We buy goods nearly every day-it is the only way to keep your stock fresh and new. In our grocery department we keep our handsomest clerk and our sweetest goods. But for more value for your money you must buy more expensive things. We excel in spring and summer dress goods—all colors and qualities. Most of them are not mercerized, but they are so slick you would think they were. We have a very nice line of shirt waists—nice in style and cheap. And ladies' neckwear, ties and collars, we lead them all. We have as fine a line of shoes as you will find anywhere, and you will be surprised how cheap they are. We still have a few pairs of ladies and mens' shoes left, $2 to $5 values for $1. In mens hats we have an overstock, nice ones too, and you will miss it if you do not buy of us. In gentlemens' furnishings we are able to give you exceptional values at prices that will make you happy. In clothing if we cannot fit you from the counters, we can take your measure and have a suit made, fit guaranteed, and at prices below them all. See the samples. And so it is all the way through, and a fair deal, one price to all.

A Soldier's Reply.

A soldier of Marshai Saxe's army, being discovered in a theft, was condemned to be hanged. What he had stolen might be worth 5 shillings. The marshal, meeting him as he was being led to execution, said to him, "What a miserable fool you were to risk your life for 5 shillings!"

"General," replied the soldier, "I have risked it every day for my pay, fivepence." This repartee saved his life.

During the discussion of the Philip pine tariff in the house of representamade a strong speech, from which the following is taken:

I regret that the presentation of this tariff bill was not postponed until we could have obtained all the information necessary to intelligently consider a law which will so materially affect wiping off the soap and rubbing the the welfare of these people. We could at least have waited until the report of the Philippine commission, already completed and at this time being print ed, was available for a careful reading Demands that you be on the alert to and examination. It would be hard to views, which would have enabled them to arrive at more reliable conclusions. The chairman of the committee on ways and means frankly states that he and his colleagues have been obliged in drafting this bill to depend entirely upon information received some time ago from some of the commissioners and urges that we pass it for no other reason than that they recommend such action. From the statement of the chairman it is not at all clear what the commissioners do recommend and upon what facts, circumstances or conditions they base their recommendations. The bill can hardly be said to have been considered by the committee it-

They accept it in blind faith and ask this house to pass the measure on equally blind faith in the supposed wishes and recommendations of the five kings into whose hands we have turned over the government of the 10, 000,000 brown people living in those lands. This is surely a case of the blind tending the blind. But why do they expect the bill to pass under these circumstances and conditions? Simply because the few

the majority can do is to place the rearousibility upon the shoulders of the Original of Shakespeare's Portia.

Shakespeare's Portia is a pen portrait of Lucretia Cornaro, the first woman lawyer in the world, the Myra Bradwell of the fifteenth century, who received a degree of doctor of laws from the University of Padua, where she was educated and afterward lectured on law. Her biography has been published. She was a native of Venice.

Lucretia Cornaro was one of the most learned of women, and her biography gives remarkable accounts of her eloquence, erudition and influence She was so much admired and respected that the doges and the council of ten used to consult her upon legal questions, and her fellow citizens submitted their differences to her for de cision instead of going to court. It was natural, therefore, that she should be mixed up in the Shylock case.-Chicago Record-Herald.
