A new ticket office will be opened on Commercial street soon, and just as soon as some new cash fare tickets can be furnished the conductors they will be allowed to accept a cash fare on trains from passengers boarding the train on Commercial street straight through for Dallas.

BANQUET AT GAIL.

Commercial Club of Dallas Feasts Its Membership.

On last Tuesday evening the banquet room of that popular hostelry, the Gail hotel, was the scene of the second annual dinner given by the Commercial club of this city to its membership. The room was handsomely decorated for the occasion in the colors of the club, and the tables artistically arranged. Covers were laid for 75 guests, and according to the count of C. C. Chapman the men were in the majority by one, there being 35 ladies and 36 gentlemen present. The large corps of waiters handled the six-course dinner with credit to themselves and honor to Landlord Serr, who had taken great pains to make the banquet one long to be remembered from a culinary standpoint. The menu was extensive and varied, and the chef out did himself in catering to the tastes of the banqueters, putting to shame some of the leading New York artists. The diners were entertained throughout the evening with some choice selections by Edkin's orchestra.

The first speaker on the program was our well known orator, Mr. Walter L. Toozee Jr., our next prosecuting attorney, who told those present what the Dallas Commercial club was for and some of the things it has accomplished.

Senator C. L. Hawley spoke of the work done by the Oregon Development League at the last legislature for the development of the resources in the state.

H. C. Seymour gave a very interesting talk on the work done by our Polk county schools.

Mrs. George Gerlinger, president of the Dallas Woman's club, told of the club's efforts for city betterment and the aims of the organization. Upon being referred to as a citizen, Mrs. Gerlinger stated that she was very proud of the honor conferred upon the women of Oregon by giving them the right to express their sentiments on public questions by giving them the use of the ballot, but did not favor any woman seeking public office.

Rev. Edgar W. Miles, the popular clergyman, gave a short but interesting talk.

C. C. Chapman, president of the Oregon Development League, outlined the work carried on by that organization and commended the residents of Dallas and members of the Commercial club for their work in assisting to bring new settlers to Polk county.

In re estate of Jas. H. Chapin; sale of real estate confirmed.

IT IS WHISPERED.

That there will be no hard surface pavement in Dallas this year.

That the court house would look better if lit up of evenings as heretofore.

That Salem will be dry after May—maybe.

That Dallas has had about all the experience she wants in cement road or walk ways.

That a McMinnville paper says A. V. R. Snyder has been soliciting votes in their north end.

That a move is on foot today to take the Dallas band to Salem next Saturday.

That a government secret service agent has been doing the county for the last three days.

That none of our lawyers seem to be hunting the job of prosecuting attorney—not enough in it.

That our county court is not as economical as they promised before the last election.

That our Walter was the whole push at the Commercial club banquet.

That the fine weather of last week brought many of us back to the soil miking gardens.

That none of our business men seem to desire a place as councilman, realizing that too many enemies can be made to pay for the honor.

That certain lies had better cease or there will be something doing.

The two year old son of Claud Smith was painfully burned about the legs yesterday, caused by a kettle of boiling water, which he knocked from the stove.

Important Case Decided.

The case of T. G. Shefton vs. City of Dallas, appealed from the police court writ of review, has been decided by Judge Galloway against the city. This was a criminal action instituted in the first place by the city of Dallas against Shefton, as defendant. Shefton was taking orders for teas and coffees, representing a Portland house. He was arrested under the peddler's ordinance of the city and upon trial in the police court was fined $50. The charter of Dallas provides for no appeal, hence the matter was carried up on a writ of review. Judge Galloway sustained Shefton's contention all the way through, finding the ordinance invalid because of its impropriety and of the prohibitive tax thereunder. L. D. Brown and L. E. Crouch represented the plaintiff, while the city was represented by Walter L. Toozee Jr. and Ed. F. Coad.

A MODERN SHYLOCK.

About 20 years ago "Mrs. B." agreed to buy a certain tract of land from "Mr. A." for the sum of $5000. She paid in cash about one half of the purchase price, but owing to financial reverses, she was unable to pay the balance. "Mr. A." foreclosed the mortgage, got possession of the land, and obtained a deficiency judgment for about $3100, not content with obtaining his land back, besides what the woman paid in on the agreed purchase price, he has kept the deficiency judgment alive, and after waiting for all these years, has taken out execution on certain notes that Mrs. B. now owns in the city of Portland. The woman in question is dependent upon her own industry for support, and after many years of saving and sacrifice, and by means of honest labor, paid for the lots, only to receive notice that her property would be sold on March 17, 1913, to satisfy the deficiency judgment. In other words "Mr. A." gets $5000 for nothing. In my opinion this is nothing more or less than legalized robbery and is a strong exemplification of shynock and his pound of flesh. How any man can exact this penalty from a poor woman and be able to sleep well at night, yes, and be able to meet his God, if he has any, is more than I can understand. God have mercy on his poor soul! Does not this little tragedy all go to show that there is something higher, more ennobling in this life than the almighty dollar? I might also add that the woman in question is no client of mine but it is just a case of humanity.

A LAWYER.

The above appeared in today's Oregonian, written by one of our prominent men, and the itemizer is personally aware that the assertions made are true in every particular. In fact it is the taking advantage of a poor woman's lack of business ability, and after living a life of frugality, making her pay the penalty. But that is what the majority of laws are for, where the poor are concerned.

LETTER LIST.
