FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the chief remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?
Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Benjamin Constant, having sided with Napoleon during the hundred days, felt the need of justifying himself when Louis XVIII. returned to power. He wrote the king a letter with that end in view and called upon Mme. Becamont to discuss the subject. She asked him quietly:
"Have you finished your letter?"
"Yes."
"Are you satisfied with it?"
"Entirely satisfied. I have almost persuaded myself."

Dyspepsia is our national ailment. But the Hill Street Block is a national cure for it. It strengthens stomach membranes, promotes flow of digestive juices, purifies the blood, builds you up.
There are few miseries in life greater than that of a chronic indigestion. It is a condition every man must have something to worry, fret and nag over, says the July Designer. Nothing is so small to make into a gigantic evil and to be offended accordingly.
Mr. Snow, advance agent for the Arnold Amusement company, has literally flooded the county with heralds regarding the attractions to be offered on June 25th, 26th and 27th. He went to Albany this morning to prepare for the 4th of July to be celebrated at that place.
The roster is today at work on Main street between 2nd and Court. It is to be hoped that our city engineer can so adjust the work as to leave the Main block in good condition for the carnival, but the Hill Street Block between Main and Jefferson untouched as a place for the evening sports.
The problem as to whether a clever man uses a clever wife rests upon broad lines, and is, after all, very easy of solution, says Katherine C. Bell Thurston, in the July Delinquent. Without doubt a clever man should have a clever wife. If the goal desired to be a successful marriage; but clever must not be taken as synonymous with the words "work-producing" or "ambitions."

THE DRAGON FLY.

Singularly Adapted to Its Life of Aerial Piracy.
No one could fail to be struck with the singularly perfect adaptation of the dragon fly's structure to a life of aerial piracy. The four wings are large and in proportion to their weight enormously strong. Each is supported by a wonderfully arranged network of slender ribs, which give the necessary rigidity to the thin, transparent membrane forming its basis. The muscles by which the wings are moved are massive and powerful and are so arranged among themselves that the animal is capable of steering its course with an unerring accuracy which any bird might envy. In this power it is largely aided by a marvelous keenness of sight, for in addition to the two great, gorgeously colored compound eyes which make up so much of the head the insect possesses three smaller "simple" eyes, making five eyes in all. They are when overtaken is seized and devoured by means of powerful, sharply toothed jaws.
An animal which lives such an active life naturally requires a very perfect breathing apparatus, and this is amply provided by a system of holes on the sides of the body which open into an elaborate network of air tubes, supplying every part of the system. The air in these tubes is constantly renewed by the regular compression and dilatation of the body by special muscles.—Chambers Journal.

Benjamin Constant, having sided with Napoleon during the hundred days, felt the need of justifying himself when Louis XVIII. returned to power. He wrote the king a letter with that end in view and called upon Mme. Becamont to discuss the subject. She asked him quietly:
"Have you finished your letter?"
"Yes."
"Are you satisfied with it?"
"Entirely satisfied. I have almost persuaded myself."

Everybody is expected to marry once, and there is not much talk when you marry the first time, but people look wistful when you marry the second time and roar when you marry the third time.—Acheson Globe.
Very Interesting.
"What do you find so very interesting about society?" asked the ordinary person.
"Watching people trying to get in," answered Miss Cayenne.—Washington Star.
This is the great confuser of grief, but the agency by which it works is exhaustion.—London.

Died, in Monmouth, last Tuesday, at 8 o'clock a. m., at the family residence, Mrs. Phoebe Leonard, wife of Charles Leonard. It is understood that Mrs. Leonard is the daughter of one of the early pioneers, but data is not obtainable at this time. The immediate cause of her death was pneumonia. It is understood that her illness was brought on through a relapse from an attack of pneumonia suffered some weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard had no children.
Died, in Independence, Monday, June 28th, Mrs. Wesley Perry, aged 25 years, 9 months, 7 days. Mrs. Wesley Perry was the daughter of Mrs. N. S. Mattison, of this city, was born in Michigan in 1879, removing to Oregon in 1883, and settling in this city where she resided with the Mattison family up to the time of her marriage with Wesley Perry in May 1902. Her marriage was a very happy one and her death was one of the saddest. The funeral services took place from the Odd Fellows hall Tuesday, under the auspices of the Rebekah lodge of Independence. An expression of the esteem with which Mrs. Perry was held was testified by the bank of roses at the tomb which were carried there by special conveyance.
