THANKSGIVING DAY.

Today is the day which has been designated by our president and governor as the one on which we are supposed to each year cease our toil and worry, and by the entertainment of our friends and family give thanks to God above for the favor of being placed on this terrestrial sphere, and especially as residents of a country whose enlightenment and progress has far outstripped that of other nations and countries. Harking back to the fashion of our forefathers, who established the observance in direct recognition of blessings to hand, we still mainly observe it by stupendous dinners of turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie and other eatables thought especially tasty at that time. That the custom is a good one, no one will gainsay, and it is looked forward to with pleasurable anticipations by all who can afford the price. It should be and is as a general rule, a day rivaling Christmas, for the flow from our breasts of the milk of human kindness—the milk that finds it more pleasurable to give to some stricken brother or sister of what we can spare of the pleasures of this life than to hog it all to ourselves, forgetting the fraternal obligation we rightfully owe one to another during our short span of residence upon this mundane sphere. That we are not entirely a selfish people is fully demonstrated on the occasions of Thanksgiving and Christmas. The reason that we are, as a race, frequently called such, is because we use mostly these two days as our safety valves, allowing business and other matters to the rest of the year encrust our hearts with a sort of imperviousness to the needs of other people. One and all we should be more careful to keep the spirit of these days with us in each and every day, making of us a more contented people with the lot in life vouchsafed us, more tolerant of the shortcomings of our friends, more anxious to help the needy and to assist those of us in need of assistance who have not been as well able to cope with life as ourselves. To all our readers we hope that the past year has been one over which they have no great regrets, that they have all made sufficient filthy lucre to tide them over another year, or have it in prospect, that no great sorrow has entered their lives, and that the day itself will prove one of a happy reunion with friends or relatives.

Everywhere there are women who bear witness to the wonderful, curative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—which saves the suffering one from pain, and successfully grapples with woman's weaknesses and stubborn ills.
