

Polk County Live Juice

VOL. XXVIII.

DALLAS OREGON AUGUST 29 1902

N 36

L. N. WOODS, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon.
Dallas, Oregon.
T. V. B. EMBREE, M. D.
DALLAS, - OREGON
Office over bank.

J. E. SIBLEY, H. C. EAKIN.
SIBLEY & EAKIN,
Attorneys-at-Law.
We have the only set of abstract books in Polk county. Reliable abstracts furnished, and money to loan. No commission charged on loans. Rooms 2 & 3 Wilson's block, Dallas.

J. L. COLLINS,
Attorney and Counselor at Law,
Solicitor in Chancery.
His law office is in the practice of his profession in this place or about thirty miles, and will attend to all business entrusted to his care. Office, corner Main and Court streets, Dallas, Texas, Ok., Or.

J. H. TOWNSEND J. N. HART
TOWNSEND & HART,
ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW.
Office upstairs in Odd Fellows' new block.
DALLAS, - OREGON.

OSCAR HAYTER,
Attorney-at-Law.
Office up stairs in Campbell's building.
DALLAS - OREGON.

N. L. BUTLER E. F. COAD
BUTLER & COAD
Attorneys-at-Law
DALLAS, OREGON.
Will practice in all courts. Office, over bank.

Robert A. Miller,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Oregon City Oregon
Room 3, Weinhard building
Opposite Courthouse.

Land titles and land office business a specialty.
Ex-Register Oregon City land office.
A. J. MARTIN,
PAINTER,
House, sign and ornamental, graining, kalsoming and paper hanging.
DALLAS - OREGON

MOTOR TIME TABLE.
Leaves Independence for Monmouth and Airlie—
7:30 a m
Leaves Independence for Monmouth and Dallas—
1:10 p m
Leaves Monmouth for Airlie—
8:30 a m
Leaves Airlie for Monmouth and Independence—
1:30 p m
Leaves Dallas for Monmouth and Independence—
1:30 p m
Leaves Dallas for Monmouth and Independence—
8:30 p m.

R. C. GRAVEN E. E. WILLIAMS,
W. C. VASSALL, assistant Cashier
DALLAS CITY BANK OF DALLAS, OREGON.
Transacts a general banking business in all its branches; buys and sells exchange on principal points in the United States; makes collections on all points in the Pacific Northwest; loans money and discounts paper at the best rates; allow interest on time deposits.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

VISIT DR. JORDAN'S GREAT MUSEUM OF ANATOMY
1051 MARKET ST., SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
The Largest Anatomical Museum in the world. Exhibits of the anatomy of man and animals. Dr. JORDAN—DISEASES OF MEN
A full and complete course of instruction in the anatomy of man and animals. Dr. JORDAN'S Consultation free and strictly private. Treatments payable by instalment. A full course in seven days. Dr. JORDAN'S
Sole agents for the Pacific Northwest, Dr. JORDAN & CO., 1051 Market St., S. F.

F. H. MUSCOTT,
TRUCKMAN.
Dallas: Oregon
A fair share of patronage solicited and all orders promptly filled.

Dallas Foundry!
—ALL KINDS OF—
IRON WORK TO ORDER.
Repairing Promptly Done.
ED. BIDDLE, PROP.

SHEEP HUSBANDRY

F. B. Hartman, writing in Wool Markets and Sheep on "The Care of the Lamb From Birth to Weaning Time," says in part:
Much indeed could be written on this hatched but always important and interesting subject, but I will be as brief as possible without evading the most essential points. My aim is to have my eyes in the best possible condition at the time of weaning. By best condition I do not mean that they shall be in a fat state nor do I mean that they shall be poor, but just between. When in this condition, if the ewes have been properly mated, we have an assurance of a good, strong increase. If possible, just as soon as the lamb is dropped, I separate mother and lamb from the balance of the flock until I am sure the lamb has gained strength enough to hold his own in the flock. I take care of them at this stage and see that no filth gathers and that the lamb gets started properly. As soon as the lamb shows that he is desirous to eat something, which will be in a few days, I prepare a creep of some description and begin to feed them by themselves. You will have only to give them a few lessons as to the way of entering their lunch-room, for they are apt scholars and learn rapidly. The bill of fare in the way of grain consists of oats, oatmeal or whatever in this line of feed is most convenient. I give the little fellows just what they will eat up clean. I feed twice a day, morning and evening. I like to have a rape patch for the youngsters and their dams as soon as is possible in the spring. I wish to say that feed given to ewes will not prove detrimental to the lamb. I never like to be stingy with succulent rations, and it is prudent to have a variety of such. As to castrating and docking, I will say little, as most every one has a good way of his own, but I will say castrate as early as possible after the lamb has gained strength. Dip the ewes and lambs in early spring. It will not do them any great injustice to dip them again in the fall. A little condition powder fed occasionally will prove beneficial, but this should not be fed to excess. Constant care, regular feeding and cleanliness are my rule of management.

Sheep Men Buying Greyhounds.
The sheep men of the west, who have suffered serious loss for many years from the depredations of the coyotes, think they have discovered a means for their extermination. Greyhounds alone of all the dogs in creation are fleet enough of foot to run down the cowardly little pests and at the same time have enough grit to give them battle. Sheep men about the country are paying big prices for blooded dogs, and the friendless coyote is on a run for his life. For years the ranchers and plainsmen have been skeptical of the stamina and fighting qualities of the greyhound in a finish fight with a coyote, but that idea is now entirely eradicated.

Profits Despite Costly Feed.
Wool Markets and Sheep says: We know of bunches of sheep which have netted their feeders all the way from $1 to $1.20 per head, and the grain fed cost nearly an average of 50 cents per bushel. These lambs, however, were good, thrifty stock and were brought to the yards in fine, sappy condition from ripe, alfalfa or other cheap fattening forage. It takes a careful and experienced feeder to feed all costly grain and still show encouraging margins.

Spoke Too Late.
The good minister of a Scottish parish had once upon a time a great wish for an old couple to become teetotalers, which they were in nowise eager to carry out. After much pressing, however, they consented, laying down as a condition that they should be allowed to keep a bottle of "Auld King" for medicinal purposes. About a fortnight afterward John began to feel his resolution weakening, but he was determined not to be the first to give way.

In another week, however, he collapsed entirely. "Jenny, woman," he said, "I've an awful pain in my head, 'e might gie me a wee drappie an' see gin it'll dee me any guid."
"We'll, gudeman," she replied, "ye're owre late o' askin', for ever sin' that bottle cam' into the house I've been lathered an' swi' pains 'il' my head 't is a' done an' there's nae drappie left."

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

MOWERS AND BINDERS
RAKES AND TEDDERS
WAGONS, BUGGIES CARRIAGES
All kinds of harvesting machinery and vehicles and a great variety of extras. Plows and cultivators.
WAGNER - BROS., - DALLAS

BALFOUR, GUTHRIE & CO.
Buyers and Shippers of GRAIN
Warehouse in Polk
DERRY
County at
Sacks and storage on usual terms

Gray Hair
"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.
There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back,—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too.
$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.
If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

THE HOME DOCTOR.
Olives are advised for dyspeptic and nervous patients by many physicians. Mutton tallow to which a few drops of carbolic acid are added will heal sores or any raw surface.
White of egg beaten with white sugar and lemon juice relieves hoarseness. Take a teaspoonful every hour.
A linen covered sachet filled with fragrant dried leaves from an oriental shrub induces to sleep. The odor soothes the nervous and excitable.
For relaxed throat muscles and a tendency to sore throat and frequent colds there is no better remedy than cold water, applied night and morning to the parts.
Half a pint of turpentine, half a pint of best white vinegar, two eggs: put all together into a bottle, shake for half an hour; excellent for all kinds of sprains, chilblains, rheumatism, etc.
When indigestion causes flatulence, then ginger comes to the rescue. It soothes and heats the stomach, combats when these are inflamed because of indigestion. It also warms the system and aids it to throw off chills.
Ordinary acute bronchitis in the adult of early or middle life may be met with: Tartrate of antimony, 1 grain; fluid acetate of morphia, 2 drams; ipecacuanha wine, 2 drams; camphor water to make six ounces. Of this one tablespoonful may be taken frequently.

Introduction.
A host and hostess, if they but take the trouble, could do much toward promoting easy conversation between those they send in to dinner together by saying a word to each respecting the other. Instead of merely saying to the one, "You will take in Miss B.," and to the other, "Mr. A. will take you in to dinner," they might say, "Mr. A. who is to take you in to dinner, has just returned from South Africa," etc., and "Miss B. whom you are to take in to dinner, is a niece of General G. You know him, I think." This would give the keynote of the dialogue to follow, a host and hostess would earn the gratitude of their dinner guests thereby and add considerably to the sociability of their dinner parties.
Conversation between those introduced at afternoon at homes, garden parties, etc., is not so compulsory as at dinner parties, for should they find nothing to say to each other they can take themselves off elsewhere to another part of the room or another part of the grounds and talk to those to whom they have something to say. At a dinner party there is no such escape; they must sit out the dinner, be it long or short, and endeavor to find topics that will interest and amuse their dinner companions or perform maintain an uneasy silence.

One Thing at a Time.
There are women who hear lessons and build hair at the same time, or do half a dozen other things demanding a focus of attention. This is a process of breaking down and certain disintegration. A certain great man has said: "If you start to tie your shoe, tie your shoe. Think of nothing else but that little task."
It is utterly impossible to concentrate thought upon two or more things. This statement will be denied by housekeepers, but please look at the average housekeeper. What is she but a bundle of bones or a bunch of nerves, "tired to death" and "too busy to take any comfort" from week's end to week's end?
"Let your moderation be known to all men."
Moderation pays, and when it is dictated by intelligence it rises into the realm of the highest wisdom and the purest unselfishness.

The North Pest.
In methods for the riddance of moths "doctors disagree," but all are agreed that for their prevention through airings and beatings of their favorite fabrics are a first essential. A moth will thrive in almost any preventive if its eggs are allowed to hatch. After every possible vestige of insect life is removed the articles should be put in airtight wrappings or receptacles with camphor or other insecticides. Many housekeepers claim that paper is the best of wrappers for the purpose, but it must be free from the smallest pinhole and be closed absolutely tight.

Gray Hair
"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.
There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back,—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too.
$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.
If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

THE HOME DOCTOR.
Olives are advised for dyspeptic and nervous patients by many physicians. Mutton tallow to which a few drops of carbolic acid are added will heal sores or any raw surface.
White of egg beaten with white sugar and lemon juice relieves hoarseness. Take a teaspoonful every hour.
A linen covered sachet filled with fragrant dried leaves from an oriental shrub induces to sleep. The odor soothes the nervous and excitable.
For relaxed throat muscles and a tendency to sore throat and frequent colds there is no better remedy than cold water, applied night and morning to the parts.
Half a pint of turpentine, half a pint of best white vinegar, two eggs: put all together into a bottle, shake for half an hour; excellent for all kinds of sprains, chilblains, rheumatism, etc.
When indigestion causes flatulence, then ginger comes to the rescue. It soothes and heats the stomach, combats when these are inflamed because of indigestion. It also warms the system and aids it to throw off chills.
Ordinary acute bronchitis in the adult of early or middle life may be met with: Tartrate of antimony, 1 grain; fluid acetate of morphia, 2 drams; ipecacuanha wine, 2 drams; camphor water to make six ounces. Of this one tablespoonful may be taken frequently.

Introduction.
A host and hostess, if they but take the trouble, could do much toward promoting easy conversation between those they send in to dinner together by saying a word to each respecting the other. Instead of merely saying to the one, "You will take in Miss B.," and to the other, "Mr. A. will take you in to dinner," they might say, "Mr. A. who is to take you in to dinner, has just returned from South Africa," etc., and "Miss B. whom you are to take in to dinner, is a niece of General G. You know him, I think." This would give the keynote of the dialogue to follow, a host and hostess would earn the gratitude of their dinner guests thereby and add considerably to the sociability of their dinner parties.
Conversation between those introduced at afternoon at homes, garden parties, etc., is not so compulsory as at dinner parties, for should they find nothing to say to each other they can take themselves off elsewhere to another part of the room or another part of the grounds and talk to those to whom they have something to say. At a dinner party there is no such escape; they must sit out the dinner, be it long or short, and endeavor to find topics that will interest and amuse their dinner companions or perform maintain an uneasy silence.

One Thing at a Time.
There are women who hear lessons and build hair at the same time, or do half a dozen other things demanding a focus of attention. This is a process of breaking down and certain disintegration. A certain great man has said: "If you start to tie your shoe, tie your shoe. Think of nothing else but that little task."
It is utterly impossible to concentrate thought upon two or more things. This statement will be denied by housekeepers, but please look at the average housekeeper. What is she but a bundle of bones or a bunch of nerves, "tired to death" and "too busy to take any comfort" from week's end to week's end?
"Let your moderation be known to all men."
Moderation pays, and when it is dictated by intelligence it rises into the realm of the highest wisdom and the purest unselfishness.

The North Pest.
In methods for the riddance of moths "doctors disagree," but all are agreed that for their prevention through airings and beatings of their favorite fabrics are a first essential. A moth will thrive in almost any preventive if its eggs are allowed to hatch. After every possible vestige of insect life is removed the articles should be put in airtight wrappings or receptacles with camphor or other insecticides. Many housekeepers claim that paper is the best of wrappers for the purpose, but it must be free from the smallest pinhole and be closed absolutely tight.

BARGAIN BABIES.
If babies were for sale the most inveterate bargain-hunting woman in the world would not look for a bargain baby. She would want the best baby that could be bought, regardless of price.
Every woman naturally craves a healthy, handsome child, and her craving can be gratified if she will but remember that the child's health is her own gift, and to give health she must have it to give.
Mothers whose babies have been weak and puny have nursed in strength their first strong child after using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the best preparative for maternity, encouraging the appetite, quieting the nerves and inducing refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength to give her child, and makes the baby's advent practically painless.
"My wife had been sick nearly all her life," says Mr. E. E. Fricke of Petersburg, Mead Co., Illinois, Box 97, "and after trying everything I could think of I made up my mind to try Favorite Prescription. I got six bottles, which my wife took, a tablespoonful three times a day until the baby came. She felt better after taking the first bottle, and when baby was born he weighed nine and a half pounds. To-day he is six months old and weighs twenty-two pounds. He is as good a child as any one could wish. The doctor says he is as healthy as any baby could be, and also says the use of your Favorite Prescription was the cause of such a healthy baby."
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for the use of delicate women.

OUR NEW ARRIVALS ARE
More table linen, towels and toweling. The nicest line of white bed spreads and quilts, sheets and pillow cases that you will find anywhere. We have some already in t2e house and others soon to arrive of as nice a line of ladies' jackets as anyone could desire and at less prices than you can go to the city and buy them for. Our fall and winter wraps will be along in a few days. In these we bought the nicest that will be shown this season.

BROWN & ELLIS
Benzine, according to all authorities, is the deadliest enemy of the buffalo moth and should be used freely at its first approach.
Common Sense Advice.
A family physician has made himself unpopular by the advice which he has given his woman patients. Instead of sending them to some sanitarium where all sorts of exercise appliances are in vogue he advises sweeping at home as a means of strengthening the muscles and broadening the chest. An hour's work in bedmaking after detailed directions how to do it should be followed by a bath and rest upon the bed for half an hour. Meat markets and groceries should be at least a mile from the house and the patient go to market daily. She should avoid worry, anger or complaining and every evening write a strict account of her industry during the day. This the doctor signs.
A Simple Dessert.
A simple dessert for the home dinner is made by preparing some lemon jelly and pouring it over stewed and stoned peaches, setting it in ring molds. When served, the center should be filled with stiff whipped cream. This same lemon jelly is the basis for many a delicious sweet, though in itself it is rather insipid. Oranges and bananas, sliced together and set in it, are very different from the same thing without the added flavor.

A man seldom realizes how few of his remarks are worth repeating until he has conversed with a deaf person.

STATUES IN THE PARIS STREETS.
It is not the Londoner only who grumbles at the lack of beauty in the statues adorning the streets and squares of his city. The Frenchman makes a point of grumbling quite as loudly at the "almost unanimous" ugliness of the modern statues "incumbering" Paris. These statues, says the outspoken Journal des Debats, are not so much erected in honor of one dead man as for the glorification of several living ones, who form the "commission" for the erection of a statue and receive decorations for their endeavors.
A famous French sculptor is quoted in this connection who had sent in his design for a statue of Pasteur. He had suggested the genius of the great scientist by symbols, but the commission would have none of them. "Your work," they said, "is fine, but it is incomplete. What about the discoverer of cholera, the manufacturer of vinegar and of beer and vin, about cholera in fowls?"
And nothing the artist could say as to the impossibility of reproducing sick sickworn and cholera ridden roosters on a monument could move the commission. Under such conditions it is small wonder Paris statues are no better than they should be.

A King and a Miller.
Every reigning member of the Hohenzollern dynasty has been noted for his sense of fair play in dealing with his subjects.
It is said that the Emperor Frederick was greatly annoyed by the presence of a flour mill that stood close by one of his palaces in Berlin. The miller refused to sell his mill and insisted that he should retain possession of it as long as he lived. The emperor stormed at him without avail and finally threatened to drive the miller out by force and confiscate his property.

The dauntless miller replied to him thus by saying: "There are still judges in Berlin, your majesty."
This reply, which has since become famous throughout Germany, impressed the emperor so favorably that he withdrew both his threat and his request, and the flour mill is standing to this day.

Fine China.
Fine china needs care in washing and drying and should never be placed in nervous or indifferent hands. Treated lovingly, china will last for years and even generations. Only a piece should be put in the tub at one time, the soap should be made into suds before putting anything in, and the water must be very warm, not hot. Finally rinse in water that's just the same warm. A good supply of soft towels is a necessity, and, thus equipped, the washing of china is not a hard task. China will shine beautifully if wiped out of clear warm water.

Looking and Seeing.
There is much in knowing how to see sights. The discreet and skillful person, when confronted with a variety of attractions, will carefully select those that are for him the best and then will devise means to see them with the least wear and tear. But there are excitable people who set out to see everything, tire themselves out, see only half of anything and are dissatisfied in the end.
Really a Good Thing.
"Did you say that hair restorer is a good thing?" asked the patron.
"Yes," answered the barber, with some slight hesitation; "it's a good thing. We sell several bottles a week at a dollar a bottle."
"But how do you know it's a good thing?"
"Because the prof on every bottle is 75 cents."—Washington Star.
His Fortune.
"Who is that handsome young man standing over there?" inquired an old gentleman of a rich old lady at a party.
"That's my son-in-law. He's a very brilliant young man; made a large fortune by the law."
"Indeed!" said the old gentleman. "How's that?"
"The law made him my daughter's husband."—London Ansvers.
Her Pet Pig.
A young woman in London took a pig in infancy and brought it up, as she says, "like a Christian." Complaint was made to the authorities the other day, and the sanitary officers who went to investigate found the pig in bed between two white sheets, with its head on a pillow and its body covered with a white lace counterpane.
Should Keep Something.
New Woman—Simply because a woman marries a man is no reason why she should take his name.
Old Bachelor—Just so. The poor fellow ought to be allowed to keep something he can call his own.—St. Louis Republic.

THE DORFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. The Dorford's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by The Dorford's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than The Dorford's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.
A. G. LEWIS, S. C., March 10, 1901.
I have used The Dorford's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that I have ever used. It cures my liver troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

STATUES IN THE PARIS STREETS.
It is not the Londoner only who grumbles at the lack of beauty in the statues adorning the streets and squares of his city. The Frenchman makes a point of grumbling quite as loudly at the "almost unanimous" ugliness of the modern statues "incumbering" Paris. These statues, says the outspoken Journal des Debats, are not so much erected in honor of one dead man as for the glorification of several living ones, who form the "commission" for the erection of a statue and receive decorations for their endeavors.
A famous French sculptor is quoted in this connection who had sent in his design for a statue of Pasteur. He had suggested the genius of the great scientist by symbols, but the commission would have none of them. "Your work," they said, "is fine, but it is incomplete. What about the discoverer of cholera, the manufacturer of vinegar and of beer and vin, about cholera in fowls?"
And nothing the artist could say as to the impossibility of reproducing sick sickworn and cholera ridden roosters on a monument could move the commission. Under such conditions it is small wonder Paris statues are no better than they should be.

A King and a Miller.
Every reigning member of the Hohenzollern dynasty has been noted for his sense of fair play in dealing with his subjects.
It is said that the Emperor Frederick was greatly annoyed by the presence of a flour mill that stood close by one of his palaces in Berlin. The miller refused to sell his mill and insisted that he should retain possession of it as long as he lived. The emperor stormed at him without avail and finally threatened to drive the miller out by force and confiscate his property.

The dauntless miller replied to him thus by saying: "There are still judges in Berlin, your majesty."
This reply, which has since become famous throughout Germany, impressed the emperor so favorably that he withdrew both his threat and his request, and the flour mill is standing to this day.

Fine China.
Fine china needs care in washing and drying and should never be placed in nervous or indifferent hands. Treated lovingly, china will last for years and even generations. Only a piece should be put in the tub at one time, the soap should be made into suds before putting anything in, and the water must be very warm, not hot. Finally rinse in water that's just the same warm. A good supply of soft towels is a necessity, and, thus equipped, the washing of china is not a hard task. China will shine beautifully if wiped out of clear warm water.

Looking and Seeing.
There is much in knowing how to see sights. The discreet and skillful person, when confronted with a variety of attractions, will carefully select those that are for him the best and then will devise means to see them with the least wear and tear. But there are excitable people who set out to see everything, tire themselves out, see only half of anything and are dissatisfied in the end.
Really a Good Thing.
"Did you say that hair restorer is a good thing?" asked the patron.
"Yes," answered the barber, with some slight hesitation; "it's a good thing. We sell several bottles a week at a dollar a bottle."
"But how do you know it's a good thing?"
"Because the prof on every bottle is 75 cents."—Washington Star.
His Fortune.
"Who is that handsome young man standing over there?" inquired an old gentleman of a rich old lady at a party.
"That's my son-in-law. He's a very brilliant young man; made a large fortune by the law."
"Indeed!" said the old gentleman. "How's that?"
"The law made him my daughter's husband."—London Ansvers.
Her Pet Pig.
A young woman in London took a pig in infancy and brought it up, as she says, "like a Christian." Complaint was made to the authorities the other day, and the sanitary officers who went to investigate found the pig in bed between two white sheets, with its head on a pillow and its body covered with a white lace counterpane.
Should Keep Something.
New Woman—Simply because a woman marries a man is no reason why she should take his name.
Old Bachelor—Just so. The poor fellow ought to be allowed to keep something he can call his own.—St. Louis Republic.