Why Weak Lungs?
The toll of tuberculosis is claiming more than 350 victims every day in the United States, yet few realize their grave condition until the critical period arrives. Overwork, worry, weakness after sickness, catarrh, bronchitis, tender throats—all excite the weakening influence that invites consumption.
To guard against consumption, thousands of people take Scott's Emulsion after meals because its rich medicinal nourishment strengthens the lungs, puts vigor in the blood, and upbuilds strength to resist tuberculosis. Scott's Emulsion is nature's strength-builder. Refuse substitutes.

COMING!
Burk's Big Uncle Tom's Cabin Company Under a Mammoth Canvas.
Will exhibit in Dallas Saturday night, June 13th. Among the many tented organizations in America that have become famous the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey shows are conceded to be the largest and most popular of circuses. But the largest dramatic organization exhibiting under canvas is Burk's big spectacular production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This mammoth amusement enterprise is the acknowledged Barnum of all Uncle Tom's Cabin companies; like the big circuses, they travel in their own cars and require a special train of their own to transport their paraphernalia from one city to another. This organization embraces more men, women and children, more horses, ponies, donkeys and Siberian blood hounds, more chariots, floats, tableaux wagons, etc., etc., than any other similar exhibition in America. The parade which may be seen daily on the principal streets wherever this mighty show exhibits, is the largest of any dramatic exhibition in the world. The immortal play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's masterpiece of dramatic fiction. The management of Burk's big company has spared no expense in securing a metropolitan cast to properly produce this old drama. In combination with the dramatic taken the management presents a contingent of high class vaudeville artists consisting of merry-makers, jubilee singers, dancers, wire walkers, hoop rollers, etc. These artists are introduced during the action of the play and always create the greatest satisfaction. The famous concert band and orchestra is also one of the many features of this up-to-date modern American amusement organization, which is coming in all its vast entirety and will exhibit at Dallas Saturday night, June 13, under a mammoth water proof palace pavilion theatre, seating 2500 people.

"THE FIGHTING PARSON."
It's a marvelous gripping story that is told by Rev. Frederick R. Wedge. "The Fighting Parson," who only a few years ago was known from coast to coast as "Kik" Wedge, the successful waterweight prizefighter. Wedge will lecture on our Chautauquin, and his story is said to be one of never flagging interest. He spent his early youth as a navy boy in San Francisco and then went to the prize ring. Then he met and loved a charming girl, a university graduate, who was the daughter of a wealthy physician.

"LITTLE MISS WOODEN SHOES."
There are six of the most vivacious and charming young ladies in this singing orchestra, although this picture shows but five. The other one is at the piano. (Come out to the Chautauquin and you will see her.) They give a delightfully varied program of vocal and instrumental music, much of it in costume. Mrs. Dunbar, who heads the company, also gives a number of interpretations with musical settings. "Little Miss Wooden Shoes" is a never failing hit with all audiences. Each of these young ladies is an artist capable of giving an entire evening's program alone. Together they form a great company.

CURIOUS FROM CORRESPONDENTS
Q—What is wrong when a cock's comb turns dark? A—It's a sign of indigestion, weak heart, diseased liver, sluggish circulation or frostbite.
Q—I have a Legionnaire coughed with a lop cough. How can I make him cry it straight? A—A washcloth, this case or less do a finger work; you can't change it. This trouble is often the result of weakness from lack of nutritious food, the invasions of lice or lossening of comb through roup. In these cases removal of cause generally makes comb come to normal.
Q—If you were to start a goose farm, what variety would you choose? A—The White Emulsion.
Q—What do you think of moth balls for house killer in winter? A—The laying hens aren't on the nest just enough to get any benefit from them and only touch them with the underbody. The worst lice are on the neck and head. Moth balls are apt to frown the eggs.

LINCOLN TOLD A STORY.
It Was So Good It Inflicted and Then Remitted a Fine.
Abraham Lincoln, during his early career as a lawyer, traveled a circuit in Illinois. Judge David Davis and Lincoln were close friends, says the author of "Lincoln's Own Stories," and the judge always showed a keen appreciation of Lincoln's stories.
"I was never held but once for contempt of court," said a man who was a clerk of court in Lincoln's day. "Davis fined me $5. Mr. Lincoln had just come in, and, leaning over my desk, had told me a story so irresistibly funny that I broke out in a loud laugh. The judge called me to order, saying:
"This must be stopped. Mr. Lincoln, you are constantly disturbing the court with your stories."
"Then he said to me:
"You may fine yourself $5."
"I apologized to the court, but told the judge that the story was worth the money. Shortly afterward the judge called me to him.
"What was that story that Lincoln told you?" he asked.
"I told him, and he laughed aloud in spite of himself."
"Remit your fine" he ordered."

LINCOLN TOLD A STORY.
It Was So Good It Inflicted and Then Remitted a Fine.
Abraham Lincoln, during his early career as a lawyer, traveled a circuit in Illinois. Judge David Davis and Lincoln were close friends, says the author of "Lincoln's Own Stories," and the judge always showed a keen appreciation of Lincoln's stories.
"I was never held but once for contempt of court," said a man who was a clerk of court in Lincoln's day. "Davis fined me $5. Mr. Lincoln had just come in, and, leaning over my desk, had told me a story so irresistibly funny that I broke out in a loud laugh. The judge called me to order, saying:
"This must be stopped. Mr. Lincoln, you are constantly disturbing the court with your stories."
"Then he said to me:
"You may fine yourself $5."
"I apologized to the court, but told the judge that the story was worth the money. Shortly afterward the judge called me to him.
"What was that story that Lincoln told you?" he asked.
"I told him, and he laughed aloud in spite of himself."
"Remit your fine" he ordered."
