The Woodman camp at Dallas had five applications for membership Tuesday evening.. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions of condolence on the death of their late neighbor, Robert Gaynor. The payment of this death loss will make $14,000 that camp has been called upon to pay during their 13 years of existence, and they have taken in on such payments in the neighborhood of $20,000.

For variety of interest, the February McClure's is in the lead. Miss Milmine resumes her "Life of Mrs. Eddy," giving the history of the Schism in the early church. Prof. William James, of Harvard, sounds a battle-cry to the colleges in his article, "The Social Value of the College-Bred;" George Kibbe Turner's article, "The Men Who Learned to Fly," describes the experiments of inventors who have made better wings than a bird's and are offering for sale an aerial war-ship.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local remedies, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case they fail to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

As the editor of the West Side-Enterprise was the only one placing a bid before the county court's adjourned session for last Saturday, that paper landed the job of publishing the 1906 delinquent tax roll.

A large crowd of enthusiasts went from here Friday to help yell for Dallas college in this game with the Willamette university that evening at Salem. Well, Willamette was not in it, the score standing 87 to 4 in our favor.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulets act gently and cure constipation. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

The meeting of the poultry association at Treasurer Beezley's office last Saturday was fairly well attended, and considerable knowledge gained by those present from the experiences related by a number of speakers. These meetings will occur monthly.

A fire alarm was sounded Monday noon, and the dense smoke coming from the postoffice made us afraid that our mail might be damaged. Postmaster Coad was equal to the emergency and soon had the fire under control. Too close proximity of hot stove and wall paper.

Mistakes are bound to occur in even the best of well regulated printing offices. Last week in our list of those registering a number of mistakes occurred, owing to the unfamiliarity of a new printer with the names and the hurry of reading proof just as we were going to press. And D. J. Riley is not a democrat.

Portland is overrun with unimployed men, but it does not seem to be the case here. We have been trying for a year to get a few odd jobs of carpentering and painting done but it seems as hard to do as it was in the summer. And you cannot get anyone to saw a cord of wood—all too busy.

A union service will be held at the Christian church Sunday by the Endeavor societies of the city to commemorate the anniversary of their foundation. They have prepared an extra nice program. Good live addresses on Christian Endeavor subjects, male quartette and other special music. The members of the M. E. Epworth League and the Baptist Union have been invited to participate in the services.

Complaint has been made to this office of the proximity of the city jail to the free library, and that the foul language indulged in by its inmates can plainly be heard by the ladies and children who nightly have occasion to visit the library. It is the intention of the council to soon as possible move the city jail to the rear of the new building when the road roller is housed, and then such unpleasant happenings will cease. We are glad to say that it is not of frequent occurrence.

Frank Muscott in Wreck.

The first accident on the Oregon Electric line occured Tuesday night at 6:30 at the Goodrich curve near Chemawa. A gravel train was backing up to Salem and ran into a bunch of cattle. Three cars were ditched and two of the cattle killed. Brakeman Fred Powers and the conductor Frank Muscott were near the front end of the train. As the cars turned both jumped, the conductor getting clear. Powers fell in the ditch and the car fell on him but the ditch was so deep that he was not seriously hurt. His only injuries are bruises on the side and shoulder.—Salem Statesman.

T. M. BAILEY DEAD.

Old Resident of Dallas Passes Away.

On Sunday afternoon the remains of Thomas M. Bailey were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows cemetery, he having quitely passed away at the ripe old age of 84 years on the Friday previous. The burial was held from the Advent church and the large crowd paid fitting tribute to the worth of a resident of our midst for a quarter of a century. Mr. Bailey leaves an aged wife, one son and five daughters to mourn his loss, Mrs. John Munson and Mrs. Henry Clifford residing here, Mrs. Jerome Stewart and Mrs J. C. Proctor at Seattle, Mrs. D. T. McIntyre in Kansas, and P. P. Bailey near Forest Grove. Mr. Bailey had made two trips across the plains and had many exciting experiences in pioneer life to relate and be enjoyed by those fortunate enough to hear him. He was born in Randolph county, Indiana, April 1, 1823, of Quaker parentage. He married Miss Lucretta Plummer in Tipton county, Indiana, April 23, 1848, and afterwards moved to Kansas, from which state he emigrated to Oregon in 1881.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Our Veteran Blacksmith Suffers a Stroke.

Last Monday evening Mr. J. E. Smith, the veteran blacksmith of Dallas and one of our most representative citizens suffered a stroke of paralysis, the outcome of which is now hard to determine. Mr. Smith is probably one of the oldest members of the Methodist church here and in his zeal for its wellfare has voluntarily assumed the position of janitor, always making it his business to see that everything is kept in good condition for the comfort of the worshipers. Last Saturday, while engaged in putting in some wood for the furnace, he overtaxed his strength, and the stroke of paralysis is a direct result. For several years Mr. Smith has been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and by reason of the ravages and pain of that dreadful disease, his constitution has been greatly sapped of its strength, so that when he permitted himself to indulge in a little extra physical exertion his body did not hold the necessary reserve force to battle with the emergency. It is Mr. Smith's left side that is affected, the leg and arm and a portion of the torso. This last is what makes the stroke especially dangerous, on account of the proximity to the heart. Should that be reached all hopes of his recovery is at an end. The best of medical attendance is looking after his welfare, but as we go to press the outcome is a great uncertainty. All we can do is to hope for the best.

POLK'S GALLON HOUSES.

Proscuting Attorney to do Business With Them.

The Salem Statesman says: The people in the neighborhood of the Grand Ronde Indian reservation are up in arms regarding the trouble caused by a government licensed grog shop just outside the reservation and just on the Polk county side of the line dividing Polk and Yamhill counties. The proprietor of the place knew of course that he could not sell liquor in Yamhill county, which is dry territory, nor on the Indian reservation, which is in charge of the federal authorities. He also knew that it would be useless to ask the Polk county authorities for a retail liquor license so he proceeded to get a government license, for a nominal sum, entitling him to sell liquor in quantities of not less than one gallon.

The saloon has caused a great deal of trouble and District Attorney John H. McNary has tried several times to put the place out of business by convicting the proprietor of selling less than a gallon of booze at a time, but having to depend on the Indians for evidence he has never been able to make out a case. Government inspectors who have been called into the case likewise have been powerless, apparently having no discretion in the matter as long as the applicant pays his license fee.

Now the prosecuting attorney is going after the dispenser of firewater on a different track. On the strength of evidence now in his possession he will move in the justice courts of Polk county to have the saloon declared a public nuisance, the penalty for maintaining which is a sentence of from one to six months in the county jail or a fine of from $50 to $200, or both.

People living in the vicinity of the joint pronounce the conditions intolerable. Drunken Indians can be seen, it is said, at all times of the night or day, lying along the roadway. There are many who feel certain that it was from this place that the Indian obtained his liquor who is charged with killing his wife in Polk county some months ago, and who committed suicide in jail while awaiting trial.

Mr. McNary will stop off at the reservation the last of the week on his way to Tillamook and if present plans are carried out will commence action against the saloon man as soon as the special term in Tillamook county has been disposed of.

Attorneys familiar with the law on this subject state that there are several precedents, notably the case of the state of Oregon v. Nies in which the defendant was convicted of maintaining a criminal nuisance in the form of a billiard room with evil associations and connections, in the city of Portland.

ROBERT GAYNOR DEAD.

Passes to the Great Beyond at Heppner Saturday.

Residents of Dallas were shocked Saturday morning to hear that Robert Gaynor had succumbed to pneumonia at Heppner that morning. His mother, Mrs. J. C. Gaynor, had been previously summoned to his bedside, and was with him when he succumbed to the great destroyer. He had just recovered from an attack of pneumonia, but it had caused inflammation of the heart, which resulted fatally. The remains were brought to Dallas and after reposing in the Masonic hall from Sunday to Monday were followed by the members of that order to the Methodist church, where Rev. M. P. Dixon conducted the burial ceremony. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Robert was then laid to rest in the Odd Fellows cemetery by the Masonic fraternity.

During his many years of residence in Dallas he held the esteem of all with whom he came in contact, and his many friends heard with great regret of a career so soon cut off. He was a member of Dallas camp, Woodmen of the World, the Royal Arch and Eastern Star. He has lately been engaged in the furnishing goods business at Heppner and was doing well financially. Thomas Robert Gaynor was the younger son of Mrs. J. C. Gaynor, of this city, and was born in Clinton Junction, Rock county, Wisconsin, September 23, 1869. He lived for many years in Iowa and California, and then went to Missouri, from which state he came to Dallas in 1891. He married Miss Clara Uglow, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Uglow, May 2, 1900. His wife lived only a few years after her marriage, dying November 18, 1904.

Surveyor Winslow has one of the neatest offices in the court house, it lately having received a new coat of varnish and kalsomine.
