ABOUT MR. HERMANN.

In 1871 Binger Hermann was appointed receiver of the Roseburg land office for a term of four years but was dismissed when his term was about half out for making unlawful entries of government land. This is not an irresponsible campaign statement but the records show it to be absolutely true. If his violation of law was then so offensive as to demand his dismissal what assurance have his constituents that he might not again become crooked as a public official. Only three months ago such a pressure was brought against him as commissioner of the General Land Office that he had to give up that positioe. The with a nice program and picnic at reasons were said to be incompetency noon. and conduct unworthy of an officer of government. Of course he and his friends say that he was unfairly treated, but neither he nor they pretend to explain wherein any injustice was done bim. If he had been satisfied to remain a private citizen the public would not have concerned themselves about his land office troubles. But after twice being deprived of his position as a government official, surely the voters of this congressional district should not send him to congress until he explains to their eatisfaction that the higher authori ties, and not he, were to blame for his unjustly accused let him and his friends come out and show it. No Drug Co. doubt many will vote for him as a partisan regardless of the ugly accusations against him.

About the Wool Pool.

Sheep shearing is now in progress and although a considerable shortage is expected on account of so much rain and such poor pasturage the to tal output in the county will probably exceed 100,000 pounds. There will be a call meeting at 2 p. m., May 16th to set a day for selling the pool. Ma ny growers in all parts of the county are joining the pool. The offering price for single lots is about 15 cents, but it is thought that the pool will siness. bring between 16 and 20 cents. Agent Fenton has secured storage room at in that interest. Sheep men are can- writes: hair has been pronounced to be.

Third Quarterly Meeting.

Dr. Ford held his third quarterly meeting at the Methodist church Monday evening and found its spiritual and financial conditions in good Rev. H. N. Rounds was trans ferred to the Columbia River conference and left Wednesday for his new field of labor at Davenport, Washington. His salary was about paid up to date, and the congregation presented to him a nice gold watch as a token of appreciation of his faithful work The presiding elder thought a new man from the east would be here about the first of June to take charge of the vacated pulpit.
