A DISAPPOINTED ROBBER

(Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.)

I was a country boy fourteen years old when I went to pass the winter with Aunt Mary and do the chores and go to school. Just previous to my coming she had sold a piece of land for $2,000, and as she did not believe in banks she retained the money in the house.

I had been with her about a month when one afternoon a cousin living ten miles away arrived with his horse and buggy and reported that his wife was at death's door. Aunt Mary instantly decided to return with him, and I was asked to remain all night in the house alone. It was not much of a test of courage, for hardly a farmhouse door was bolted at night and no one could remember when a thief of any consequence had been committed. I made no objections and half an hour later was left alone. Aunt Mary simply cautioned me about fire.

I had the cow to feed and milk, the chickens and pigs to look out for and the firewood to get in, and I was not feeling a bit lonely when night came on. Just before dark I saw some one hanging about the gate, but the fact gave me no uneasiness. The rule was to feed every tramp who came along and give him lodgings in the barn, and none of the family had ever made any trouble. The man, whoever he was, did not come in, however, and I gave him no further thought. I had my supper, put away the dishes and was popping corn when the kitchen door suddenly opened and in walked a man who addressed me with, "Hello, I am Mr. Holt, the county sheriff. As I know that your Aunt Mary went away this afternoon I have called to see if that money of hers is all right. With you here alone the house couldn't easily be robbed."

"I don't know anything about the money, sir," I replied, wondering how the man could have learned that it was in the house. "But Aunt Mary didn't take a tin box with her, did she?" "I don't see her have any."

"Then it's here in the house, of course, and I will take charge of it. I suppose you know where she keeps it?" "No, sir, I don't."

"Well, we'll take a look around. Aunt Mary is a good soul, but she ought to put her money where it won't tempt anybody. There were two suspicious characters hanging around the village this afternoon, and I heard that they came in this direction."

I didn't question him being the sheriff and I didn't dispute his right to take charge of the money. I had no idea where the box was hidden, however, if there was a box, and so I could make no suggestions. The man entered the sitting room, and I followed. Five minutes exhausted the search in that room, even to pulling up the rag carpet on the floor and upsetting the lounge. There were but few places in any room in the house where anything like a tin box could be hidden.

In the parlor he simply gazed around, speaking very kindly to us all the while, but in the three bedrooms he made a close inspection of beds, bureau and chest. In the course of half an hour he satisfied himself that the box was not on the first floor. There was a half story above, and he searched that and on descending the man began to growl and curse and finally said to me:

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family.

After the labors and toils of the summer time, and having a crop in early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters, and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience indigestion. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains while toiling in the harvest fields, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others run down by worry, overwork, and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia.

To the thousands of run down, sickly, and half dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles.

Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes nervousness; it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and energy.

Give Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

use names of last vicinity, some thirteen in number, held a "bee" and put a piece of road of about one mile in the best condition it was ever in. It is reported that they came early, armed with shovels, rakes, hoes and wheelbarrows, and labored the entire day.

A novel method of raising money to repair roads has been adopted in Superior, Neb. The Commercial club has decided to get up a minstrel show and devote the proceeds to repaving the roads in the river bottoms which were destroyed by the overflowing of the Republican river the past summer.

The road question is being agitated in Tullahoma, Tenn., and vicinity. At a recent meeting one farmer stated that he had sustained a loss of $800 by not being able to get his corn to market owing to bad roads. He thought it time that they were improved. Other farmers were of the same opinion, and it is expected that the agitation will result in improving roads in that section.

Joplin, Mo., has excellent roads leading to it in every direction. About $25,000 a year is spent on an average. Some $100,000 has been spent during the past six years. The funds for the work come mainly from the saloons and have no other source.

A good road brings us closer together, drives out gloom, makes neighbors of hermits, discounts every farm mortgage and brings joy and contentment to every community. Imagine a man knee deep in the mud trying to look cheerful!

Kansas Farmers Co-operating. About a year ago between eighty and ninety farmers in the vicinity of Bland, Kan., organized a co-operative company and created a marketing station.

The machinery and everything included in the plant cost them an even $1,200. They have made no effort to make butter, and it is not a creamery. During most of the time so far for their butter fat has been sold to a creamery in Harvard.

OLD PEOPLE

Do not always receive the sympathy and attention which they deserve. Their ailments are regarded as purely imaginary, or unavoidable at the time of life. Disease and infirmity should not always be associated with old age.

Good Food is the secret of healthy old age, for it regulates and controls every part of the body, strengthens the nerves, makes the muscles elastic and supple, the bones strong and the flesh firm.

S. S. S. being pure vegetable is the safest and best blood purifier for old people. It does not shock or hurt the system like the strong mineral remedies, but gently and thoroughly cleanses the blood and stimulates the debilitated organs, when all bodily ailments disappear.

Write us fully about your case and let our physicians advise and help you. This will cost you nothing, and we will mail free our book on blood and skin diseases.

Not a rival of Good Butter.

The dairy business is safe from cheap imitation butter, but it is not safe from a competitor, remarks Colon C. Little in Michigan Farmer. Oleomargarine (uncolored) has come to stay, and it will cut quite a figure. Every pound of poor butter gives oleomargarine another friend.

One of the impossibilities. Producing cream with the same per cent of fat from day to day is one of the things that verge on the impossible, according to Board's Dairyman. There are too many things that cause variations. The speed of the separator bowl affects the cream by making it richer as the speed increases.

Indiana "Gospel" Meetings. The Indiana State Dairy association has decided to conduct a series of one day meetings at points in the state where there are dairy interests of sufficient importance to warrant it.

Then the Cow Died. If a cow is sick do not consult a cow doctor, but get a competent veterinarian. One time a local cow doctor advised us to give glaucoma salts to a valuable Jersey which was nearly dead to calve.
