Senator LaFollette regards J. Pierpont as the sponsor of his country.

"There are fewer deaths from the coughs in Georgia now," boasts the Atlanta Constitution. Very good; but wait till the snake bite returns for the year are in.

Senator Foreaker fears that in the near future he will have to renege saying "may it please the court." And all because he refused to say "may it please the president and his friends."

With this issue the correspondent's contest for a sewing machine ends. The result has been more than gratifying to us, as the Itemizer has by far the best correspondent's page of any paper in the valley. We did not expect the result to be so close. A number of correspondents have tied, and it is now up to them to say how the matter shall be decided. Please give us your opinion in your next week's letter.

THE THREE "L's" FOR WILLIE'S BOSS

Pa says: "The milk of human kindness as dispensed by some people tastes strongly of the can. 'I've noticed that some rich men squeeze a dollar so hard, when they take one out to spend it, they must make the eagle sick. If ever I get a rich father I think I'll establish a school on 'How to Live and Let Live.' This store is run on the 'Live and Let Live' plan all right. Everything is marked in plain figures and sold on a very small margin of profit at the lowest prices possible, quality always considered. My boss believes that quality is first importance in selecting things to eat and drink. All grocers claim to sell the best, but when you get anything at Loughery's store you know you've got the best and that's some comfort these grumpy times. We don't have to tell you our sugar is pure cane. It meets the requirements of the law, is branded case sugar."

BASE BALL GAME

Last Saturday afternoon at the school house grounds here the Dallas Juniors engaged in mortal combat on the diamond with a nine from Monmouth. The game was not exciting from start to finish, as will be seen by the appended score. All our boys seemed to have it entirely their own way.

HENRY ROWELL DEAD.

Passes Away Wednesday Night at Sheridan.

Information was phoned in this morning of the death of Uncle Henry Rowell at Sheridan last night. Mr. Rowell is a brother of Mr. C. G. Rowell, of this city, and Mrs. Henrietta Ellis, of Salem, and resided here some 20 years ago. He was aged about 78 years, and his death was the direct result of a stroke of apoplexy about a month ago. He leaves a widow and ten children, the majority of whom are residents of this county. They are Mrs. J. S. Pettibone, Mrs. Bart Trullinger, Mrs. E. Mandling, Mrs. Hattie Mandling, Miss Joan Rowell, Lee Rowell, Clay Rowell, Rose Rowell, Willis Rowell, Eugene and Charley Rowell. The deceased came from Iowa in the early 60ties, and has resided in Yamhill and Polk counties continuously since. The funeral will occur from the family home tomorrow at 1:30 under the auspices of the Masons, of which order deceased has been a member for many years.

LAUGHTER ANALYZED.

The Observations of a Man With a Sensitive Ear.

"Of course you have heard," said the man with a sensitive ear, "a laugh that jarred. I don't mean," he continued, "so much a laugh at an inopportune time—though we have all heard such laughs—as a laugh the quality of which is unpleasant. There is something contagious in laughter of the right kind, even though you may be the object of it. It bubbles from the well of good humor. There is no addition of thought, or 'arriere pensee,' as the French say, behind it. It is the essence of frankness; it is spontaneous and whole-souled, and it cloutenues the system of the laugher and, too, of the hearer, like a spiritual bath."

"But there are other kinds of laughter. The sneering laugh is perhaps the most familiar. Then there is a quiet laugh, a sly, secretive sort of laugh that is quite as certain to mean mischief. Another laugh, disagreeable in its nature, is the high pitched, nervous exclamation that comes either from embarrassment or is a mere vocal habit. The worst laugh of all, however, to my mind, is that which is somewhat provoked by the distress or embarrassment of others, and it rages naturally; most of all the object calling it forth. A person laughed at and hurt never forgets the experience."—New York Press.

HUMAN LOVE.

The One Joyous Impulse That Rules the Whole Wide World.

There lives somewhere in the depths of every human heart the divine spark that we call love. It is the voice of the universe whispering in its narrow coil to be awakened by a whisper or to cry out in dear desire and hear the echoing answer from another soul. With out it life would be a pale, relentless episode. Without its quickening force no temples could be reared by human hands, yet hovers when it dwells become more glorious than palaces. Ambition, fame and fortune are its slaves. It stings the mind in sweet imprisonment, makes credulity a guardian angel and fills the soul with repose.

No renunciation of right or wrong can fight the way of love. It walks in pathways all its own. It laughs at the hypocrite and weeps despair. It is the living word of children, the puzzle of philosophers, the taskman of rulers. It is the first and last of the ornaments at the empire, cherished at the grave. It is the rainbow after tears, the cure for every sorrow, the one joyous impulse that rules the whole wide world.—Wilde Memorial in Era Magazine.

The Instinct of Design.

When a Japanese child holds the shape of an object, when he cannot remove it by a design, when, in fact, he has no control over his creation at all, but it is placed in his hands as it is, he believes, says the author of "Katsunuma," he will still contrive to add beauty to it by arrangement.

"I first noticed this on board the steamer going out," says Mr. Edwards, "where the Japanese boy arranged the extra blanket on the berth in a new design each day. He folded it into loops and chrysanthemums, into half opened fans and half shut buds. He had one wonderful arrangement which, being patriotic, was more often repeated than the rest. The blankets of the steamship company had at top and bottom two wavy red lines on a white ground. By some wonderful twist of his fingers the boy would fold that blanket into the rising sun, with the four red lines coming out of it like blood red rays. He did it so perfectly that I recognized the flag of Japan the moment I saw it."—Youth's Companion.

EGGS

We Lay Our Eggs

We lay our eggs before you fresh from the farm. From hen to your table they come as quickly as it is possible to get them. Try some and see how different they are from just ordinary eggs. But good as they are they are not a bit better than all grocery store eggs. If you like fresh eggs, as you surely will, you will like our eggs, equally as well. You will like our prices too. They are always the lowest that will pay for fine quality.

MORE FREIGHT NEWS.

The City Railroad Yard a Scene of Activity.

Remembering the good time we got last week regarding Dallas being the largest shipping point in Oregon, we strove on this again this morning to see if we could not get something else out of Agent Woods and his genial corps of assistants. By the way, we consider that the best kept railroad office in the state. Everything is transacted in a methodical way the gentleman employees never have to scurry during a busy time. Everything has its place, and is kept there. And it is the same way in regard to any information you desire. They know what you want as soon as you ask for it, and the information is coming to you in a very short time, no matter what it is, so long as it pertains to railroading. We know of plenty of offices that are different.

This morning we noticed a long string of freight cars attached to the Monmouth motor. We found there to be 28 cars belled out on that train, most of them lumber going to the east and south. This is no unusual load, but an every day occurrence. Last night there were 100 freight cars in the yards. In fact there are more cars than the present transportation facilities can handle exactly on time. Who says Dallas is not the commercial and railroad center?

It will be remembered by those who have occasion to visit Monmouth and Independence of the vexatious delays caused at the former place by the switching of freight there, caused by the way the track is laid and their having to monkey around and get started over again. We understand this morning that ground has been purchased so that the track can be continued straight on from Dallas to Independence, and do away with all that tiresome switching to get on the other track. When this new way is put in the depot will be moved further down, and everything will be vastly more convenient for the handling of both freight and passengers.
