ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Ways In Which Tissue Paper May Be Used In the Household.

One would be surprised to know how many uses can be made of tissue paper, an article that abounds in most households, as the shops employ it extensively in packing delicate goods. Probably few people have tested its merit as a pencil mark craser, yet it serves the purpose admirably and on paper of some textures often acts more satisfactorily than the rubber eraser.

For cleaning and polishing glass of any description, from the fine lens of a pair of spectacles to the ommon window glass, tissue paper is unexcelled. and colored, it costs little, yet gives an added daintiness in many ways. It brightens bureau drawers, it makes a pretty wrapping for the small package that one often finds it necessary to carry, it adds far more to the effect of a present than ordinary paper and stuffed in waists and sleeves it prevents wrinkling and crushing when packed. Silk and lace that need pressing are protected by tissue paper, and wrinkled veils pressed under it emerge with renewed freshness.

Use the Broom Sometimes. Although the carpet sweeper is a labor saving device, the carpet will nced a thorough sweeping with a broom occasionally. Remove upholstered chairs and couches from the room if convenient, but if not cover them while sweeping. There is nothing so destructive to their beauty as to allow them to become covered with dust every sweeping day. Open the windows or doors and

A correspondent of a scientific journal says that a bust or statue can be most thoroughly cleaned provided it has not been painted, oiled or waxed by inverting it and filling it with water free from iron. The water is then allowed to filter through the plaster. After the filtering has been kept up for a sufficient time and the outside surface occasionally washed with water and a soft brush the plaster is allowed to dry. It is then found that all the dust has been wiped out of the pores of the cast, which is thus resweep with quick, firm strokes that

BREWERIES' EARNINGS.

One British Concern Paid $4,320,000 Duty In a Year.

Some idea of the quantity of malt lictors produced and sold in Great Britain, to take no note whatever of the imported beers sold and drank, may be gained from the annual reports which have lately been published of the two great brewing companies Guinness and Alsopp, says the New York Commercial Advertiser.

Guinness paid as beer duty for the year £864,000, approximately $4,320,-000. The item of income tax on the business amounted to £11,000 "extra," spite his long and arduous season's so the report reads. This is attributed partly to bad investments in "public houses," of which the company had as many as thirty-one, including some large hotels, and to an attempt to make lager beer, in which field the company found powerful competition in the importation of German beer. From these figures an idea may be obtained of the vast capital invested in beer and breweries in England, those named being only two of the compa-
