

THE POLK COUNTY ITEMIZER

DALLAS, FRIDAY, OCT. 31, 1920.

W. A. WASH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Per year $1.50, Per six months $1.00, Per three months $0.50.

AIRLIE. Apples mostly gathered, but are quite wormy.

A. R. Lewis has put a cover on his back porch, which adds greatly to its convenience.

J. D. Bevers and Lee Story are plowing for Sam Hastings.

Bob Story is assisting A. G. Staats with his iron work, and Sam Gross is cutting wood for J. M. Staats.

Robbie Phillips will start for Michigan in a few days, to be gone several months.

Johnny Hastings is working for Mr. Hadley, and Orville Buchanan has quit working for the Oberer sawmill company.

Dorsey Turner and wife returned from California last week. He has purchased two acres of his father and is preparing to build. It is located on the west side of the road and joins C. E. Staats' place.

E. E. Staats is hauling cord wood for Simpson & Johnson.

Garret Horner is the happy owner of two young dogs, and the nights are not made much more hideous than formerly.

Several farmers here are talking of putting in telephones. Some want to connect with the main line and others want to start up the barb wire system.

Mr. Conn, who has been too busy to get his share of chinas, went out a day or two ago, and after beating the bush for 13 hours, succeeded in bringing in a couple of crippled ones.

Trip to Aisen. George McBoe and his son John and family recently went to that country by private conveyance.

At Corvallis they had to pay more for flour and bacon than it would have cost in Dallas. There is a fine farming country between there and Philomath, but less grain is raised than in former years.

Numerous patches of corn and clover fields were seen. Philomath is a nice school town, the scenery around is attractive and it is a good farming region.

After passing through ten miles of fine stock country they came to the Flynn & Ewing sawmill which is doing a good business. Now they came to a mountain road which had been improved on this side but was tought on the other side.

Much productive soil was seen but there was an evident lack of push among the people. From the home of Frank Sturgis they started for Aisen, and stopped at Wm. Malone's general merchandise store where one can buy almost anything wanted at reasonable rates.

They say that whoever crosses Digger mountain once will never want to make a second trip. Between there and Waldport is a good dairy and cattle country but the surroundings of many homes showed a lack of clean grease. Harman Buoy who formerly lived in the McBoe settlement, is running a dairy ten miles above Waldport. They came back by way of Seal Rock and Newport. Barney Morrison still holds forth at the place named after him. They saw where a bear had crossed the road, but were not out hunting bear. During the trip they killed three deer.

E. C. Kirkpatrick and wife went to Portland yesterday.

A quarter of a century ago Dr. Farley taught six terms of penmanship in Dallas, and since then has practiced for ten years at Indian reservations. He took five courses of lectures, two of them in New York. He is now too rheumatic to practice.

T. H. Denny, near Bethel, proposes to make a business of breeding Berkshire swine. He is breeding a dozen extra good sows and has a few fine male pigs for sale.

Four years ago the county had to assume about $3,000 of the delinquent taxes offered for sale, while this year only $135 worth remains unsold. The delinquent taxes now amount to only $1,200, being the smallest in the history of the county.

Many farmers who are greatly in need of help and too busy to hunt for it might make it pay to let their wants known under our heading New Today.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

If I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. R. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

CONDENSED STORIES.

John W. Mackay, Meissonier and the Portrait of Mrs. Mackay.

Appropos of the death of John W. Mackay the New York Herald remarks that one of the most notable episodes of the residence of the Mackays in Paris was that which connected them with Meissonier.

The great French artist was commissioned by Mr. Mackay to paint a portrait of his wife for the sum of 75,000 francs. When it was delivered, the Mackays decided that it was entirely unworthy of the subject and of the painter.

"I wanted a Meissonier," he said, "not Meissonier painting a slovenly imitation of Cabanel." This criticism was indorsed by some artists who had seen the picture. It was said that the French artist, deeming anything to be good enough for Nevada, took no pains with the work that he had produced it after an insufficient number of sittings and had hastily painted in the hands from one of his models.

Furthermore, the portrait showed a woman ten years older than its subject. Many French artists, however, indorsed the work. His friends gave Meissonier a dinner as a vindication, and the French press and public were for a time clamorously indignant. The indignation rose to a climax when it was reported that Mrs. Mackay had thrown the picture into the fire. This was not true. It was hung in a small room with its face to the wall. Today it has an abiding place in Carlton House, Mrs. Mackay's London mansion.

Badge of the Fifteenth Corps. Commander in Chief Torrance of the G. A. R. tells this story of how the Fifteenth army corps got its corps badge:

The badge of the corps was not adopted until 1864. A straggling

Irishman was accosted by an army officer and asked what corps he belonged to.

"Faith, 'Fifteenth corr," he responded glibly.

"But where is your badge?" persisted the officer.

"Badge, is it? Devil a bit do we know about no badge. That's a badge, sure?"

"Why, it's an emblem that shows where you belong," replied the officer rather tamely.

"An 'imblin, is it? O-o-h, sure an' here it is, a cartridge box an' forty rounds, be jabers. An' I belong to Black Jack Logan of Illinois."

Hence the badge.—Washington Post.

Flying a Persian Carpet. Turkish authorities object to foreigners flying their national flags over their residences, and this is especially the case in the Prince's island. On the occasion of the declaration of peace in the Transvaal a British subject hung out a very large union jack. The governor of the island was immediately informed of the strange flag and determined to complain to the proper consul. But he could not tell to whom to apply, as he only knew of the English red and white ensigns. The union jack was something new, so, to make sure, he sent round to the British subject and asked what flag it was. He was told it was a Persian carpet. The governor was satisfied and allowed it to fly in peace.

Mrs. Corbin and Miss Anthony. A story is told of how Mrs. Caroline Corbin of Chicago became an active antiwoman suffragist. She was a school friend of Miss Susan B. Anthony. In later years the two women met in Washington.

"What have you been doing all this while?" asked Miss Anthony.

"Bringing up four boys," was the answer.

"Boys!" exclaimed the outspoken Susan. "What under the sun is a woman like you doing with four boys?"

"I don't know. Would you expect me to strangle them?"

"Boah" was the reply. "You should never have had them. They will be nothing but men."

Her Valid Excuse. "She has just refused a man worth a million."

"Is it possible? Any rational explanation of her act?"

"Oh, yes. She had just accepted another man worth a million."—Brooklyn Life.

Cover the rust spots on nickel plate with nutmeg fat and let it remain a few days, then rub with powdered rottenstone or tripoli and oil. Give the final polish with whiting and oil.

OUR STAFF OF RUSTLERS.

Typical South African Store. O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor."

This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about 25 miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of 30 miles, many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps 60. Of these, within the past 12 months, no less than 14 have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by A. K. Wilson.

ROCK CREEK. Fred and Alvin Brock are on their claims.

Royal Plank has been sick.

Clarence Aikman and Frank Morrison went to Norton, Friday, for a wagon load each of apples.

There are letters at the Rocco post-office for S. L. Swenson, Ole Phonen, Andrew Backstrom, W. A. May, V. B. McDowell and Henry Hibbard.

Fred Brock has sown about twenty acres of Italian rye grass.

America's Famous Beauties. Look with horror upon skin eruptions, blotches, sores, pimples. They do not have them, nor will any one who uses Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face. Eczema or salt rheum vanishes before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands and chilblains. Infallible for piles. Twenty-five cents at any drug store.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY. Miss Lizzie Westley, of Salem, was visiting her grandfather, O. Alderman, and Clarence and Gertrude Brewer, of Chemawa, were visiting Tom Jennings and family last week.

Mrs. Wm. Branchflower and daughter, Trudy, have returned home after several weeks visit with kindred in British Columbia.

Bert Alderman will take a pair of turkeys to the poultry show in Portland this winter.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable. Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medicinal triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Write mentioning reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and one dollar bottles are sold by all good druggists.

COLLEGE NOTES. President Poling is expected back from general conference next week. His work has been kept up by Prof. Winter.

Dan Brown spent Sunday in Salem and Virgil Massey at McCoy.

N. L. Guy has entered school.

The literary society work is progressing nicely, the Home being presided over by Walter Ford and the Sorosis by Miss Hattie Teats.

The society rooms in the dormitory will soon be in shape for literary and christian association meetings.

Physical Director Arthur Wilson has organized the boys and girls into athletic classes.

Interest in basket ball is running high, two teams being lined up for practice every evening.

Our boys met the public school lads Saturday in a game of base ball. Result, draw game and no bones broken.

We now have electric lights in our gymnasium.

Royal Month and Royal Disease. Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—it's bunches, cutaneous eruptions and wasting of the bodily substance—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one, in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative,—consumption.

POLK. Henry Robbins has been around buying young cattle.

Bernhart Friesen rented the Peters farm, where Geo. Kiewer lived last season, and is moving from the place he sold for $700. He bought a good looking team here for $145.

Last Sunday a party of 40 were at Franz Friesen's home, giving the Kiewer a farewell visit. They will probably leave this week, some to Dittabury, where Jacob Kiewer lives, and some to Mountain Lake, Minnesota, where Peter Kiewer goes to school. They are waiting for a car to be loaded.

J. C. Stingley and Ned Shaw have

David Reddekopp will accompany F. F. Kiewer to Canada.

Some of our boys and some from Rickenell called on Abraham Rempel for a wedding treat and he treated them kindly.

The ground is getting moist and some farmers are plowing.

Prune drying ended at the Enns place October 2nd, 2,023 bushels being dried, making 674 bushels when dried, or about 6,000 pounds less than last year. They have taken extra good care of their orchard, which may properly be called a model prune orchard. The dryers were T. D. Phillips and John Williams; spreaders, Bernhart Friesen, Elizabeth, Susie and Katie Enns. Dietrich Rempel hauled the fruit, Mrs. Enns and the smaller children doing the picking. Anna did the cooking for family and hands. Mrs. Enns intends to have a nice dwelling house built next spring.

BUENA VISTA. The dwelling of Russ Liggett was destroyed by fire last Sunday.

Rev. Snyder has established a Thursday evening prayer meeting at the M. E. church.

Johnnie McClain has moved to the A. J. Richardson place.
