Public utilities are becomssuming the proportions of a thriving the city. Public utilities are becoming more abundant, public spirited menter more in evidence, public improvents are constantly being made, but a yet no one has taken the initiative in curing a hospital for our city; yet there are few institutions which add so the total limit of the constant of the constant of the constant of the city of the departure of some member of our community to some hospital of the surrounding cities, where among strangers and alone he fights the battle for his health. Without a hospital our local physicians often find themselves greatly handicapped in their efforts to give their patients that service to which modern methods and discoveries entitle them. But says one: Admitting that there is a crying need of such au institution, how may it be seenred? This, I believe, could be done with very little trouble. There are mills and railroads There are mills and railroads s which have a great need of a among us which have a great need of a hospital. There are scores of persons who recognize the individual as well as the public benefit to be derived from such a place. The local physicians by getting together and pledging their support could add a great impetus. A sits for the building along with material and furnishings could be had through the local market at greatly reduced prices. A town that can raise $1,000 to $1,200 within a few hours for a 4th of July celebration, is surely able and willing to support a hospital A stock coming to support a hospital as well as SATURDAY, JUNE 29

Such an institution is a necessity and a great credit to every large community. Dallas justly has the name of being the most enterprising town of the Willamette Valley. This name should be upheld by more public institutions.

gas or kerosene there is the temptation to let light burn when not meded, to save bother of lighting and adjusting. In some homes the electric light bill amounts to only about $2 per month. You can probably get some kind of artificial light for less money than electric light, but does it save you anything when it limits opportunities for work and recreation, ruins your eyesight, smokes your walls, mars decorations and increases household work. You can probably save a dollar to-morrow by going without your meals, but it wouldn't be economy. It is not so much what you save, but, how you save, that counts.
