AROUND BRIDGEPORT.

The face of the country out that way is about the same as for years past, except that there is less timber, better fences, and a greater variety of farm products. The new railroad, while a general benefit, has been quite detrimental to some farms. Where it crosses the public road just this side of the Lee place will always be dangerous for scary teams at train time. The grading and graveling recently done on the road is a greater improvement than ever before in any one year. The Guthries, Gilliams and other old families remain about as of yore. There is a side track at Gilliam's from which to ship the output of the oak mill and another at Fern's where Doc Miller used to live, for passengers and neighborhood freight. Just beyond that at the edge of the timber live the families of Frank Shute and his father. Their soil is not rich, but by industry they make it bring profitable returns. Mr. Shute has 200 Leghorn hens that soon lay a bushel of eggs. Some folks call him a vetch crank, but he has made it pay in every sense of the word, and many others are now beginning to raise it. He considers it fully the equal of clover, both as a hay and to improve the ground. Here we are at Warren Frink's where the new road from the Dock Miller place intersects the old road. On ahead are the old Will on Lee place, where his son, Jim, lives, and the home of Wm. Ford, with Falls City looking up further away. Taking to the left we were soon at the church and school house where the bridge crosses the Little Luckiamute. Wm. Lee, who married Miss Critchlow, and the Bell children, live nearby, and on the old Ford place is the family of A. W. Plankington. We found Harvey Gage assisting W. A. Brown in building a new barn for his cows. Joe Gage, who married a daughter of Adam Brown, lives on the old home stead. Many pioneers will remember Mr. Brown's old chop mill, which is still standing. Anon Myer bought that part of the old farm and has erected a nice home there. John Smith lives where his father, Esq. G. Smith, settled over half a century ago, and the Gardner brothers are still where their father, Samuel Gardner, located about the same time. Ed Harmon is farming the place of Mrs. J. J. Daly and Jas. Burns still lives where he was born, his father having been a very early settler there. Mrs. Burns was a Miss James, her father having been a well known minister in this region. We spent a pleasant noontime hour with them. Everybody around was haying and the grain and hop fields promised well. Passing the homes of Wm. Burns, J. W. White and D. O. Bronson, we found a new family from the east occupying the Hedgepeth house. C. H. McKinney has bought the Clodfelter land and the Lewisville school house and will soon build and move there, when Mr. Hedgepeth will go back to his old home. As the declining sun admonished us to hurry up, we trotted along by the nice homes of Doc Smith, Henry Staats and Marion Smith, who were all a vying large quantities of fine hay. Training north before reaching the old Burns mill, we were soon at the early day home of Mrs. John Smith. Her son, Frank, and his wife, who was Miss Nellie Reywatt, live with her. John P. Walker is running the adjacent farm of J. D. Smith, who lives in Dallas. Near the home of Wm. Yeater, where the celebrated early day pioneer, Jimmie O'Neil, is buried, live R. H. Rust and family. Mrs. Rust is a daughter of John Grund, who lives on the old Butler ranch adjoining that of D. M. Hewitt. John Yeater lives at his father's old place and Silas Hart on the Baker farm. At the old Chamberlain home Aunt Maria Smith and Uncle Mat are doing the best they can. She is in poor health and he is as blind as a bat and scarcely able to creep around. We found Sam. Davis making hay. He and wife have long lived in that region and have a host of friends.

ONE DAY'S TRAVEL.

By 8 o'clock the other morning we were at the home of Jacob Neachel on the Wm Reddekopp place where the road to Smithfield leaves that to Ferrydale. At the Richmond place just beyond Frank Friesen is farming on a large scale. Ed. Richmond lives back from the road and has a good new barn. Henry Byerley lives across the road from the old Downing house. From there thirty grain fields were in sight all around. Farther along we found Mr. Reimer making many detached panels of fence. He said they were for portable cross fences to keep his stock at different times just where he wanted it. G. B. Zumwalt lives under the hill near his mother's home and W. S. Bennett not long ago erected a new home on the west side of the

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited. How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility, and how they expelled? By Hood's Sarsaparilla which also builds up the system that has suffered from them. It is the best medicine for all humors.

road beyond that. A. M. Werner, who bought the Zach Howe place, is evidently a pushing and thrifty man. Such men seldom fail to prosper. It goes without saying that the Taylor and Keyt homes and farms at the edge of Perrydale are in good condition. The weight of years rests lightly upon A. G. Taylor, but E. Keyt is becoming quite frail. Fred. Hebdig's hardware store never before looked so well, but he needs a woman partner to help enjoy his property. Blacksmith Strong keeps too busy to engage in any devils. Merchant Keyt has too many irons in the fire for any foolishness. The other villagers were quietly attending to their own business. We slipped out of the town westward, passed the Jones farm and those of the Flanery brothers and when noontime came were at the home of Mr. Lang on the Wylie Kinsey place. Himself, wife and children made us feel perfectly at home. Such families are a blessing to the community in which they hold residence. Mrs. Wm. Comegys and her son Felix, are well fixed at their attractive home across the bridge and Alfred Campbell and wife are enjoying young married life on a neighboring farm. From there we took the back track and first halted where George Stearns lives on the Van Sears place. Crops of all kinds through the region are in fine condition because they have had plenty of rain. Most of the farms are well stocked and much of it is of a superior quality. Frank Sargent has sold his farm to John Nelson, and is for the time being living at McCoy. David Peters and wife, who own the old Jim Crowley place, are visiting relatives in the northwest territory. O. R. Pickens, recently from the east, bought the Gerhard Braun farm and the latter now owns and occupies the Wann place, which he bought of Jas. Olmstead. The middle of the afternoon found us enjoying the hospitality of Joshua Bowles and wife in their new home on the spot where John East built a residence 55 years ago. She makes lots of butter for market and has a big flock of fine chickens. He being an industrious man is forever finding something else to do. On a neighboring farm we came across John Townsend and wife. He was raised near Dallas and she is a sister of Columbus McCracken, of this place. Sam Whitehead, a new arrival from the east, abides at the Urah house, and John Lynn's home is the old Fawk place. Nearly everywhere we noticed better fencing, better gates and better farming than prevailed a few years ago. Not an oath was heard all day long nor did anyone speak harshly of any of their neighbors.

MAYOR S. TOMLINSON.

What Woodburn's Executive has to Say of the Famous Dr. Darrin.

[Woodburn Independent.] Those who think that Dr. Darrin, the famous specialist and electric physician, does not perform permanent cures, will have their doubts dispelled by hearing what Hon. S. Tomlinson, mayor of Woodburn, says on the subject.

A representative of the Independent called on Mayor Tomlinson Tuesday, and in the course of an interview with this prominent man, secured valuable information, although he was very reluctant to go into print. "Well," said Mr. Tomlinson, "in 1891 I had sciatic rheumatism and was treated by different physicians without gaining relief. Dr. Darrin of Portland, was then advertising extensively, and, like a man going to the court of last resort, I went to him. I was in a bad condition and unable to do any work whatever. Before the full course of Dr. Darrin's treatment was over I returned home a new man, and since that time have not been placed in a position where the services of a physician were needed.

That was 11 years ago. Today Mayor Tomlinson is one of the strongest men in this city, possesses a physique that is the envy of his fellow townsmen, and is well known for his capacity for hard work.

Dr. Darrin's Place of Business. Dr. Darrin can be consulted free at the Hotel Revere, Albany, from 10 to 5 o'clock daily; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 3.

The doctor makes a specialty of all diseases of the eye, ear, nose and the throat, catarrh, deafness, bronchitis, the grippe, heart, liver, bladder and kidney diseases, or those who suffer from apathy or indifference; also consumption, genito-urinary and skin diseases in either sex, such as blood taints, seminal weakness and lost vigor, varicose and stricture. All curable chronic diseases treated at $5 a week or in that proportion of time as the case may require. The poor treated free, except medicines, from 10 to 11 daily. No case published except by the permission of the patient. All business relations with Dr. Darrin strictly confidential. Electrical appliances furnished. One visit is desirable, although many cases can be treated by home treatment by writing symptoms. Eyes tested and glasses fitted.

This is the first visit of the head of the Portland firm of Drs. Darrin to this city. The doctor will remain until October 1st, and those wishing treatment will do well to call soon, as many require second treatment.

Fred Toner, Lee Fenton, Mark Ellis and John Clark of Oregon City go next week for a months sojourn among the wild animals and little fishes far back in the Cascade mountains.

The gospel brigade, who has had a number of conversions, will close their meetings next Monday night.

Justice Wilson and wife will next week go for a sojourn of several weeks in the mountains.

A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the day of fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorer sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and a tonic, say a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

POPCORN.

C. A. Clark is having built two silos 24 feet high and 22 feet across.

McDowell Bros. have hauled lumber for a hog pen.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medicinal triumph of the nineteenth century discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., P.O. Box 53, Hamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and one dollar bottles are sold by all good druggists.

Do not make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y. on every bottle.

D. W. Sears has been down from Independence and Mr. McCann and wife have been visiting in Portland.

Will Shaffer has a field of Clydesdale oats that will make 65 bushels to the acre.

No Pity Shown.

"For years late was after me continuously" writes F. A. Gulledeg, Verbena, Ala. "I had a terrible case of piles causing twenty four tumors. When all failed Becklen's Arnica Salve cured me. Equally good for burns and all aches and pains. Only 25 cents at all druggists."
