KEEP FRUIT FRESH.

"Fresh Fruits and Vegetable the World Around, Year Around."

The above is the motto of a company organized some two or three years ago to utilize an idea perfected by one of our Oregon inventive geniuses. George K. Rodgers, the well known old Woodman organizer, found out the utility of the process, and went at the matter of perfecting organizations and installing plants with the energy for which he was always noted in the W. O. W. He is now general manager of the concern, and has had the process of keeping fruit fresh satisfactorily tried out in several places. A plant is in operation at Hillsboro, another at Willamina, and one is being installed at Sutherlin. He explained the method of preserving fruit to us a couple of years ago, but we forgot all about it, not thinking there would be demand for anything of the kind here.

Some two weeks ago after noting how much of our fruit was going to waste here we wrote for renewed information, also after noting how the Hillsboro and Willamina papers were bragging on the process. This morning Mr. Argo Brown, of Portland, made his appearance in our office, and said that he was here to open negotiations for the installation of such a plant in Dallas. What he asks to install a plant here is the subscription of $10,000 worth of stock in the entire venture—that is you would not be taking stock in the Dallas plant alone, but would derive return revenue from all the plants installed. Several here think well of the venture, and Mr. J. L. Brown alone, has offered to take up $2,000 of the stock, making the amount to be raised only $8,000. As it is now too late for the installation of a plant this year, Mr. Rodgers will at some time in the future come up and make a definite proposition to the commercial club, some of the officers of which were interviewed on the subject this morning. All whom the plan has been explained to seem favorable to the proposition, and it is nearly certain another of our capitalists will subscribe for a block of $2,000.

The main idea is to so evaporate the fruit as to keep it in all its purity, form and taste—fresh in every particular. The process does this without doubt, as was evidenced to us by samples this morning, and the amount that can be carved for is practically unlimited, as is the kinds of fruit that can be handled. With a plant of this kind in operation, none of our growers need feel leary of raising any more Loganberries, strawberries, cherries, or anything else but what they will have a market for right at their door. The process has been so far tried out that it has passed the limit of a venture, and the stockholder that invests is assured of good returns for his money, as well as the assuring the grower of sufficient remuneration for his labor to make growing of fruit a profitable one.

Thos. J. Hayes, of Dallas, and Pearl M. Mangis, of Rickreall, were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Clyde Getchell, at 2:30 on July 22. Rev. H. John Vine, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. The groom is in the employ of the Dallas Lumber and Logging company, and both are highly esteemed and very popular with their host of acquaintances.

WE PICK THE WINNERS

We gather the cream of all that is new and artistic in Post Cards, and carry none of the cheap stuff.

In the samples of one house, we find a few winners—sometimes not more than one or two kinds. From the next traveling man's samples, we gather a few more—and so on until a creditable assortment is obtained.

We make a specialty of the popular Sepias and the dainty Hand Painted Cards. Many of these are suitable for framing.

You often find a merchant advertising his goods as different. That "different" gag has been worked overtime. But the funny part of it is, these Post Cards of our's really Are Different.

We want you to come in and see for yourself.
