Durability

In our merchandise and square dealing in our methods have enabled us to be easily the leaders of the clothing and furnishing goods trade of the central Willamette valley. Great care is taken in the selection of our fabrics, as to their durability, weave, and elegance of design, and after these selections have been made we never compromise the price in the tailorings or trimmings to get a suit to sell cheaper than our competitor, but always insist on high grade work to give our garments appearance and effect, and trimmings to hold them together. We call attention to these details by our customers and kindly ask them to consider all these points, as they are all important in buying a suit of clothing. We believe our reliability can be trusted.

Annual School Election.

Dallas was never before aroused to such a pitch of feeling in school matters as last Monday. Friction of different kinds had arisen and both men and women flocked to the city hall to give vent to their feelings in ballot form. There were about 125 present some thirty of them being ladies.

Many of them were inclined to speak stinging pieces but wisely held their tongues. Wm. Grant presided H. G. Campbell served as secretary, R. E. Williams and J. M. Grant were tellers while F. J. Coad and D. P. Stouffer served as challengers. The clerk's report showed the district to be in a good financial condition. I. N. Woods and H. S. Bate were nominated for director, and the vote counted out 64 for Woods and 58 for Bate.

For clerk H. G. Campbell and Mrs. Ora Cooper were put up the former getting 53 and the latter 40 votes. Not a single woman looked out of place at that meeting and they all talked pleasantly and voted like gentlemen. Evidently they were nearly all of one opinion. It is to be hoped that the outcome of the present friction will be better school work and greater encouragement toward making the school a model in discipline and in all other ways.

T. J. Pettit has put up a large silo on his farm south of Monmouth.

Dr. Allen the Independence dentist was recently married to Miss Florence Wagoner of this city.

Jap Miller, Curt Hubbard and Sam Smith were comparing notes the other day about their school days forty years ago. They had frequent fights over war matters.

A work ago last Sunday Rev. Edmondson of Independence made a round of the saloons there and found them all open. He talked kindly to and said he hoped not to have to file complaints against them. It is said that they expressed a willingness to keep their saloons closed on Sunday.

If the right course were taken it would be an easy matter to keep the Dallas saloons absolutely closed, both front and back doors.

George Starr who has lived on the Silas Riggs place at Salt Creek for several years will move to Dallas this fall and E. N. Branson of Sheridan will move there.
