One of the advantages claimed for the circulating umbrella system is its cheap-Obviously a man cannot, or at least does not, wear more than one suit at a time, still he must be provided with several. Let us glance at a supposed young clerk whom we will call Robinson, who has become a subscriber to the American Clothes Supply Company. When he gets up the first morning he finds a neat business suit awaiting him. He puts it on and goes to the store. It is Friday, and when he returns to his boarding house at night, having already informed the company that he calls on a young lady every Friday evening, he finds a boy with a bandsome full dress suit for him. He puts it on and the boy takes away the business suit. When he returns later in the evening the boy again appears, gets the dress suit, and takes the subscriber's order for the next morning. There is a prospect of warm-The next morning he finds it waiting for him. As he enjoys a half holiday and intends to visit Coney island, he orders a rather dark cutaway, light trousers, flannel shirt, tan shoes, and straw hat for the afternoon. The only change he cares for that evening is a white shirt, light silk till patent-leather shoes and high pearl-colored hat. At night they are taken away, and the carefully brushed, pressed and repaired, if it need it. If the weather changes

A curious case of gross superstition was recently brought before the cris inal sessions court at Samara, in Russia. Six peasants were tried and see tenced to imprisonment for terms o deliberately disinterring the body of a woman who had died of interrenties and floating it down the Voiga as a means of causing min. It seems to be quite a fixed belief among the Russian peasantry that throwing the dead body ure for want of rain.

WILL GOOD ROADS PAY!

They Are as Important to the City as to

There seems to be a vague idea on the part of some of those who are disposed to discuss the road question that only the farmers are interested in securing good country roads. This is a delusion which robs the question of more than half its importance. The interest of As a people we are governed by so-cieties and provided for by companies, says the New York Tribune. It is to societies for the prevention of this and societies for the prevention of this and the discouragement of that rather than the legislature or the courts to which we look for both law and justice. If you have a grievance inform the proper society. Nor are the companies much behind the societies. While you go to a hotel for a day a company cleans your things the proper society.

The latest fostering company is the United States Umbrella-Providing Company. It proposes to supply umbrellas to regular subscribers, and will have branches all over the city and in all other cities of any size in the country. You make a deposit, pay a certain sum for the use of an umbrella for one year, and then you may draw an umbrella at the general office or any branch. Mr. A. P. Mabi reports a crop of 1,250 bushelf of onions to the acre on worn out soil in Iowa. He grow them by the "new onion culture," which means growing the onions thickly in sheltered beds and then transplanting them closely in the field at regular distances. Mr. Mahi planted three by eight inches. This mode of growing onions is new to the skilled gardners of this country, but it has been in practice for ages along the north shore of the Mediterranean, A one mule gardener in Illinois many years ago gathered from rich hazel brush land on the edge of the prairie between 1,500 and 1,600 bushels of onions from an acre of a drunkard into the river is a sur which he simply sowed broadcast and harrowed in.
