Patronize One Another for the Uplifting of Town and County.

If each of us would abstain from throwing tin cans and waste papers in the alleys and empty lots, the appearance of the neighborhood would be greatly improved.

It's a mighty fine thing to advocate buying at home, but the wage-earner with the shrunken pocketbook is going to spend his money where it will buy the most. After all, the secret of success in buying at home is to meet competition. The policy won't win out any other way.

When you get a good man under a two-year contract, one who does more and better work than anyone else ever did for you before, what do you do at the end of the two years? Do you discharge that man or do you offer him another contract? Use your head when you think politics just as you use it when you think business. There's a little bit of something in the good-and-faithful-servant argument.

LOOKS LIKE A TAME CAMPAIGN.

The decision of President Wilson to "stay on the job" in Washington, during these troublesome times of warring nations, will commend him to the good judgment of citizens generally and will place the president a notch higher in the hearts of his countrymen. "America is greater than any party," says the president, therefore he has refused to take the stump in the interest of the Democratic party during this fall's campaign.

The campaign promises to be a tame affair for the reason that everyone is reading war, talking war, thinking war. Even Col. Roosevelt cannot get a patient hearing at this time.

It is hoped, however, the people throughout the country will not become so interested in the European war that they will forget that beyond all else the most important thing for them to do at the polls in November will be to vote their confidence in President Wilson's wisdom and his administration by voting for men for their representatives in congress who will be in hearty accord with the administration and who can be depended upon to not antagonize the president in his administration of peace and constructive legislation.

WILL PROVE A BOOMERANG.

The cartoons that the Oregonian is publishing daily on its front page will at our next election prove the worst boomerang that that (other than politically) most excellent paper ever received. Its political spleen is so bitter that it would rather attempt to ruin the state and country by its dire pictorial and editorial prophecies than to have a Democrat in office. The Oregonian is the mouth-piece of the old standpat organization, the crowd who either want to rule the country or ruin it. A prevarication, of no matter what tenor or depth, is a sweet morsel to them, whenever they can direct against any who are not with them body and soul.

In Secretary Bryan, for instance, the Oregonian's political hatred amounts to an obsession and of all the many good things he has been the author of during his life, not one met with other than contempt and sarcasm from these brainy (?) editors, except when Mr. Bryan in the Baltimore convention virtually refused the nomination for the presidency when he knew he could have been elected, and handed it to a man whom he thought was better fitted for the place. In the case of Mr. Wilson these editors have been badly put to for something to criticize and make fun of until an unprecedented happening in the nature of the present European war occurred, when they, of course, take exceptions to and differ with every idea advanced by the president to safe-guard our nation and its people. As far as Mr. Wilson is concerned their criticisms are of no account, as the American people have confidence in his honesty, ability and willingness to successfully cope with any question that may arise, so much so that if the question of his re-election was to come up at this time, he would be made our president again by the largest popular vote ever accorded any candidate for that office.

Inasmuch as the Oregonian and its follow-the-leader class of Republican standpat papers can find but this one exceptional case of world-wide war on which to criticize the administration, they are turning their editorial batteries most particularly against the Democratic candidates for senator and congressmen. Especially is there animus shot at Senator Chamberlain, who is without doubt the best working senator that Oregon has ever had. In its fulsome animosity the Oregonian would even go so far as to defeat our own rivers and harbors bill rather than have Mr. Chamberlain re-elected. They accuse him of nearly everything in the calendar of crimes, yet uphold and ask the voters to support for the same position a man who has made his millions by taking unlawfully from the government pretty nearly all of the good timber in Southern Oregon. But millionaires are the class of people the standpaters want in the senate. The senate has heretofore blocked every movement for good to the common people until the people took things into their own hands and cleaned most of them out of the chairs. And yet they have the gall now to ask a man of that class into power.

Although the Oregonian has accused the late Senator Bourne of being in a political combine with Governor West and Senator Chamberlain, yet with open arms last week it again welcomed him back to the fold of standpaters, principally because he is a moneyed man and put up $500 to the Oregon campaign fund. No money is tainted to the standpaters—it can come from Booth after paying $50 a section for Oregon timber, or from Bourne as a result of poor wages to his thousands of employees. Money only talks to the standpaters for what it can bring—power principally—and go hang the people, or what they may need or desire. As a matter of fact the Oregonian is doing a great harm to Portland and the state at large. That paper is blessed with a large circulation on account of its value as a news medium—its editorial opinions not being paid much attention to, except from an opposite viewpoint—and this cry of hard times continually voiced before the people is liable in many instances to be believed. The men who read and think for themselves can treat such assertions with the ridicule and sublime indifference they deserve, but it is the occasional reader, the man who believes anything he sees in print, who is to be feared as liable to have his otherwise good judgment warped by such reiterations of calamity. By such publications of hard times and poverty Oregon is receiving a hard name in every state in which the Oregonian circulates, and we are being credited with things of a bad nature that we do not have.

Our workmen are not going to their daily labor with empty dinner pails, but are getting plenty of work, with sufficient wages, even at a high cost of living, to buy them the best food in the land, clothes as good and as stylish as are made, luxuries beyond comparison with workmen of other nations, and they can also, generally, boast of bank account. With our beneficent laws for the needy we have no poor outside of the city loungers of Portland, who will not work, no matter how good a job is offered them. With prices above the average for everything that is grown, the continual cry of hard times put up must fall on deaf ears, and will soon come back to the standpaters in a defeat of their political aspirations.

Munsingizing Dallas

"Laying the cornerstone for solid winter comfort. Durability, fit and comfort constitute the cornerstone for the upbuilding of satisfactory underwear. These three things, together with moderate cost have made Munsing the world's most popular underwear. All edges have a finish that does not fray out. Every button is fastened on to stay during hard usage. None wash better or stay softer after laundering. They don't shrink when treated as good underwear should be treated. Your romping boys cannot rip or tear them, Munsing suits are too elastic. You cannot find cleaner or nicer garments. Fit guaranteed in every instance."

"Munsing Underwear has a national reputation for fit, service and general satisfaction. The manufacturers say: 'there is satisfaction in every thread and all the buttons.' Those who have worn it will tell you it has no equal. Every garment is made of the best material possible for the money, and shaped and finished for style, comfort and service. Our fall and winter line for ladies, misses and children is quite complete, and we would like to have you call and inspect the goods. Every Munsing garment is backed up by our personal guarantee."

In the wash or in the wear MUNSINGWEAR proves its superiority. Best union suit in the Union.

The best makers knit it, the best informed people wear it and the best stores sell it.

"When a garment gives to the wearer entire satisfaction from every point of view, as Munsing Underwear Suits always do, it seems hardly necessary to say any more as to their merit. We are, and have been, exclusive selling agents for the Munsing Underwear in Dallas for several years, and of the thousands of garments we have sold in that time, not one single complaint have we heard, but we do not wonder at it, nor would you if you had ever worn a Munsing suit. It is absolutely the best underwear that human skill and ingenuity can produce. It fits perfectly and wears splendidly, in fact every thread gives satisfaction."
