KNIGHTS OF THE PEN.

Meet at The Dalles after an Enjoyable Trip on The Columbia-Kathartic Meeting.

On Tuesday morning, promptly at 7 o'clock, a. m., the Regulator sailed from The Dalles, with one of the merriest crowds that could have conveniently been gotten together, among which was your representative. The day was a beautiful one. The air pure, the atmosphere clear, and the world-renowned scenery of the Columbia never looked grander. The boat arrived at the Cascades at 11 o'clock where a landing was made, the ladies and gentlemen at once proceeding to the depot, where they met the members of the association, who had just arrived in a special car. They then proceeded to the government works to observe for themselves the locks and canal, when after a thorough examination of the work that had been done by the government, all expressed themselves in favor of an open river, and it is needless to say that they will urge same at the earliest date. Returning to the boat the editors were seated at the banquet table and partook of the repast with such a relish that one might think most of them had been fasting for a month, your representative excepted. Too much praise cannot be given the ladies of the committee for their endless labors to make everything as pleasant as possible, composed of the following: Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Murgan, Mrs. Blakely, Mrs. Rhinehart, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. Bradshaw and Mrs. Lockhead.

The young ladies on the reception and entertainment committee must also not be forgotten, for it is to their efforts that your representative was royally entertained, both on this trip and during his stay in The Dalles.

Among the throng were several pioneers of Wasco county, among whom your reporter noted the smiling face of Capt. John W. Lewis, of the U. S. Land Office. A halt was made at Memorial Island, and the monument of Victor Trevitt was visited; also the houses of members, containing the remains of Indians buried according to the rites of the tribes for ages past at that lonely place.

At the wharf at The Dalles the merry crowd of excursionists was met by the band, and after leading marched in to the Unamilla house, where Col. Sin not entertained them with his unflinching stock of fish stories.

FIRST DAY SESSION.

The editors, having a chance to clean up and fill the inner man after their arrival in the city, at 8 p. m. repaired to the court house. President Noltner in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were omitted as the former secretary failed to make them up. The roll call showed 41 members present. A committee of three was appointed to revise the list of members in good standing. The annual address of the president was then read. A committee of three was then appointed to subdivide and refer the president's report. The report of the delegates to the National Editorial Association was read and vote of thanks tendered. The committee on grievances had no report to make; the committee on legislation likewise. The committee on regulations was granted further time. On motion the invitation to a public reception by the citizens of The Dalles was accepted, and 7:30 Wednesday night was the time named. Adjourned.

SECOND DAY SESSION.

Meeting called to order at 9 a. m. A communication was read from the Oregon City Enterprise in relation to the erection of a monument to Dr. McLaughlin, referred to legislation committee. The president filed up various committees in lieu of absent members. The secretary's report was taken up and an eulogy was delivered in memory of the dead. The two departed during the past year were Edward Casey and Mrs. A. Noltner, wife of the president. The finance committee reported that the secretary be instructed to publish the proceedings of 1891-2 for distribution. Hon. J. B. Eddy delivered an address on "Oregon Journalism," and was granted another year for a fuller report, the report as rendered was enthusiastically received. He was followed by a paper from John Mitchell of The Dalles, on "Personal and Impersonal Journalism." The report of the committee on membership was read and adopted. The meeting adjourned until 4:30 p. m., for election of officers.

The members of the association at 1 p. m. took a pleasant trip up the Columbia river to C. Lilo on the U. P. R. R.; the fish wheels, Indian tepees, canyons and rapids were duly inspected. The members returned to The Dalles at 7 p. m. The train being late the afternoon session was abandoned.

THIRD DAY SESSION.

At 7:30 p. m. the members of the association, headed by the Dalles City Band, marched to the court house, where a very large and enthusiastic audience had congregated, and after music by the band, Pres. Noltner called the meeting to order, when Hon. Robt. Mays, mayor of The Dalles, welcomed the association in a very appropriate address, which was answered in a few well chosen remarks by President Noltner. Following this Col. Pat. Donsau was introduced, and carried the audience by storm for over an hour on the subject of "Country Journalism." Not a sentence was uttered but that it brought forth laughter or applause. Col. Donsau is a humorist not excelled by Bill Nye, and the Gazette hopes to be able to give his address in full to its readers in the near future.

THIRD DAY SESSION.
Meeting called to order at 9:30 a. m. Committee on legislation reported favorably on Dr. McLaughlin's monument. Committee on fraternity reported, and the same was adopted. Committee on Spokane and Puget Sound trip reported everything settled.

The following list of officers were then chosen for the ensuing year:

Col. J. B. Eddy, Tribune, Pendleton, President.
F. S. Harding, McMinnville Register, 1st Vice President; Ira L. Campbell, Eugene Guard, 2d do; S. L. Brooks, The Dalles Chronicle, 3d do; Geo. Hibbert, Astoria Examiner, 4th do; W. H. Leeds, Ashland Tidings, 5th do.

A. Tozier, Portland Pythian, secretary.
C. C. Doughty, Dalles Observer, treas.
Robert Johnson, Corvallis Times, sergeant-at-arms.

Col. Pat Donsau was elected an honorary member.

Flavel was chosen as the next meeting place, to be held in July or Aug. of 1893. The association voted to go to the World's Fair in a body.

President Eddy took the chair and announced the following committees for 1893:

Resolutions, Geo. Hibbert, C. C. Doughty, Geo. H. Moffett.
Grievance, I. L. Campbell, W. I. Ashbury, E. J. Kaiser.

Finance, Chas. Nickel, D. T. Stanley, R. Johnson.
State of Fraternity, J. P. Burkhardt, D. M. C. Ganitt, W. A. Wheeler.

General arrangements, A. Noltner, F. Conover, F. S. Harding, Leo. Peterson.
Legislative, Geo. H. Himes, A. W. Patterson, Bruno Nitig, J. Mitchell, M. S. E. Todd.

Resolution of thanks was then tendered to the retiring president. The Association then adjourned until 2 o'clock, when they were transferred in a body from the court house in carriages to visit the fruit orchards. Returning, the association left in a body in special car for Spokane where they join the Washington editors for a trip through the Sound country.

AN ARKANSAW editor complains that some people do not advertise, on the plea that a newspaper is never read, but says: "Let him be caught kissing his neighbor's wife or trying to hold up the side of a house some dark night, and he changes his tune instantly; and if the printing office is in the garret of a seventeen story building, he will climb to the top to beg the editor to keep quiet." You bet, this is true in every case.

The Ellensburg Localizer says: "Pendleton, Oregon, has two daily papers. The East Oregonian office is giving it a second trial." We would advise the Localizer man to hunt a bomb proof for Jackson will be after him. It's the Tribune that is giving it the second trial.

COLUMBIAN CELEBRATION.

And G. A. R. Remnant and Campfire Committees, Republished by Request—Note The Work Assigned to You.

By request we republish the different committees appointed for the Columbian Celebration. Will continue same until after that date:

Committee on Parade, Ed. Matlock, Geo. Conser, Otis Patterson.

Committee on Finance, J. W. Morrow, Henry Heppner, Neils. Jones, W. A. Johnston.

Committee on Banquet, Frank McFarland, Sam Kussman, J. S. Boutby, Wm. Penland, W. J. McAtee, Geo. Fell.

Committee on Program, T. E. Fell, Homer McFarland, Prof. A. W. Wier.

Committee on Printing, Ed. R. Bishop, Vawter Crawford, A. W. Patterson, Pat. Cohn.

Committee on Grounds, S. F. Garrigue, Frank Gilliam, Wm. Scrivner, A. M. Slocum and S. McBride.

Committee on Music, W. L. Saling, F. J. Hallock, John Rasmus, Mrs. S. P. Garrigue, Mrs. W. P. Dutton, this committee to confer with the committee on program.

Committee on Oration, Hoes, W. R. Ellis, Henry Blackman and J. N. Brown.

A committee on entertainment has since been appointed, composed of the following gentlemen: T. W. Ayers, Sr., C. S. Van Dusen and A. M. Gann.

It is expected that Heppner entertain all old soldiers visiting here free of charge, consequently it is the duty of the entertainment committee to canvas the town, securing lodgings for them while here, and also to assign them to their respective quarters when they arrive. This committee should go to work at once.

The duties of the other committees are well known, hence it is unnecessary to enumerate them. However, it is urged that all look after their respective duties without delay. Do not shirk your duty or leave it to some other member of your committee, but look after the work assigned to you at once.

A MAN FOUND DEAD.

sell. Dexter and John were at once. Made up the first Wednesday evening. Said Bob had beat him out of 450 or 500 in building a cabin. At any rate there was considerable illwill between them.

Cross-questioned; I got John's about 8 o'clock in evening. In one-half or three-quarters of an hour got whisked and commenced drinking. I called for the whiskey. I also got cabbage and potatoes. John commenced supper, I said will go down and try to get something to drink. Had trouble outside at Dexter's. John scratched me. Undertook to jump me. This was after drinking. Said afterwards, "You little Bostonian, I have nothing against you, come along. Went over home. Were pretty full. Lay down right away. Was in bed nearly all day Thursday. Mr. Penland came up Thursday. Came in. There was a quart bottle on the table. Had some whisky when Penland came, half or three-fourths full. I got two bottles, don't think I got any more. Don't know whether John had any more or not. Bob said we had trouble after we went to the cabin. Had no ill will against him. In fact I respected his gray hairs. Didn't try to hurt him. Have seen him drunk many a time. Is quarrelsome when drinking. Had no quarrel after we went to cabin. Were both drunk when we went up there. Friday morning got 40 from Penland. Left about 2:00 in his hands. Wanted him to settle. He said would see campdancers and settle. I said there was no hurry. Would just as soon have the interest. Got to Heppner about 11 o'clock on Friday. Was arrested that night by Deputy Sheriff Fitzgerald. While in town was resting up. Secured board at the Palace and paid one week in advance. Was in the brewery saloon when I was arrested. First time I knew he was dead. Didn't know he was sick. Was sick myself. Whiskey sick, I mean. Didn't do him any violence after leaving Dexter's. Thought a good deal of the old man. Am 42 years old. Am in the habit of drinking two or three days at a time. Have been full, but always know what I am about. Was full up there than usual. Always makes me sick. Have seen John sick before. Never drank any of Dexter's whisky before. John was sitting on floor when I left. Was near the stove, between the stove and table. Didn't have any fight at cabin on Thursday. Got supper at John's on Wednesday evening. While getting supper got whiskey. Went over to Dexter's about 9 o'clock. John might have gone several times, but didn't go the first time. John said Dexter had some whisky to sell. Said he never got any. But I got some. When John flew at me, I had to catch him. My finger nails perhaps scratched him. Don't know what caused the trouble. I never struck him. Choked and scratched me. Had some trouble in the house that I know of. I told him that I did not want to hurt him.

Bob Dexter recalled: Frank and Garrity came over to my home about 12:30. Got whiskey in the evening. Same evening about dusk. One bottle and the whisky they got. Had racket in my house. (Here told substantially the same story as the evening before.) Judged the next morning that they had had a hard row after I left. Wasn't fighting Thursday morning. John said to take Frank over and get breakfast. Thursday morning got more whiskey. Frank said come over and see how he had knocked Johnny out.

Cross-examined: Frank didn't seem to want to hurt John. I don't remember what Frank said, but it was a drunk'n scratch. Said come home with him, let us have some speaking and singing. On Thursday evening John was on the floor, Frank on bed. John was stupid. Frank wasn't drunk much. Was in his sock feet. Was then Thursday night before sundown. Next saw Frank Friday morning at my house. Stopped a minute or so and got a drink of whisky, which I gave him. I saw him about five when I came to town with wood. About 3:30 p. m., saw John. Was lying on side dead. Left him there. Didn't disturb him. "Said 'Hello, Johnny!'" Went on down to Penland's ranch. I drank some with them. I might have made some of the marks on Frank's face in stopping the fight. Johnny made some too. Wasn't over Friday morning. Frank came along. Said John was laid out. They got no whisky Thursday. John had no liquor that I know of.

Dr. Fox recalled: On examining body externally, find nothing sufficient to cause death. No marks on throat, no contusions on skull or no raises or bumps on head. I am of the opinion that death was not caused by violence. Probably by excess of drink and some defect of system. Think him between 60 and 70 years of age. A man that uses whiskey might die of alcoholism. Might happen death if he drank much. Find no marks of violence. It would be impossible to tell what caused death unless a post mortem examination is held, and perhaps not then. Am of the opinion that he did not die of any injuries received. They would have shown externally. One bottle and one-half might not hurt him.

Bob Dexter recalled: When I helped him on bed he complained of being sore. The jury deemed it unnecessary to hold post mortem examination, and after making a closer external examination of the body, brought in the following verdict:

Heppner, Or., Oct. 8, 1892.

We, the undersigned, the coroner's jury expanded to enquire into the causes which led to the death of John Garrity, find that he was a resident of Morrow county, about the age of 66, and that he came to his death on or about Friday morning, Oct. 7, 1892, and from causes to this jury unknown.
