LATEST FROM MINNEAPOLIS.

After holding our columns open for latest dispatches from Minneapolis to the moment of going to press, we can only say that Blaine has been placed in nomination by Senator Woolcott of Colorado, and seconded by Eustice of Minn., amidst the greatest applause.

Colonel Dick Thompson of Indiana, placed Harrison in nomination, and said in doing so that he proposed to present a man who does not seek success by detraction of any other great republican.

Woolcott predicted victory in November to the great unwarmed leader of the republican party, James G. Blaine, a man who always sought everything for his country and nothing for himself, a man who never has been president, but will be.

Senator Eustice, of Minn., seconds the nomination of Blaine, and mentions McKinley, amidst applause, as the great leader and disciple of protection.

HARRISON NOMINATED.

The Gazette stops its press to herald to its readers in this issue the announcement of Harrison's nomination, on the first ballot. The total ballot stood 904 1/2.

Harrison received 535 1/2, Blaine, 182 1/2, Reed, 4 and Lincoln 1. The dispatches have not announced the choice of the convention for vice president.

Doubtless an eastern man will be chosen who can carry some of the doubtful states. We leave our readers to make their own guess as to whom he shall be.

SALISBURY AND PROTECTION.

In opposition to the popular opinion rife for more than fifty years that England was solely and irrevocably wedded to a policy of free trade, Prime Minister Salisbury, in a recent speech committed himself to the doctrine of protection and reciprocity.

He said, "Fifty years ago everybody believed that free trade would conquer the world; that every nation would follow the policy of England. Results are not what its advocates expected. Other nations are excluding us from their markets and trying to kill our trade. Things appear to grow worse. We live in an age of war tariffs."

While other nations are negotiating each other's commercial favor, nobody is anxious about the favor of England because she has stripped herself of the armor and weapons with which the battle is to be fought. The attitude we have taken may be noble but it is not businesslike.

If we intend to hold our own in this conflict of tariffs we must prepare to refuse nations who injure us in access to their markets. This is probably the strongest language uttered in recent years by an English trade agent against England's trade policy.

The prime minister goes on to say that he can enforce no retaliatory tariff against the United States, since the states furnish them with articles essential to their manufacture.

In the light of this admission what becomes of the free-trader's bugaboo that England will not take our produce unless we buy liberally of her manufactures? England buys from us because she has to. Minister Salisbury has the courage of his convictions to say that he expects to be execrated for speaking such doctrine; yet he is bound to say he thinks the free-traders have gone too far.

Well he may think so when England is forced to buy her bread stuffs and raw material abroad, while more and more obliged to find markets for her manufactures at home.

This admission by one of the shrewdest of England's politicians may well be pondered by American free-traders.

COLUMBUS DAY AND THE SCHOOLS.

It is fitting that the institution that has given the greatest impetus to American progress and American ideas should stand forth at the very beginning of the great Columbian anniversary with the prominence it so well deserves, and which its friends, who are all loyal American citizens gladly accord it. We refer to the Columbian public school celebration. To no essential principle of our democratic form of government are we so much indebted, for the results thus far attained in our experiment of free institutions as to the beneficent influences of our public schools. When we remember that 90 per cent. of Americans can read and write, while 93 per cent. of Brazil's population cannot, we have a talisman to unlock the problem of the difference in the success of republican institutions in the two countries. Republican institutions have not the guaranty of perpetual youth. They are not like a mathematical problem to be solved once and forever. Each generation and nation must solve it anew for itself. Madam De Stael once said to an American, "You are the advance guard of the human race; you have the future of the world." Right nobly have we thus far vindicated our claim to a front rank in the family of nations. But what we glory in may yet be imperiled.

The census of 1890 gave 6,289,958 persons above the age of ten years unable to read and write. Thus it will be seen that ignorance, illiteracy and benighted superstition has a foothold in the United States. Thus it will be seen that our nation is not always a Pharos sending out glad rays and lighting the pathway of the oppressed to a safe retreat from the scorching blasts of arbitrary power. Is there not cause for alarm in the statistics that confront us? Is there no lesson to learn from the decadence of other nations through their lapse into the lethargy of ignorance and superstition? The thought that our own history as a nation has most clearly demonstrated is, that universal individual freedom is inseparable from universal individual

Cakes Without Eggs.

Observing housekeepers quickly learn that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is far superior to other brands in the fact that they never fail to make the finest pastry, and if they wish to be economical they can dispense entirely with eggs and can use a less quantity of butter for shortening purposes. The advantage is not alone in the saving effected but in avoiding the trouble and frequently the great difficulty of securing eggs that are fresh. This is often a serious trouble.

Cakes of various kinds from the informal Griddle Cakes to the stately Bride Cake can be made with Price's Cream Baking Powder, which insures light, sweet and handsome cakes; or when used for Griddle Cakes to be eaten hot enables their production in the shortest space of time, always tender and delicious.

Dr. Price's is the only Baking Powder that contains the white of eggs. None so pure! None so wholesome!

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

THE ELECTION.

The following are the complete returns from the precincts from which we have been able to receive full reports.

education. No thoughtful person can maintain today that free government in any country is safe, until this same individual education is made general among its citizens. To foster the spirit of intelligence and a love for learning must ever be the aim of republican governments. Thirteen million pupils are now enrolled in the public schools of the United States. A few years hence these pupils will be the directors of national affairs. We must instill into their young lives such a love of liberty, such an admiration of self government, that the genius of free schools shall live and be glorified in them and the government they shall administer, with as much union as the lares and penates of social affection shall be perpetuated upon the altars of their homes. Let these thirteen millions of school children be taught the meaning of this world's Columbian day. Let them be made to realize the part education has borne in the wonderful strides our nation has made. Teach them that governments and states can confer rights of no kind. Human rights are from within, innate and universal, and their development by a free system of schools, reaching to all grades of society is what makes men free. The public school's part in commemorating Columbia's day, October 12th, should be encouraged at home and in the schools. It is the occasion for a national sermon upon education, patriotism and progress.

A VALLEY OF DEATH.

Not since the appalling destruction of life consequent upon the flood at Johnston two years ago, have the wires flashed news so calamitous as that of the allied destruction to life and property in Oil Valley, Pa., last Sunday morning. As in the valley of the Conemaugh, two years ago no exact estimate of the loss of life can now be ascertained.

It seems that for weeks the skies had been pouring rain until the earth was saturated. Streams had swollen to mountain torrents. An excessive down-pour Saturday night caused Oil creek, on which Titusville is situated, to flood its banks until the city was submerged. At midnight a mill dam burst at Spangenberg, above Titusville, adding to the flood. Sunday morning about eleven o'clock two terrific explosions occurred. In a moment the heavens became lurid from the flames of burning oil from the Crescent refinery up the valley. The people knew what it meant and made a

A MEMORABLE ANNIVERSARY.

October Twelfth, United Four Centuries of American Life.

October 12 will have a prominent place in history. It not only unites the four centuries of American life that are closing with the centuries that are before us, but it will be made memorable by a great national celebration. The signal for this demonstration will be the dedication of the world's Columbian exposition grounds in Chicago.

On that day our foremost American institution—the public school—will be the center of local celebrations in the cities and towns from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

By linking together all these local celebrations as parts of a systematic national demonstration the full significance of the day will be brought out.

The object for this movement for a national celebration is not only to interest the youth of the country in the World's Columbian exposition, but also to give to the American public school a fitting prominence as the fruit of four centuries of American life.

Both the World's congress commission of the Columbian exposition and the American superintendents of education have requested that the public schools of each city and town lead in the local celebration. These two bodies have also appointed a joint executive committee to direct the movement and to prepare a uniform and fitting programme for universal use.

Every wide awake boy and girl in our land has read or will read the message issued by the Columbian public school celebration commission with keen interest. It speaks a vigorous word to every one of the several million pupils in our public schools. How far the spirit of this message is carried out depends upon each individual boy and girl. We believe they will respond to it promptly and enthusiastically. They are too thoroughly imbued with the true spirit of American loyalty and patriotism to permit such an opportunity to be lost. They will enter into the spirit of this important event with characteristic American energy and determination.

It is an inspiring thought that on Oct.

12 all the loyal sons and daughters of our land will be united by one common purpose of such lofty conception. We believe that the pupils in our public schools will prove an enterprising and intelligent people as those of any city or town in America. Don't wait until the eleventh hour. If our schools are to attempt to be the center of a local celebration which shall be worthy of the day there is none too much time for preparation. Let the schools begin at once. Teachers and scholars should make common cause.

The Alagar boom seems to have the wiggle-waggle. The kangaroo ballot is not popular with the bosses and politicians. It hinders them from buying votes and making up tickets.

ALL eyes are now turned to McKinley as the probable dark horse in the presidential race, should the factions disagree about Blaine and Harrison.

SOME Oregon politicians will now be able to lavish a share of their time on their families, that they have been sacrificing for the good (?) of their country.

AN EXCHANGE says the Minneapolis convention is looking for a candidate who can carry the pivotal states. The great trouble is, proving a statesman that they are liable to swing the wrong way.

OUR world's fair notes say that as many as 14,000 people visit the grounds some days, paying an admission fee of 25 cents. There are mighty few enterprises that are a success before they are started.

SOME of the would be candidates will find, before the convention is over, that their supporters are their best supporters. The disappointed voters will probably have their patented idea of a success at holding up their courage.

The great feature of the Oregon balloting law now looks in the requirement of registration, to cease at least two weeks before election. This would prove a protection from repeating votes in different precincts, and thus remedy about all the evils free suffrage is heir to.

SOUTH America and Africa will ere the summer is over, be put in telegraphic cable communication. A British steamer is now making for the African coast laden with 2165 miles of cable, which weighs 4946 tons. Its points of contact will be Port St. Louis, near the mouth of the Senegal, western Africa, and Pernambuco on the eastern coast of Brazil.

IT is to be hoped that the coming campaign may be fought on the lines of decency and self-respect. When it is remembered that after the contest is over the defeated candidates still live, enjoying the respect and confidence of his fellow citizens, in spite of the pilloried abuse that may have been heaped upon him, the utter futility of personalities in politics may be gauged at their intrinsic worth.

HAVING flung down the gauntlet in his resignation from the cabinet, no room is left for doubt that Blaine will accept the republican nomination if tendered; nor can it be doubted, under the circumstances, that he had good evidence that he would receive it. Doubtless he is in much better health now than when he wrote his letter of dismission several months ago. Between the signs of the White House wooing him, and his wife's pleadings in certain lectures he decided to leave no question as to his willingness to accept.

IN this issue we give a partial tabulated report of the election. Reports have been received from every precinct except Castle Rock, and it is learned that no election was held there. However, the count cannot be given until all the poll boxes are in, and this one will arrive this evening counting will begin tomorrow. Returns are all in from Alpine, Matteson, Cecil, Lone and Pipe Creek, as no one brought complete results from those places we cannot give them in the tabulated report. Complete report will appear in Tuesday's issue.

GOOSEBERRY ITEMS.

We are in need of rain. Mr. J. W. McConigall went to Arlington Tuesday on business.

Messrs. M. C. and Marion Biddle have been in the mountains for the past week cutting wood.

Mr. John Williams passed through here en route to his home near Arlington on the 1st inst.

That the mail service here is unwarrantably bad cannot be questioned by any one familiar with the facts.

The way some of the candidates for office in this county have been slandered is a disgrace to the commonwealth.

Mr. N. K. McVay has been absent the greater part of the time during the past week shaking hands with the voters of the county.

If some of the people of this neighborhood would talk less about their neighbor's affairs and try to mend their own ways a little, they might sleep better.

Honorable Wm. Hughes and R. L. Shaw were in this section Sunday and Monday. They left a favorable impression upon the minds of the citizens of this community.

Mr. George Gray, deputy stock inspector for Morrow county, was at Gooseberry on Monday looking after sheep that were ready to go to the mountains for the summer.

Mr. J. D. Ball, the road supervisor for this township, has had the tax payers busy putting the roads in first class condition. Quite a number of people are volunteering to work one or more days extra.

We should not be at all surprised if the impression prevails that this part of Morrow county is inhabited by covetous, squinty and neck rabbits, instead of prosperous farmers, who earn their living by the sweat of their brow.

It is time that the late and lamented Abe Lincoln was being exemplified, as he never misrepresented the attitude of his opponent, but always stated it plainly and correctly and then tried to defend him in an honorable way. He would have scorned the methods adopted by some of the citizens of Morrow county in the campaign that has just closed.

The lot of an editor is doubtless far from agreeable. If he happens to be a man of convictions, who has the courage to denounce any candidate for any office to which he aspires, the honest editor is then accused of selling his influence to the other side; but if he goes along and supports his regular party ticket, he is called a weakling and everything else that is mean. If he tries to build up his town and country by publishing an account of its resources, then he is accused of exaggerating the truth. If he does not extol his county he is told that his paper isn't worth the time it takes to read it. In short, he is blamed for everything that goes wrong.
