Something in post cards at Daniel's.

September records now ready at L. D Daniel's store.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bradley, of Hillsboro, and Mr. Rube Foster, of Portland, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Richmond.

The Derry hack did not get in to Dallas until 6 o'clock Saturday evening, the West Side train being behind time on account of a damaged boiler.

Those paying half of their taxes in the spring and half in the fall should bear in mind and pay up the balance by the first Monday in October.

Many fine peaches are now in market, the majority being from the orchard near town belonging to Mr. Robert Howe. They cannot be surpassed anywhere.

A little child of Mr. and Mrs. Gleason has been seriously ill from rupture. It was thought an operation would be necessary but conditions now do not warrant it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Richmond took in the school fair at Corvallis last week and say it was quite a success in every way. They say the Arnold shows were there and that Snow's baboon had grown wonderfully.

Mrs. Nathaniel Webb, of Walla Walla, a Polk county pioneer from 1853 to 1865, then a resident of Roseburg, for 16 years, and now a resident of Walla Walla for more than 30 years, has been visiting some of her children in Portland. Her maiden name was Eliza J. Boggs.

Mr. James A. Foster, who has been visiting his brother, our genial Salt Creek hop man, for a couple of months, started last week on his return to his home at Carrytown, Tennessee. En route he will visit other relatives in California and Texas. He is well pleased with our county's resources and climate.

The Spaulding logging crew is hard at work getting out logs for the winters run.

Harry Bronson is visiting his aunt, Mrs. A. W. Fowler. His home is in Dakota.

Mrs. S. P. Riggs went to Monmouth Tuesday for a visit with her son, T. A. Riggs.

Wm. Cherrington and family, of Salem, visited Mr and Mrs. R. L. Chapman Sunday.

The concrete arch on Main street is now finished and the work of macadamizing underway.

The public echool will open Monday, September 21st, by which time hop picking will be finished.

The Saturday night dances at the Coliseum are proving quite entertaining, and will be continued until further notice is given.

Saturday, September 12th will be a great day for the ladies, as that is the date set for the millinery opening at The Emporium. These enterprising ladies will also have a full line of ladies' tailor suits on display.

Governor Chamberlain's Labor day proclamation was not paid much attention to in Dallas, everyone continuing their work just the same. The postoffice was the only exception. The banks kept open and so did the court house.

Should you want a fancy pie in a hurry, use an undercrust of dough, and fill the dish with halves of peaches laid so that they will touch. Either canned or fresh fruit will do. Sugar liberally and pour over all enough sour cream almost to cover the fruit. Add some tart strips across the face of the pie, and bake in a moderate oven. It sounds like a diabolical mixture, but really it is most odd and good, and puts an ordinary, everyday pie quite in the shade. —The October Designer.

DISGUSTING EXHIBITION.

Woman Eats Snakes for Benefit of Crowd.

The granting of city licenses to such shows as held forth on Main street last night should not be allowed. They are demoralizing in every particular, show the disgustingly low state to which a human being can fall, and sicken every onlooker who has not the stomach of an ostrich. There were two men and three women in the outfit, one of the women being the devourer. They seemed to be doing a good business as we went by, and probably raked in a number of sheckles. They ce.tainly make it pay or they would not continue it. Some one was making some slighting remark about the show during the evening which riled the snake eater, and she fired a snake at him. They all pulled out this morning to the good of the town. The $2 which the town got for licensing the exhibition, did not pay for the damage done to our sense of decency.

IN WOODMAN HALL.

School Childrens' Industrial Fair to be Held There.

County School Superintendent Seymour tells us that he has secured the upper portion of the Woodman hall for the holding of the school fair, which news will be hailed by all with supreme delight. The room there is ample for the display of the exhibits, it is well lighted, the temperature can be rightfully regulated, and if any program or speaking is desired, the means are at hand for easily carrying it out. Then too, the location is right in the center of town, where it can be reached by all easily without any trouble whatever. No better selection could have been made, and our superintendent is to be congratulated on his foresight in securing that edifice.

Mr. Seymour has been in Salem in attendance upon a state convention of county school superintendents, and will not be home until Saturday morning, so we cannot say just what success he has met with in the securing of lists for Old Home week, as suggested in last week's issue. If you have not sent in the address of any absent friend or relative, you should do so at once, or it will be too late to do anything in the matter. If sufficient addresses are not in this week the whole thing will be abandoned.

START UP MONDAY.

The Chas K Spaulding Logging Company.

Next Monday morning the Chas. K. Spaulding Logging Company will again resume operations at their large mill in the northern suburbs of Dallas. The logging crew is now actively engaged in getting everything in readiness to begin shunting logs down the creek for the winters run and soon they will be quite busy turning out the finished product at this end of the line in as big lots as in the old days. The mill will open Monday for a 30 days run. After that it will continue to run or not just as the business justifies. It is expected that orders will soon begin to flow in, and the running of the mill will be regulated by the number of those appearing. The managers, of course, hope to continue running on full time right along, but if orders are slack cannot do so. Everything points to a resumption of the old time lumber trade all over the northwest, but it is not a certainty, and the mills have to be governed in their output by the amount of business in sight and not by any guesswork as to what it may be. All hope that the situation will so develope as to keep the force busy from now on.

It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that this mill has branched out into the handling of other lines of material, necessary to the trade of house erection They have facilities for handling goods in those lines that are unsurpassed and will no doubt develop quite a trade in them. All can be assured of courteous treatment, the best grade of material, and prices that are in no way exorbitant.

Mrs. George Gerlinger asked for $100 on behalf of the city library, but the same was not allowed, as the council did not feel able under their present burden of expense to appropriate money to that institution. Nearly all expressed themselves as desirous of giving to the library when able to do so, but could not see their way clear at this time.

An ordinance was introduced and read first time licensing the sale of beer and other malt drinks.

Roy Wassom's bid for the construction of sidewalks was accepted.

The marshal was instructed to put in alley crossings on the Conkey block.

Water was ordered installed in the council chamber, Councilman Uglow offering to stand the expense of so doing.

Adjournment was taken until Thursday evening in order to see if the sewer contractors put up the necessary bond, which became due on September 9th.

SEWER WORK BEGUN.

Contractors Arrive Yesterday and Get Busy.

The preliminary work of putting in the five miles of new sewers, the contract for which was last week awarded to Messers Venske & Taylor, of Cottage Grove, for a sum approximating some $18,000, was commenced this morning. Yesterday was the last day in which to file a guarantee bond with the city for that amount to insure the faithful completion of the work, and they arrived on time and made good. A number of prominent Cottage Grove men are named as sureties, and satisfactory inquiries having been made by Auditor Brown as to their commercial rating, the bond will doubtless be accepted by the mayor and council at tonight's meeting.

As under the terms of the contract with the city the sewers must be completed by December 10th, the contractors have no time to while away. They have shown that they so regard the matter by getting busy at once. We believe them to be men of energy, capability, and of sufficient experience to do the work up in good shape and with none of the delays consequent upon bad management that often happens in such cases. They are now advertising for laborers, and will put on as many men as they can get, no restriction being placed on the number, and the only qualification needed is the ability to handle a pick and shovel. They will pay $2 a day wages, which should bring them all the men needed. We were unable to learn just what sewer would be commenced first, but surmise that it will be the one on Washington street. It is not thought possible, however, that this can be laid in time to allow of the macadamizing of the block from Main street to the depot this year. It will be getting too late in the season to successfully work at street labor by that time. So the work of progress in Dallas continues. Hardly is our street work completed until many men are called for to work on the sewers, the city thus setting an example of progressiveness which it would be well for every citizen to emulate. And many of them are doing so.

The rock crusher crew are still at work on the street and will get it entirely cleared today under the capable supervision of Foreman O'Brien.

MILLINERY OPENING

The popular firm of Smith & Shelton have made arrangements to hold their fall millinery opening on next Saturday, September 12th. The proprietors have been in Portland this week preparing for this great occasion. They have spared neither time nor expense to make this the banner season for their patrons, as they have by carefully selecting their stock, been able to get the best goods at moderate prices. They also make a special feature of their ladies' tailor suits. Everything for everybody. Be sure and call at the Emporium Saturday.

One of the delivery teams took a spin this morning.

Registration for the November election will be open September 21st and remain open one month. The date for opening the registration books is September 20th, but as it falls on Sunday this year, they will not be opened until Monday.

Judge Brown reports an entire dearth of news in the police court this week. This morning he thought there would be something doing, but got left. About 2 a. m. a man called the judge from repose saying that he wanted to swear out a warrant against the snake man who held forth last night on Main street, but seemed by morning to change his mind. He complained the charmer of the show had swatted him across the face with a snake. Would this be called assault with a dangerous weapon?
