is not these last qualities alone which rank St. Anthony of Padua above St. Joseph. This latter forms low tufts of small, dull green leaves. The fruits, plentiful, but generally small, are carried on short stems, which have a tendency to collapse. In St. Anthony of Padua, on the contrary, we have a plant of vigorous and upright habit, with well developed leaves of a clear green, less glaucous and with less down than those of St. Joseph. The stems are carried well above the foliage and bear large fruits, well rounded to the tip and having yellow and prominent seeds.

As to its continuity of fruiting, the fact is incontestable. In the beginning of November, 1898, I myself saw plants still covered with fruit. They had endured without injury the extreme heat and prolonged drought of the months of August and September, when, on the other hand, St. Joseph absolutely stopped in its growth and had not recommenced flowering until after the first autumnal rains.

The strawberry St. Anthony of Padua presents qualities which must make it more than a mere curiosity

HABIT AND GROWTH OF PLANTS

For the amateur. It cannot be doubted that it will take its place where crops are grown for market, as already the fruits have been well received there and at a time when it is generally lacking in large strawberries.

To obtain this late production in the greatest abundance it will be advisable to stop fruiting in the months of May and June by pinching out the young flowering stems. Then, when the good old single crop varieties have done their work, St. Anthony of Padua may have its turn and, if well cared for, will be productive until winter.
