ROAD ORGANIZATIONS.

Value of United Effort to Promote the Good Roads Cause.
Hon. W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads Association, in an address delivered before the good roads convention of Mississippi spoke of the varied interests affected by improved highways.

He said that the people should awaken to the spirit of the times and get away from the old methods of their forefathers and meet the modern conditions imposed by the present civilization and by the present business conditions. He spoke of the relation of the cities to the country districts and said that the theory that the farmers should alone bear the cost of road construction was an exploded idea; that it was the duty of the cities to help the farmers improve the country roads, as it is of vital interest to the cities to lessen the cost of production of the necessities of life.

Every supervisor, said he, who does not work the roads as he should is a thief, and every day that he fails to enforce work on the roads he is stealing from the county which employs him and provides by law for his labor, for when you pay your money for any-

are some of the more important objects for which the alliance exists:
1. Public agitation for highway improvement. 2. Obtaining and publishing information relating to highways. 3. Proposal of laws and ordinances for highway opening, construction, maintenance and traffic. 4. Opposing proposed laws and ordinances tending to diminish the usefulness of highways. 5. Urging the public authorities to improve the highways and keep them in repair. 6. Assisting in the vindication of the highway rights of the public and also aiding any person whose rights have been infringed while using the highways or as a consequence of such use whenever the board of directors of this corporation, in their discretion, consider that the usefulness of highways will be advanced.

The Highway Alliance will introduce a new feature so far as concerns its membership. In order that it shall be obligatory upon all who join the alliance to give to it their support financially, two grades of membership will be in force. Persons belonging to one grade to be known as active or contributing members and those belonging to the other as general or sympathetic members. Any one in the latter grade may change his status whenever he likes upon payment of the dues of a contributing member for one year.

Roads of Mississippi.
Dr. J. A. Rowan, a prominent physician, has the following to say about the roads of the state:
"From my experience as a country physician in traveling over the roads I am convinced that the present system of working roads in Mississippi is a farce. The inexperience and apathy on the part of overseers and the indifference on the part of hands should convince any ordinarily intelligent person that new methods will have to be adopted. The contract system, with improved implements, is the remedy. In my opinion broad tread wagons would do much toward keeping roads in good repair, and our legislature should enact a law requiring the narrow tire to be replaced by the broad after three or four years or one allowing parties using them a credit on their road tax. I often go double the distance over our best roads rather than go half as far over the average, saving time and comfort thereby. The people will have to be educated along the lines of better roads, and new methods will have to be forced upon them."

What Good Roads Mean.
Good roads mean to us both profit and pleasure. They will enable us to own better vehicles and take pride in them. They will help the churches and schools in every locality. Good roads mean a saving of time, the value of which, as a whole, can hardly be estimated. They will increase the average life of our vehicles probably a third and the saving of wear and tear on our tonus probably more, to say nothing of the increased loads that can be hauled with the same teams.

Good roads will be a benefit to everybody except the wagon shops and carriage makers. - Cor. New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Office of Road Inquiry.
The appropriation for the office of road inquiry, department of agriculture, for this year is $27,000. It will be used in building simple roads and otherwise assisting the good roads movement.

OUR NATIVE PLANTS.
A New Movement For Their Protection-Any One Can Lead a Hand.
"A number of persons who take a keen interest in wild flowers have united to form a Society For the Protection of Native Plants." The object of this society is to try to do something to check the wholesale destruction to which many of our native plants are exposed - a destruction often a matter of pure thoughtlessness in the excessive picking of flowers and unnecessary pulling up of roots or an extensive collecting of flowers and plants for sale.

"It is the intention of the society to publish brief articles or leaflets calling the attention of thoughtful people to the matter and to point out what plants especially need protection and in what way the desired end may be best effected. It is the intention to distribute these leaflets to teachers in schools, to flower missions and village improvement societies and in such other places as it may seem that they will be effective. In addition to the foregoing circular a member of the society states that there is no reason why the society should be local in its action, and it is hoped that many eventually be members throughout the country. There are many persons belonging to it who are well known as botanists, besides others who are interested simply from their love of natural beauty.

Who Makes the Drunkard?
An editorial in the New York Evening Journal says: Who makes the drunkard? His enemies? No. The drunkard is made by his friends. When it is known that he is inclined to drink, no enemy is so vicious as to lead him on; no enemy slaps him on the back and begs him to take "just another drink"; no enemy laughs down his own feeble attempts at reform; no

Bad Coughs

"I had a bad cough for six weeks, but I could find no relief until I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Only one-fourth of the bottle cured me."
L. Hawn, Newington, Ont.

Neglected colds always lead to something serious. They run into chronic bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma, or consumption. Don't wait, but take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral just as soon as your cough begins. A few doses will cure you then.

These sizes: 50c, enough for an ordinary cold; $1.00, just right for bronchitis, hoarseness, laryngitis, etc.; $2.00, enough for chronic cases and to keep on hand. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

ALCOHOL DISCUSSED.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE INTERNATIONAL TEMPERANCE CONGRESS.

Scientific Authorities in Session at Vienna Decide That Alcohol Can Be Dispensed With Both For Medicine and In Private Life.
Two features distinguish the proceedings of the eighth international temperance congress which this year met in Vienna. The first was the predominance of technical and expert information and opinions placed at the service of the congress, and the second was the general agreement that the use of alcohol could be dispensed with both in medicine and in ordinary life.

The congress is by far the most important international antialcoholic convention held in the eastern hemisphere. It is composed of representatives of all the leading countries of Europe, including this year some high government officials from France and Russia. The speakers were university professors of medicine and law, doctors (more especially those connected with insane asylums) and directors of homes for inebriates.

Various great medical authorities one after another gave the results of their experiments and experience, declaring that alcohol was neither food nor a source of strength nor even the best of stimulants from a medical standpoint. A distinguished Vienna professor, Herr Gruber, told of some highly interesting experiments which went to show that alcohol, far from diminishing the dangers from infectious diseases, rather reduced considerably the power of resistance to them. In no case did its use exercise a beneficial influence or help to mitigate the severity of the disease. Herr Gruber's findings, however, that experiments with animals showed that alcohol was an excellent means for preventing collapse after an operation, but a German delegate intervening insisted that such experiments were not conclusive evidence as regards human beings, and he contended that lemon juice was a far better preventive than alcohol.

Another distinguished Vienna doctor, Professor M. Kossowitz, who is regarded as the leading authority on children's diseases, warned parents against the extremely injurious effects of even the smallest quantity of alcohol upon children, leading frequently to the severest functional derangements and sowing the seeds of epilepsy, liver affections and dropsy. He also stated that experiments with students at the university of Heidelberg proved that the smallest quantities of alcohol, even less than a half pint of beer, affected the mental capacity in certain simple and measurable operations, such as adding figures, committing numbers to memory, recalling simple associations and noting impressions upon the senses. If the quantity of beer was increased to three or four pints, the mental capacity was greatly affected, the injurious effects continuing for 24 hours or more. One of the strangest results obtained from these experiments was that the persons subjected to the tests had no consciousness of their reduced capacity, but on the contrary felt that they were working easily and well. The speaker thought that this was one of the most fatal consequences of drink, inasmuch as it constituted a hindrance to intellectual development and profundity of culture, even in cases where there would be no thought of excess.

The question of the effect of alcohol in promoting general paralysis brought out a very interesting discussion between the medical experts. The general impression left was that certain diseases which are usually regarded as a cause of that terrible affliction are not always responsible for its worst ravages, which are more frequently due to a combination of the two evils.

News and Notes.
The pin oak has come to be very popular with tree planters of late. Its deep orange red is very striking in autumn.
An interesting feature at the Pan-American exposition is the show of tropical fruit, pineapples growing both in the open ground and under sheds, coconut trees and other tropical fruits, such as guavas, sapodillas, etc.
A melon patch to be worthy of the name should be large enough to furnish all the melons the family and the hired men can eat and leave plenty to give to the neighbors' boys.
The Pan-American exhibition of flowers is pronounced exceedingly fine by excellent authorities. Roses have been a dream of delight, panicles, rhododendrons and azaleas great features, and other blooms in succession will sustain the remarkable show.
A waterproof paper strawberry box is noted by an exchange as one of the new things this year. It is cheap and looks neat when filled with strawberries.

THE WHIRL OF FASHION.
Tailor made gowns of pale blue pique are in marked vogue among fashion's elegants this season.
The elbow sleeve, with turned back cuffs, falling lace frills or gathered underseams, will constitute one of the retained fashions of next season.
The bolero, Eton, Russian, Moorish and other distracting little jackets of lace or silk are still very much in evidence at all fashionable gatherings.
Paris is showing a decided preference for red this summer. Matrons are wearing cream muslins with large red spots thereon, profusely trimmed about the bodice with lace.
White and green and black and green are among the very fashionable color combinations. Many of these melanges prove very attractive, while others do not. The green worn with black must be of a certain shade to look well. Mixed with white, less care is demanded in the selection of suitable green.
One of the very fashionable features of autumn modes will be the wearing by slender, youthful women of princess dresses or overdresses of soft, beautiful wools or of peas de soie, lousine and other silks, fastened at the back, plaited trimmed around the bottom, but very ornate and elaborate about the waist. - New York Post.

MATRON AND MAID.

Mrs. Reginald De Koven has bought a pair of Alsatian mules, with which she proposes to astonish Washington in a tandem rig.
Charlotte Crippin, a graduate of the University of Chicago, is the first woman to receive the degree of LL. D. from the University of Paris.
In the performance of her duty Ida Hathaway, a nurse at the Hartford hospital, contracted ophthalmia from a child patient and became blind. Hartford people have raised a fund of $8,000 for her support.
Mrs. Kendal is quoted as saying that an actress must be capable of being "an enterprising grandmother." Besides Ellen Terry and Sarah Bernhardt conspicuously in the historic ring.
Miss Kuntze of Berlin, with a guide named Furrer, has succeeded in reaching the top of the Gelemerhorn, near the Rhine glacier, in Switzerland. This is the first time the mountain has ever been ascended. It is 10,500 feet high.
Though Mrs. Grover Cleveland is seldom heard of nowadays, she does a great deal of charity work. Not long ago she quietly made a tour of the down town part of New York city to personally observe the workings of a relief society in which she is actively interested.
The death of Mrs. Mary Gwin, widow of the first United States senator from California, ends the long life of a woman who for years was a prominent social figure at the national capital and afterward the leader of the southern colony in San Francisco. Mrs. Gwin was a native of Mississippi.
Mrs. Philip Armour of Chicago declined to take one-half of the estate of her brother, Frank Ogden, who died recently in Cincinnati. Mr. Ogden left an estate which by his will was to be equally divided between his wife and sister, Mrs. Armour. By the latter's generosity the whole estate will go to the widow.
