Oakgrove will give their third annual picnic at that place on June 13, 1908. This is one of our best county picnics, and all want to keep the date in mind.
Kennedy's Laxative Congl Syrup does not constipate, but on the other hand its laxative principles gently move the bowels. Children like it. Sold by Conrad Staffin.
Gus Moser, a Portland attorney, spoke at a limited number of republicans at the Woodman hall Thursday evening. There did not seem to be much enthusiasm in the matter.
Kodol completely digests all classes of food. It will get right at the trouble and do the very work itself for the stomach. It is pleasant to take. Sold by Conrad Staffin.
The June number of McClure's Magazine appears in a new cover of formal design, which it is proposed to use as a permanent standard. The function of a magazine cover is presumably to hold together and facilitate the handling of the pages; but this fact seems to have been very largely lost sight of in the cover of the present issue. The cover of the present issue which has taken place during the past ten years. The use of color and pictorial effects has become increasingly extravagant with a view to attracting attention on the news stands; until in the midst of the riot thus created, nobody can be heard.

Mrs. Oscar Hayter went to Salem by auto Thursday.
Indications of oil at the Whiteaker well are increasing.
Grocer Kirkpatrick and wife came home from Seattle Thursday.

INDEPENDENCE.
Courtesy West Side.
Born, on Friday, May 22, 1908, at Independence, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bollock, a daughter.
Miss Eva Cooper has been very ill for the past two weeks at her home in this city. We are pleased to report that she is improving.
The pupils of the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades gave a reception to Prof. Munkel and the teachers of the public school on Friday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Huston.
Clover Leaf Rebekah Lodge No. 56 of this city has been signally honored in the election of one of its members to the vice-presidency of the Oregon Rebekah Assembly. Mrs. J. E. Hubbard is the member on whom the honor has been so deservedly placed.
T. J. Fryer, of this city, has a lamb that is a curiosity. It has the form of a sheep and the coat of a goat. The head is clean out—no beard nor horns—the tail long like a sheep. If a cross between a sheep and a goat it is the first known case. The mother is a large Cotswold ewe.
At the regular meeting of the Women of Woodcraft last Friday night the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: G. S., Ella Irvine; advisor, Olive Fluke; magician, Etta Dornis; captain of the guards, Nettie Bohannon; attendant, Melie Smith; inside sentinel, Nettie Hooper; musicians, Melissa Govro, Clara Purvine.
There has not been a time in a good many years, says an Independence grower when hops were as backward as they are at this time. The majority of the growers have laid off their trainers because the hops are not high enough to train. It is due to the exceptionally cold weather, which has prevailed during the entire season. There was not a single trainer in many of the hop yards during the past week.
The work on the new bridge is progressing very favorably. The cut that is being made back of Jones' feed stable is nearly completed; a very substantial bridge is being put up over the slough. As soon as the new road is finished the work of pulling down the old bridge will commence. Although welcoming the new steel bridge and grade, quite a number will feel a twinge of regret when they pull down the old bridge. It has stood for a long time against the floods and high water and made a connecting link for the citizens of Independence. Soon it will be a memory and the citizens will point with pride to our new steel bridge and graded road.
