MAMMA'S GIRL~DADDY'S BOY

PINKIE PRIM

A house with many windows,
A yard both deep and wide,
A fence with countless pickets,
And lots of kids inside.

"My! What a whopping family!
Their Papa must be rich!"
Thought Pinkie, as she sounded
The pickets with a switch.

"A 'Millionaire', he must be!"
To one small girl she said.
"We ain't got any Papas,"
The answer came. "They're dead!"

"We ain't got Mamas, neither;
Our hair to dress and comb.
Have to do it all ourselves.
This is a 'Orphants Home'."

"I've got the bestest Mama;
The bestest Papa, too!
I pray for them," said Pinkie.
"To-night I'll pray for you."
