Patronize One Another for the Uplifting of Town and County.

Only a few days more and it will all be over and our state can get back to work to make up what our representation have so recklessly given away.

Our Representative Hill does not want Ralph Watson to have a raise in salary. For shame, Verd. If Watson was not worth the salary, it would not be asked.

The people of Oregon outside of the city of Portland, are not in favor of giving a large amount of money for Oregon's exhibit at the Frisco fair. The larger the appropriation the bigger the steal.

Polk County's fair is going to be a big thing in the years to come, and it is going to start right—plenty of room for good buildings, the right location, and no mistakes made to be rectified in the hereafter.

Easter Sunday for 1913 will happen on March 23. A writer in the St. Louis Post Dispatch says; Easter bunnets will blossom earlier this year than they have since 1856 and earlier than they will burst into bloom for another century. The earliest date on which Easter can fall is March 22, but that hasn't happened since 1818. This year it will be March 23, the same date on which it fell in 1856 and 1845. The Rev. Father Martin S. Brennan, a noted St. Louis astronomer, told a Post Dispatch reporter that tables computed by mathematicians had not been carried far enough to show just how long it will be before Easter again falls on so early a date, but it will not occur until some time after the year 2000. The rule for fixing the date of Easter originally was that it was the Sunday after the first full moon following the spring equinox. The equinox falls on March 21st. According to a ruling of the council at Nice, if March 21st is a Saturday and there is a full moon on that day, the following day will be Easter. This year March 21st will be Friday and there will be a full moon Saturday.

The woman lobbyist has been and will continue to be one of the greatest enemies to pure legislation that our senate and house have to contend with. It is a fact in all states and has been fully demonstrated in our own state during the last week. All large corporations are aware of the power of a good looking woman over men whose votes they desire to entice, and this power is used unscrupulously by them all over the United States and in the District of Columbia. With many otherwise good men the wiles of a fascinating woman will beguile the desired results when all attempts of a man lobbyist with promises of patronage, direct bribery, etc., would be flatly turned down. A handsome woman can cajole the man who would not even listen to other means of coercing his vote. There is also another side and fact to this question, and that is that a delegation of mothers could go before our solons and plead with them with tears in their eyes for the enactment of some law for the good of the children, and it would probably be turned down. Queer is it not, but of such makeup is the average genus homo. No wonder they have to have those pretty, useless stenographers, not hardly one of whom know how to stenog.

We notice a legislator has introduced a bill to prohibit swearing. Such a law has been an Oregon statute for many years, but has really become obsolete because of its non-enforcement. Peace officers will stand on our streets, ride in our public conveyances, and attend congregations where the air is made blue with profanity and obscene language, yet will make no more effort to stop it than if there were not such a law. The member of the legislature who has introduced the bill, should instead have put in a bill to take the old law off the books, for of what use is it when no attempt is made to have its provisions complied with. Oregon is overburdened with laws to which no attention is paid by those who are elected to enforce them. If the present legislature had not passed a single new measure, but put all their time toward eliminating all trash from the present code, their services would have been of much more benefit to the people. Governor West has asked the legislature for the power to make officers enforce the laws of Oregon, but it will probably not be given him, simply for political reasons.

At the last election the voters had an easy thing in even their long ballot as compared with what a member of the legislature is now up against, and were in a position to vote much more intelligently, although it was contended that many of them were not possessed of the high brand of intelligence with which the solons were elected are supposed to be endowed. What real knowledge has any of our legislators of the multiplicity of bills he is expected to vote upon before the end of the session. None. He must simply take his cue from the report of the committee to whom it was referred, and vote accordingly. In most cases this is leaning in a broken reed, as generally the committees are but little better informed than the voter. For instance: One of our representatives presented a bill last week to a certain committee for approval before introduction. The chairman told the solon it could not pass and gave a certain reason. This reason showed the chairman a fool and not conversant with the ordinary workings of our courts, as the proposed bill was intended to eliminate and make practicable the objection raised thereto. If a member wants to vote wrong, he should take the report of the committees as his guide, especially those on judiciary.

WHAT DID WALL STREET THINK?

The (New York) World (Dem.) Did Wall street think Woodrow Wilson was a political crook? Did it think he was a political confidence man engaged in buncing the American people? Did it believe he was seeking the presidency under false pretenses and would sell out as soon as he was elected? The protests that have followed Gov. Wilson's speech at Chicago admit of no other construction. Governor Wilson said nothing at Chicago at which any honest business need take alarm. There was no menace of a reign of terror; no threat against legitimate industry or legitimate finance. The speech in the main was an appeal to the business men of the country to join forces with the administration in eradicating abuses concerning which the public mind is fully made up. It was a plea for honest counsel and honest co-operation. It revealed a chief executive trying to judge with the mind of a just and upright judge. This is the speech and this the appeal Wall street denounces. There can be only one interpretation of this criticism. Either Wall street thought Woodrow Wilson was a coward who could be scared or a demagogue who could be dealt with, or a snob who could be flattered, or a corruptionist who would traffic for the favor of Big Business, or a traitor to the principles of government which he advocated throughout the campaign.
