THROUGH THE COUNTRY.

We have been making a round der is the home of Mrs. Henry Ellis. among our country cousins and here are some things noted. The Kliever brothers at Polk station had just arrived from McCoy with a 13 horse power engine for which they had traded their smaller one. Before threshing time they will saw firewood for some of the neighbors. John G. Rempel is postmaster there and has a small stock of goods. His sister from Dixie is staying with him. The The Swedenborgi in church erected there a few years ago by Rev. Bartels has not spered, there being but two familof that faith, Peter and William Reldekopps, and they without a pas-Mennonite church not far to . The away is in better condition, they har ing a regular pastor, Rev. Bachman, and a good Sunday school superin-tended by Isaac Dick. We passed the old C G. Fisher farm on the left and that of S. T. Smith on the right The atter has a big crop of fine grain and has sowed considerable rape. Just west of Smithfield station are the schoolhouse and the homes of G. W. Myer and his sister, Mrs. Hastings. The hennery of Dr. Wm. Kimball at the station pans out plenty of thor-oughbred chicks, but the neighbors' cats and the blasted rats are too fond of juvenile poultry. Jogging along we dropped in at the old John Morris place now owned by Mrs. Ramp, of Salem, and occupied by her sonialaw, S. L. Hulen. He has sowed 39 acres of timothy and clover and is experimenting with German millet, Italian and English rye grass. He has 80 sheep and expects to keep about 20 He believes it will pay best to feed to stock everything he can possi-bly raise on the place. After trading around at several places he has concludee that at Dallas he can find the best market for his produce and get merchandise on the best terms. H A. Wagner, of Dallas, is running the old Landes place, now owned by E. C. Keyt, and his crop boke quite prom-ising. Ex-section Boss Milne is building a barn on the Pewtherer a e which he recently bought, and C. Schmidt, a thrifty German, secu-pies the Townsend farm near by. Nearly all of it is to be put in grass. Passing the Zumwalt, Howe, Taylor and Keyt homes it was noted that they had an abundance of everything around them. The new road running from near Mr. Howe's home to the old Jim Crowley place now owned by David Peters gives a better outlet for transportation at Perrydale to many farmers who have considerable produce to ship. In that vicinity we saw great fields of magnificent clover al-McDaniel 73, Mrs Wolverton 76. A most ready to cut. Henry Keyt had and keep rolling fat. Fine chickens and turkeys are a hobby with his wife and they raise Belgian hares. His sons run the farm and de all their own blacksmithing and carpentering. About a mile of read along there has been in litigation and bad shape for many years. He says it has been sur-ceyed 19 different times and has cost the county about $4,000. Now the whole matter has been amicably set-tle-l and permanent fonces established. Road Supervisor Kenneth Campbell has there done perhaps the best mile of road grading in the county. All hands feel good over the outcome. U. 11. Hyde being in poor health leased his farm to Peter Friesen and moved to Ballston. Passing on west we came to the home of Jake Pence at the southern edge of Judge Stouffer's Not many rods away where Cluff's store stood at an early day Per- Smith have been visiting their sunt,

[TO BE CONTINUED] THE PIONEERS REUNION.

Last Saturday morning was cool and cloudy with some appearance of rain, which caused many old people and some younger ones to give up their anticipated attendance at the old folks' picnic. However a goodly crowd had assembled by 10 o'clock and the weather turned out dry and throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. pleasant.
