CANCER

Last week a young married lady of Dallas was buried, leaving behind her a husband and many young children. She had died from cancer. A year ago last May her husband brought her to Dr. Toel's office to be examined. It took him, however, nearly twenty minutes to persuade her to submit to an examination. Her general health at that time was good, but Dr. Toel found in her breast a cancerous growth two inches long and one inch wide, while in the armpit he found a small enlargement of a gland which, however, did not yet show the cancerous hardness. He told her that the growth in the breast was undoubtedly cancer, and advised her to begin electrical treatment at once and if the enlarged gland did not begin to diminish in size in a short time, to submit to one of his bloodless electrical operations and have both the breast and the gland removed. However, he never heard from her again, though from time to time, four times in all, he wrote her, calling her attention to the danger she was running in not having the cancer removed without delay.

At the time her husband brought her to his office he had informed her that the prospect for a cure was fair, as the swelling in the gland seemed to be simply an inflammatory one which usually precedes the cancerous infection from the cancer in the breast. Why she never came back to him to have the cancer removed, Dr. Toel does not know; he only knows the fact that she died from the cancer lately. Cases of cancer should be brought to the specialist as soon as they are discovered. The advice that some physicians give to leave a cancer alone, as it is incurable in the worst advice that can be given the patient. Cancer is always local in the beginning. As long as it is local it is curable. If the patient waits until the lymphatic glands become affected, then his chances for a cure are a great deal less, but the present advance in electrical treatment will cure even many of these cases. When metastases from a cancer on the outside of a body appear in internal organs the prognosis of course becomes very bad, though even such cases have been cured by X-rays. When, however, the patient waits until his entire vitality is gone, he can not expect anything even from electricity. Do not neglect a lump in your breast, but go to a specialist. Do not neglect an unnatural flow of blood from your womb, but go to a specialist. Do not neglect a sore place on our lip, but go to a specialist. Do not neglect a growing lump or eating sore anywhere on your body, but go to a specialist. By "specialist" is meant, not the so-called "Cancer Doctor," who in many cases is not even a licensed physician, and knows nothing but to put an eating plaster on a cancer, causing unbearable pain and driving the cancer germs and cells in the lymphatic glands, and the educated surgeon who has made a life-study of the application of the different electrical currents in cases of cancer.

What is said here in regard to cancers refers also to a great extent to other forms of tumors, but do not wait until they become incurable, but go to a specialist as soon as you discover a tumor on or in your body. Dr. Toel has for over 30 years made a specialty of electrical operations and treatments. Dr. Toel can be found at his Office, 619 Washington St., Dallas, Oregon, one-half block east of the S. P. depot, from 10 to 12 noon, 2 to 5 p. m., 7 to 9 p. m., Sunday, 10 to 1 p. m., telephone 1202. Specialties: Cancer and Tumors. No knife and no loss of blood. No plasters and pain for hours and days. Polypus, Goitre, Piles, Fistula, Bladder, Prostate, Asthma, Diseases of Women, Skin and Nervous Diseases, Neuralgia, Neurasthenia, Gout, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Constipation. Adv.

While glass lets in the light and sun's heat it is also a rapid conductor of heat and this is why greenhouse with big glass fronts get cold so quick at night and Jack Frost covers the big windows with ice. Don't put feathers and stubs and fill up the holes with beeswax with the idea that the judge will not see the trick and not disqualify the faked specimen.
