Mr. L. Frantz and Elmer Lewis were over from Polk county Saturday. They say there are some forest fires in the vicinity of Airlie and Falls City but that they have not assumed serious proportions. Mr. Lewis is one of a party of seventeen who came from Indiana county, Pennsylvania, the first of April. This entire party is located at the Peedee Lumber Co.'s mill. D. D. Good, one of the newcomers having bought a third interest in the mill. The Peedee has just installed a donkey engine and is logging very effectively. Speaking of Falls City, both men say it is a booming town. Recently several orchards have been put out near there. —Cervallis Times.

MILITIA HOME.

Company H. Arrives Last Night all Looking Fine.

A large crowd was at the depot last night to welcome Company H. on its return from its 10 days' encampment at American Lake. The boys put up a very different appearance from a military standpoint than they did on departing. Then they resembled a lot of rookies, for which no one could blame them owing to the short time for drill since their organization, but last night they had much the appearance of seasoned regulars, and conducted themselves as such. Tanned as they were, with dusy habliments, they had all the appearance of men just from the front. Lieutenant Brown brought them home from Portland, Captain Corpening going for a visit to Salem and Lieutenant Bollman for one at Albany. Yesterday Colonel Yoran profusely complimented Captain Corpening for the action of his company during the encampment, and favorably compared them with any similar organization in the service of their length. Not a member of the company was remanded to the guard house, the boys conducting themselves as gentlemen, and while they had lots of fun mixed in with their work, none of it was done in an unbecoming manner. A few cases of dysentery was the only sickness noted, and the boys all express themselves as well pleased with the outing and anxious to take another trip of the kind. The officers received on their 10 days jaunt the same pay as those in the regular army, the privates got the same pay as the regulars also, but enough is paid them by the state to make it $1.25 a day. All received their United States pay at the encampment, but that from Oregon is yet to come.

As suggested by the Itemizer last week it is proposed to give Company H. a reception to show them how the citizens of Dallas feel toward their work. At the request of the company the date has been set for tomorrow night at the armory, if such a plan should work out. All it needs is to have some one take hold of it and raise the little amount of money necessary for the fund, which could be held in the armory, and there are plenty of young ladies anxious to attend to the little details of serving.

COMPLETE ROSTER

Of Company H Attending the Encampment at Tacoma.

Editor Itemizer:

Following is the personal of Company H 4th Inf. from this city now at the American Lake: Capt. C. D. Chorpening; Lieutenants, L. A. Bollman, L. D. Brown; First Sargeant, Peter S. Greenwood; Sargeants, Compton, McDonald, Chaney, Butler; Corporals, Teats, Shaw, Coad, Rich, Sibley; Privates, Arthur, Aldrich, Brown, Bock, Carter, Day, Dillard, Dimmick, Blodgett, Chase, Darling, Dicky, Dillard, Francis, Glover, Greenwood, R. Griffith, W. Griffith, Holman, Johnson, Lynn, Magers, Morton, McDonald, Nessling, Paul, Plaster, Ramsey, Shaw, Stingley, Teats, Wassom; cooks, Kersey and Rowell, artificer, Harris; musician, Finseth.

Our Company is no longer a "lot of rookies," The newness has worn off entirely and each member of the company enters upon his duties with all the zest of a trained soldier. The daily drills are entered into with interest, and Company H is making a showing creditable to our city and as good as any other Company in the Fourth regiment. Blanket tossing has been one of the amusement features of the encampment for a little while. The first victim was Worth Bock. Q. M. "Judge" Butler was standing near giving orders and easily fell the next victim. About the time the boys were warming up well on this subject, an order came from regimental headquarters to stop the racket, and blanket tossing is off, and the "Judge" saved.

The boys, as a rule, take a daily dip in the waters of American lake, some half mile away. One or two who needed a bath and did not go, were taken along contrary to their wishes and made to take a bath.

Captain Corpening has been under the weather the past few days and could not take his company out in the great sham battle, but turned the command of the company over to his lieutenants, who brought them safely back to camp.

The following is a history of Company H.'s experience in the campaign scrap: We left camp at 9:30 o'clock, being one of four companies in the First battallion of the Fourth Oregon commanded by Major Howard. The battallion was marched due north some four miles when it came rather unexpectedly upon the "brown" forces. Company C., of Eugene, and Company H., of Dallas, were the first two companies to be sent out on the firing line. Marching as skirmishers, the two companies formed a line some 100 yards wide and began firing. The enemy gradually retreated as we advanced and finally disappeared in the timber. One company surrendered to the advancing Oregonians. The Dallas boys behaved splendidly under fire, and beyond the pulling of an occasional trigger by a nervous finger at the command of "load" instead of "fire," did excellent work. The recall sounded after a half hour's fighting. After a short rest the "blues" took up the advance again.

In the second engagement Company H did not get into action on account of a too long flank movement, the firing having ceased before they could reach their position. The brigade went into camp at 6 o'clock. Breakfast was had next morning at 3 o'clock a. m. and the march taken up at 3:30. The first and 2nd battallion of the Fourth Oregon, were held as reserves, and did not get into action on account of the blunder of the Washington regiment which began firing too precipitately. The recall was sounded at 6 o'clock and the troops marched back to their camp. This ended the work of Company H and the packing for the trip home began immediately.

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT.

The Southern Pacific to put in Track Scale.

Agent I. N. Woods informs us that an order has been given the mill here to get out the necessary timbers for the installation by the Southern Pacific of what is known as a track scale. The only one now located on the west side of the river is at the Jefferson street depot, and as it was built in the old narrow gauge days, and can only accomodate 30 foot cars, is rather obsolete. On the east side the nearest track scale is located at Albany. Owing to the large amount of lumber being daily shipped from this point, it has been decided by the Southern Pacific management to locate one here. It will be placed on one of the side tracks, and be quite an accommodation for both railroad men and the lumber companies. As it is now the weight of a car has to be guessed at, and as there is quite a difference in the weight of lumber coming from different localities, it can readily be seen what a convenience such an improvement will be and a definate way of settling all disputes. Then lumber coming from Falls City and beyond is lighter than that cut in Dallas, a fact which few are probably aware of, the reason being that the larger logs, as a rule, are cut up there.

The scales will be able to take a 60 foot car, lumber cars running from 32 to 60 feet in length, and will weigh at least 150,000 pounds, the average carload of lumber pulling down some 180,000 pounds, although there are many cars of 100,000 capacity. The work of installing such scales is no light job, as a large pit must be dug to hold the necessary mechanism, and the whole solidly built to support the immense weight it will be constantly receiving. Dallas is to be congratulated that she is the first town of such importance in the carrier line to necessitate the putting in of such an improvement.

Mr. Phontz, who worked for Lynn Chapman here several years ago, but went back to Ohio, returned the other day thoroughly satisfied with Oregon. He is in search of a small orchard.
