RICH-FOSTER. Popular Young Couple of Dallas Unite Their Destinies.

Yesterday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Foster, at Bridgeport, Rev. Edgar N. Miles united in marriage with the ring ceremony Miss Bertha Foster and Harold Rich, son of F. R. Rich. Some 30 guests were present and many valuable and beautiful presents of cut glass and silver received.

Mrs. Hubert Goode sang. I Love You Truly, and Miss Hallie Coad played the wedding march. The beautiful and accomplished bride was dressed in a gown of white marquisette over messaline silk trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink and white decorations of sweet peas and ferns.

A tasty lunch was served at the conclusion of the ceremony, and many congratulations showered upon the young couple.

The happy couple left for Portland that afternoon, where they will take in the rose fair and spend a few weeks at Seaside, after which they will return to Dallas to make their home in their house on Washington street.

The bride is well known to all of our younger set, and their best wishes go with her for a long and happy life. The groom is the well known plumber of Guy Bros. establishment, of good habits and morals, and who is sure to provide a proper nest for the bird he has captured.

ELECTRIC FAN SERVICE TO INDIGENT INVALIDS.

The free electric fan service for the benefit of the indigent sick which was offered to the public last summer by the Oregon Power Co., will be renewed this summer, according to Manager J. L. White. The offer of the company makes in effect is that electric fans and where necessary the current to operate will be furnished without cost to persons seriously ill who are unable to pay for the service. The only conditions are that the attending physician must certify to the reasonable necessity for fan service and to the patient's inability to afford it. The offer of course applies where the sick room is within reach of the company's lines.

The reason for making conditions of any kind is for the obvious purpose of protecting the free electric fan offer for the use of those who really need it and cannot afford it," said Manager White.

"It is a charitable proposition and not in any way allied with efforts to obtain additional business on the part of the company. No hard and fast rules are enforced regarding the free service, our aim being to make it do as much good as possible. During the summer there are always cases where the use of an electric fan greatly improves the condition of the patient and sometimes represents the narrow margin between life and death."

Last summer the offer was made for the first time at all the electric properties operated by H. M. Byllesby & Company. It was received with approval and it was at once utilized by physicians. The offer was then an innovation, having been made previously in but one or two cities in the United States. It attracted attention all over the country and many editorials were printed endorsing the act and expressing gratitude that public utility corporations desired to express charitable efforts in this practical and personal way. Unquestionably much good was accomplished and other public utility companies inaugurated similar service. This year probably many other central station companies will do likewise.

"It has been asserted that this free fan service is offered to obtain favorable advertising for the company. In reply to this, I would say merely that the service cannot be rendered at all without a certain degree of publicity, inasmuch as the public must know of the offer in order to take advantage of it."

Unknown Substance. While the workmen under Henry Voth were working at the county quarry last week they ran into a pocket of some sort of a substance that so far has baffled all comers to give it a name. It looks like amber, is very brittle, and you can easily read through a piece a couple of inches in thickness. Pieces of all thicknesses were found, ranging in size from a crumpled up piece to several inches. It is not a ledge, but there seemed to be a sort of pocket of it, and it was found almost 20 feet below the top of quarry. Some of our geologists can get busy and name it or a sample will be sent to the Agricultural college.

Shot in Chin.

Wilford Bancroft, aged 15, shot Chas. Wurtzberger, aged 10, in the chin with a .22 rifle Tuesday afternoon at Falls City. The bullet lodged in the throat. These two boys and Kenneth Oxford, aged 8, were playing with the gun, and it is supposed to have been accidentally discharged. The bullet was removed and the wound is not deemed dangerous. —Telegram.

Mrs. N. C. Brown has our thanks for an awfully nice bunch of roses, with which to adorn our sanctum sanctorum.

A PLEASANT VISIT. A Model Farm Home with all Comforts—None of the Drawbacks.

Sunday we took dinner and spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goetz about six miles out on the Perrydale road. They have lately finished up one of the finest residences in that portion of the country with every thing convenient and modern, having their own lighting and water plant. Coming here about a year ago they have worked wonders in the 30 acres they purchased, and another year will see even a greater difference. Both Mr. and Mrs. Goetz hail from Washington, D. C. He was there a teacher of languages, being an expert linguist, and was for a number of years the tutor of a son of John R. McLean, the world famous magnate and political boss. Mrs. Goetz served many years as clerk in their horticulture department. Tiring of city life and the climate there, and aware that farm life would prove a life giver in health and strength, they came to Oregon and Dallas, purchasing their present home when it was nothing but a patch of oak grubs. Entirely new to every kind of farm work, it has so far been rather an uphill climb for unexperienced persons, but they are making good in every respect. Their orchard of a year is as well kept and looks as nice as any you can find; their success with chickens has been remarkable, and it was a pleasure to us to see how a little brains has even in their embryo place made the raising of fowls a pleasure and profit. Many of our farmers could secure valuable pointers from them right now in the way of erecting and keeping up of clean sanitary chicken and hog houses. They surely are a great contrast to the ones you will find located on most farms. The old time tendency to let fowls run haphazard and take care of themselves, must in this advanced age give place to modern methods if the business of chicken raising is to be made a success. The pace killing physical labor thought necessary by the old time farmer is giving place to the one who makes his brains do a greater portion of the work of his hands, bring even a larger result as far as money is concerned and making the life a much happier one for the man and his family. If Polk county had more country residents like Mr. and Mrs. Goetz, they would find the land would prove more productive at a less expenditure of labor.

A Five Months Record.

George Hagood, the noted local chicken fancier, tells us that from January 1st to June 1st his 70 Brown Leghorn hens laid him 6047 eggs. He got just 1000 more eggs this year than he did from the same number of hens last year, caused by a cupped by better knowledge of how to keep his fowls at the laying business. He keeps a careful record of the eggs received every day, and probably makes as much clear revenue from a limited number of hens, as any one in the business. Several years of experience has taught him how to best attend to the hens to produce the best results and secure what is wanted by all growers—a multiplicity of eggs. We rather think his record is as good or better than any other of our chicken raisers.

Four Men—Three Legs.

Can you beat this? The other evening we noticed four men sitting in a row. This was hardly unusual, but when we came to inspect more closely we found that the four could only marshal three human legs between them, one being legless all together, and the other three possessed of only one leg each.
