We understand that Joe McTimmonds was found dead in his bed at Falls City Tuesday morning, but up to time of going to press were unable to secure particulars either of the manner or cause of death. Joe was an old timer in this county and aged about 45 years. His passing was entirely unexpected, and a great surprise to the community.

Basket Ball News.

Our college basketball players will meet tonight to elect their manager and captain for the coming season. It is said that Frank Kersay will probably be made the manager, but who will be captain we are not advised. They will this year have a stronger team than ever before, the old players being retained with the exception of Alva Morton. Noel Shaw, the big center, will probably enter school again. We will know more about it after the meeting night.

Lost Three Fingers.

Yesterday morning while endeavoring to take out a splinter from the edge at the big sawmill Ray Kelley's hand came in contact with the saw and Mrs. McShaw's fingers had to amputate. It was a most deplorable accident, and was not due to carelessness on the young man's part or anyone else.

THE GREAT SCHOOL FAIR.

Polk's Annual Exhibit a Success in Every Way.

Despite the inclement weather, Dallas was crowded with visitors both Friday and Saturday to see the fine exhibits put up for competition by the school children of Polk county in the college gymnasium. Everyone conceded the exhibits to be larger and finer even than last year, and we all thought that could not be beat. Superintendent Seymour and his valuable corps of co-workers are to be congratulated on the showing made, and the children, on the results of their industry. The children have worked faithfully for the many valuable prizes offered, and the results are more than surprising, showing what the soil of our country is capable of producing and what our children can do in the cooking and needle work line. The rain came near putting a stop to the parade, but as it was some 400 students turned out accompanied by the Popcorn brass band, which furnished fine music to the crowd of spectators who lined the sidewalks. After the parade was dismissed everyone went down to view the exhibits, and the huge building was soon crowded with spectators, all intensely enthusiastic over what they found here.

In the evening another large crowd was present to listen to talks from Prof. W. I. Reynolds, of the State Reform school, Prof. Cole, of the agricultural college, and State Superintendent Ackerman, interspersed with band and vocal music.

The crowd in attendance Saturday was even larger than that of the previous day, and our streets resembled a picnic occasion, with the inevitable pig or baby stork on the corner. In the afternoon the judges, Prof. Cole, of the agricultural college, Miss Martha Spill, of the agricultural college, and Miss Helen Hutchinson, of the Portland Y. M. C. A., announced their findings on the exhibits given later on in this article. They were especially pleased with the bread display, and announced that the best bread at the fair was baked from the product of our Dallas mill, owned by Sweeney Bros.

Bridgeport got the prize for the best district exhibit, and it's excellence was largely due to Wiley and Lester Gardner, who took premiums on many lines. Here is the result as finished up by Superintendent Seymour: The first name sets the first prize and the second name sets the second prize. The number denotes the district they are in:—

THROUGH GRANDE RONDE.

Sheridan and Willamina Road Extension to the Coast.

Residents of this part of the Willamette valley are considerably interested in the construction of the Sheridan & Willamina railroad, which, though only 12 miles long, is in effect an extension of the Southern Pacific lines toward the coast through the Grande Ronde pass. Manager O. K. Edwards, who has charge of the construction of the road, is in Salem yesterday in consultation with the Railroad Commission, and while there said that the road would be ready for operation in December.

The road is of interest here for the reason that it has always been believed that ultimately a road would be built to the coast range at the Grande Ronde and across the valley in this vicinity, connecting with the Corvallis & Eastern near Stayton, thus affording a short route across the state when the Corvallis & Eastern shall be extended. It has been asserted by railroad builders that the Grande Ronde pass is the lowest across the coast range. It has also been understood that the Harriman men have closely watched that pass and have been ready to build it through it whenever necessary in order to prevent one other road from using it.

Could Enjoy a Joke.

An engineer from Sunderland was spending a few days in London with a friend, and after a busy morning sightseeing the Londoner chose a large restaurant for luncheon, thinking it would be a novel experience for the man from the north. The visitor appeared to enjoy his luncheon, but kept looking in the direction of the door. "What are you watching?" asked his friend, rather annoyed.

"Well," was the quiet reply, "Ah's keeps an eye on my tipcoat."

"Oh, don't bother about that," said the other. "You don't see me watching mine."

"No," observed the guileless engineer, "there has no call to it's ten minutes sin' then went"—Titt-Bits.
