 For some time it has been recognized by all that the Staffin drug store was forging far ahead in the matter of popularity and patronage. In fact this store has long enjoyed the major portion of the trade tributary to this city. Their courtesy to all, carefulness in preparing prescriptions, excellent goods and fair prices, have added materially in bringing this about.
 One of the most striking features of the September McClure's is George Kennan's brilliant article on conditions in San Francisco. His story of how the trade trust acquired an autocratic control of the city, of how they introduced corruption and graft into every department of municipal government, and of how three honest men led a fight for reform which overthrew one of the most scandalous rings of the country, is told in an unusually able and convincing manner.

Shewey-Conlee.

Miss Mamie Conlee and Mr. William J. Shewey were married at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. J. J. Mellee, Sunday, August 25th, at 2 o'clock, Rev. Brackenberry, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. The room was decorated with sweet peas, mountain fern, and house plants. They stood under an arch of hops and ferns, from which was suspended a white wedding bell. The bride was beautifully attired in cream silk and the groom in conventional black. After congratulations, refreshments were served. Amid a shower of rice the couple took the carriage to Dallas, where they took the 3:15 train for Middleton, Ore.
