MILLS has been chosen by the Texas legislature to fill a seat in the U. S. senate.

SENATOR JONES finds that the leading men of England are growing in favor of bimetallism.

WILLIAM M. STEWART, the able silver champion of Nevada, has been returned to the U. S. senate.

SENATORIAL affairs in many of the Western states are at a standstill, but the expenses are not, by a sight.

The Western senators, republicans, stood out in caucus a few days ago for the admission of Utah, Oklahoma and New Mexico as states.

The Edison Electric Company have been forced by an order of the court to sell their lamps to the Sunbeam Electric Co. The suit is pending.

STAMBOUL's record, 2,074, was declared rejected for record, owing the some technicality, and now Kremlin, 2,074 bears the title of "king of trotting stallions." Stamboul will not rest long in his present position.

WASHINGTON's legislature is doing a lot of fooling over the election of an U. S. senator, who is costing the people of that state a whole lot of money. A candidate who won't abide by the choice of his party should be thrown aside.

S. R. REEVES, formerly of Heppner, is making a strong push for the railroad commissionership. Mr. Reeves is well qualified for the place, and his Morrow county friends hope he will "get that."

The coming inauguration of Grover Cleveland promises to be the grandest event of the kind, ever witnessed in Washington. We predict that his going in will be a sight brighter than the coming out. Stick a pin in here and see if it is not the case.

FRANK DEKUM is one of Portland's very rich men, notwithstanding his possession of property worth $1,500,000, he pays no taxes. The law allows him to deduct his indebtedness from his assessment. This is why he pays no taxes. The law is to blame, not Frank Dekum. The remedy is to repeal the law allowing deductions for indebtedness—E. O. That's our opinion, "Jack."

IT LOOKS now as though the populists and democrats of Kansas would elect John Martin, a democrat, to the position of U. S. senator. It will result in a contest in the U. S. senate, which will likely be decided in favor of Martin, though, it is conceded by many populists in that state, he will not be regularly elected. However, both sides in that state have not been entirely free from chicanery.

YESTERDAY'S Oregonian says that the Kansas populists have elected Judge Martin as U. S. senator. Mrs. Lease is designated, and says that, as a populist, she renounces the whole business. Martin is a democrat, and the republicans now, it is said, will combine with the democrats and elect a straight out democrat. They will have some populist support. This condition of affairs is brought about by the fact that Kansas has two houses, owing to the fact that the republicans organized the house, which the populists wouldn't stand.

RALPH's postage bill was defeated in the senate last Wednesday by a vote of 11 to 17. It is generally conceded that the U. P. is at the bottom of it. Cogswell led the opposition. Let some of those fellows from Eastern Oregon, who opposed that measure, come up for office and then you'll hear "suffin' drap." They'll know it, too. The state could have done no better thing than to have passed this measure. The growth and prosperity it would have brought about would have increased wonderfully the taxable property of the state. It is a matter of fact that a whole lot of legislators are not down to Salem for their health.

IT IS NOT likely that the Sherman silver law will be repealed this session of congress. The West won't agree to its repeal unless there is something done for silver in return—a little nearer approach towards free coinage. From what we can learn, the republicans in congress are not favorable, as a majority, to its repeal. Why should they be? A clause in the republican national platform commended it as a wise measure, and if it was good then it ought to be now. But the truth about the matter is, the Sherman law is just a little better than no silver bill at all. It was a compromise measure, endorsed by those who would not stand by free coinage, or anything approaching it. The Sherman law is increasing the circulation, but is doing little towards bringing silver back to where it stood previous to 1873. But withal, it was given to the country by the goldites, and now let them stand "up to the neck" until they can consent to a better and more favorable measure for silver. The country needs silver as money. The mine owners alone, ought to have no particular consideration in the work of re-monetization. There is plenty of demand outside of that for its return to the old place, and from classes of people that are infinitely more in need of being freed from the financial fetters which the present money system is riveting more securely every day.

MRS. PAUL D'HERRY, a daughter of Wm. Overholzer who was drowned in Clark's canyon seven years ago, ran away with a music teacher named Morse last week, finally winding up in New York D'Hermy followed them and brought back his child, and newspaper reports say that the couple have become reconciled again. Those who ought to know say that D'Hermy is wholly to blame for the trouble.

A BILL to not allow sheep to pass from one country to another for grazing purposes, without first procuring a license, and paying from five to twenty cents per head, has been introduced in the senate by Cogswell. This bill will be opposed bitterly. In the eyes of Uncle Sam, government grass belongs to the person who gets there first, though a just division of the taxes on such property would not be out of reason. For instance, if a band of sheep winters in Grant half the taxes, by right, ought to go to the latter county. But to pay taxes, and an expensive license too, is rather heavy on the sheepmen, and it won't go.

The price of wheat still remains at a disappointingly low figure, regardless of the fact that there has been a change in the political complexion of the country, says the Dallas Chronicle. Yes, and the price of wheat will remain low, with all the tariff tinkering that might be inflicted upon the country. As long as the money of our country is confined to a single standard, so long will it continue to grow dearer and harder to get. And as the money appreciates, wheat, and all other cereals for that matter, will grow cheaper, for the premium on gold brings about a like discount on all our farm products. The country has demanded "tariff reform." It looks now as if they had partially riced their bargain, and wish they had clamored a little more for money legislation. Barring an almost total failure in Europe, we cannot expect more than a gradual decline in the price of wheat.

JUSTICE LAMAR died at Mason, Ga., on Monday last, caused by heart disease. Justice Lamar was one of the South's most illustrious sons, a lawyer, soldier, statesman and jurist. During Cleveland's administration he served as secretary of the interior, and was afterward appointed to the position which he held at the time of his death, associate justice of the United States. At the breaking out of the rebellion, he took up the Confederate cause and entered their army. He afterwards served two terms in congress from Mississippi, and also one term as senator from the same state. Though Lamar once represented the construction of the constitution that was brought about the rebellion, he put himself in full accord with the now accepted idea of a country of the people and not of states, and, as associate justice, served his country honestly and faithfully, meeting out justice as he found it interpreted in the laws.

THE G. A. R. DOINGS
The G. A. R. and W. R. C. met with the citizens of Eight Mile at Liberty school house, on Jan. 21st, for the purpose of installing officers and having a campfire. As the hour arrived, 2 o'clock p. m., the house commenced filling and was soon crowded to its utmost capacity. The officers were installed by Comrade Brown.

At about 4 o'clock the tables were spread for supper, and to say that it was grand would not express it. It was just lovely. We cannot express the praise we feel for the ladies of Eight Mile in the quantity and quality of their cookery, and their taste in spreading the tables, and it was appreciated, judging from the way the "grub" disappeared. Never have we been better welcomed nor entertained than we were at Liberty school house. The people of Eight Mile will long be held by us in the highest esteem for their kindness and patriotism manifested on that occasion, and may we have many such reunions.

After the supper was cleared away the complete program was carried out. Opened by song, "America," prayer, by Comrade Swift; welcome, by H. C. Gay; response by Comrade Brown; song, "Patriotic Glee;" declamations, by Harlan Stanton, Moses Ashbaugh, Arthur Gay; song, "100 Years from Now;" declamations, Clara Young, Warren Ashbaugh. A piece selected by Mrs. Carter, she not being present. In Brown was selected to read it. Title, "Our Country Saved; Oh, Loyal and Legal," song by Anna Hill; select reading, Ebert Young.

The soldiers' program commenced with song, "We are a band of Union Brothers;" short speech to the point by Comrade Boothby, Mrs. Hill, president of the W. R. C., Comrades Brown, Swift, Young and Willis; declamations by Harlan Stanton and Anna Hill, interspersed with songs by the choir and Comrades Dampman, Willis and wife and Mrs. Stevenson. An essay, sent in by Comrade Ashbaugh, was read as he was unable to be present. The whole wound up with "Marching Through Georgia," by everybody. Thus closed a pleasant evening.

We offer our thanks to Mrs. Coffey for the use of her organ and the part she took in the leading of the singing. We thank the people for the order maintained all through, considering the crowded condition of the house. L. A. R.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS
Senate and House Again in Session, With Nearly 500 Bills Before Them.
Special to the state.

The members of both houses were regally in their seats yesterday morning at roll call. Many reports were ready for their appointment. Several bills were presented in both the senate and house yesterday and today, and the total number is now nearing the 500 point.

The governor's veto of the "omnibus road bill" of the last session was again brought up in the house Monday and made a special order of business for Thursday at 10 a. m.

The monument bridge bill, presented by Blackman, was defeated in the senate today by a vote of 14 for and 15 against. This was not a surprise to many, as it was predicted before, for this was purely a local measure, and in the minds of some, not even constitutional, though considering everything, it received quite a complimentary vote.

Senate bill 134, presented today by Senator D. Dixon, asks that the Greenhorn portion of Grant county be taken from Grant and added to Baker county. The senator claims that he has a petition in his possession signed by every resident in that section asking for this measure, though as he did not show same up, it is questioned by several interested parties. At any rate, it is safe to say that a large majority of the voters of that county, regardless of division measures or enabling act propositions, would oppose this bill.

Through the efforts of ex-Senator Hamilton a bill was presented in the senate Monday by Senator Cogswell, of Klamath county, praying for the division of Grant county, with Hamilton as the county seat. As will be seen, this measure conflicts with the one presented in the house with Long Creek as the temporary county seat, and unless the Long Creek and Hamiltonites can come to some compromise in this matter, it is possible that both may die together.

Senator Blackman's insurance bill passed the senate today by a vote of 26 to 3, with one absent, and now goes to the house where it will have several champions, and, notwithstanding the fact that it will be strongly fought by different insurance companies, there are strong indications that it will pass that body, regardless of the opposition. Requests are coming in from every portion of the state asking the representatives from the different counties to support this measure and do all in their power to pass it.

Raley's postage bill has been made a special order of business for tomorrow at 2 p. m., when it will come to a vote. From a vote taken for referring same to committee today, it is evident that there is some opposition to its passage, coming principally from the valley, though it is thought that it will surely pass, regardless of this, as it has many strong friends in the Eastern Oregon senators. The valley solons seem to have forgotten that Eastern Oregon stood by them in their fight during the last session, especially the "40,000 dome" bill which they at that time prayed for earnestly.

REDUCED TO THE RANKS.

Captain Mcate Surrends John B. Wheelage as Assistant Chief.

John B. Wheelage, assistant chief of the fire department, appeared before the board of fire commissioners yesterday to answer to a charge of neglect of duty and absenting himself without leave. Wheelage has also been one of the most popular men in the department, and when he was made assistant chief the promotion was considered well deserved. During the holidays he got to drinking and left the city without leave of absence and remained several days.

The judgment of the board was severe. Mr. Mcate was reduced to the rank of a common fireman and Captain Mcate, of station No. 2, was promoted to his place. Foreman Morrison, of Station No. 2, was promoted to captain to succeed Mcate.—Spokane Review.

Mr. Mcate is a brother of Dave and Will Mcate, and formerly resided at Heppner. The Gazette congratulated him on his good fortune.

EIGHT MILE LIBERTY NEWS.

There has been quite a snow during the past week; at night the sleigh ruts, especially the young folks.

Rev. Swift delivered a very interesting sermon Sunday evening to a large crowd. The Liberty spelling society meets every Tuesday evening. All are invited to attend.

The meeting of the G. A. R. held at the school house the 21st of Jan., proved to be a very enjoyable event. Every one seemed to enjoy the delicious supper spread before them, wondering if they would ever see such another as our.

Most of the people though they could have had a better time if there had not been such a large crowd. There were present about 175, and hardly room enough to turn around when you got into the house, but never mind there is talk of enlarging the school house before the G. A. R. boys meet with us again.

A certain family of Eight Mile had quite a frightful night or two. There were only three at home at the time but the house was a short time afterwards, the elder members of the family were resting, some one came in and they were surprised to find the old folks were gone. It could be, children were not to be about, some one had taken the lantern and the door was unlocked if there was a man on the ranch he would find him, but soon he returned and reported that he could not find any signs of any one. Only a faint reason will be cleared, and the wonderful burglar proved to be a small boy and a member of the family. TOMMERTON.

EIGHT MILE LETTER.

[Delayed Correspondence.]

Ed. Gazette:—The new year, fresh and bright as a school boy's shining morning face, is with us and it is another milestone on the road to eternity, upon whose walls are a ritual good resolutions, and may these resolve to improve be indelible. The next day, the 21st, was a day enough to withstand at least the coming April showers. The past year, though not a fruitful one, from a financial standpoint, had its pleasures, too, and as good recollections only arrive in the quiet hours of the night, only the bright and pleasing features of the past, and Eight Mile today is full of good cheer, hope, confidence and energy. Never in the history of its career as a grain producing country has it presented such a solid front. As a matter of fact, there has been a large acreage in grain or a better prospect at this season of the year. Each farmer has been busy plowing and seeding since Sep., with only a brief pause during the recent snow storms. Only a fair season will be necessary in order to return this vast grain field from the effects of the past season.

Leaving the current issue of crops, one has a vast field to explore of a social nature, which to choose might exhaust more of your faithful space than will be allotted. Country life has many charms with which your city folks are strangers. What, with spelling schools, lyceums, social hops, and to those who look farther into the future, religious meetings, the long winter evenings are turned into profitable seasons of pleasure, and now and then a wedding grace the rural scene and add the finishing touch to our homestead picture. Events of interest have followed in such rapid succession that an occasional correspondent knows hardly where to commence or when to desist.

Among notable reforms beginning with the New Year are to be recorded the cases of G. R. and P. L. Jones, two before long answering members of the Bachelor's Club. On Jan. 1st, G. R. Jones promised to love, cherish and protect Miss Susie Ashbaugh, while at the same time and place P. L. Jones resolved that it is not good for man to be alone, and as such effective argument that he and Miss May Ashbaugh became a unit on the same question. Monday eve Jan. 2nd a grand social hop was inaugurated at Eight Mile Center to celebrate the New Year. It was largely attended and everything passed off pleasantly as could be expected where there is no police protection.

Some of the brightest affections of country life have to suffer the wanton meanness of a minority who take undue advantage of the situation. But it is hoped that the party will always have plenty to eat, as his appetite seems very craving. This is not intended as a "dig" at any one, as past rowdiness must be relegated to the past. But in future, let it be known that unbecoming conduct will secure the public notoriety it so justly merits. The parties referred to are well known, and future good conduct on their part will alone save them from disgrace.

Lyceum in full blast at Rocky Bluff school house. Also regular Sunday services at same place. Spelling school at Liberty school house is the order of the day. At the Post, Grand Army meeting of the old soldier pests, which have robbed this generous government of so much money. Will have a meeting at same place on Saturday, Jan. 21st. All and every one are invited. We are going to try and raise our pensions, but not at this meeting. We will wait until the 4th of March, when all of our good Union friends get in power.

Five snow on the ground today, which insures good crops. BAMBOS.

ARLINGTON NOTES.

S. G. Hawsen has gone to Heppner on business. Snow has nearly all gone. Coasting is discontinued by our young folks, and skating has been inaugurated by both boys and girls on the beautiful Columbia is solid enough on the edge for over one mile from the foot of Main street up the river to hold up all the skaters in this county, and gives those that participate in such amusement a good opportunity to enjoy winter.

Miss Winnie Mcintee returned yesterday from Portland where she has been during the past week. Miss Winnie looks as happy as a lark.

Last evening at about nine o'clock a special train left in from Heppner bearing Senator Blackman, Representative J. N. Brown, Mr. Alvah Patterson and the old war horse, J. H. Hamilton, who were all on their way to Salem.

Senator D. Dixon's extension bill passed the senate and was speedily reported from the house committee. This will certainly knock a one horse country store keeper out of some money. It is reported that some parties could have borrowed the money, which to get up from him, providing he could get nearly as much in bonus as the amount they would borrow from him.

Joe Lehman was bound over to appear before the grand jury yesterday by Justice Ziegler, for the crime of larceny. Joe was employed some time ago by O'Brien & McFarland Monday morning he paid them a visit seeing himself in the office, procuring a paper. Mr. Stanley Coffin was sent. Mr. Watt, the clerk, was in another part of the house when he heard some rattling sound. Thinking Joe was looking over some skates, he thought nothing of it. When Stanley returned he discovered that there was some missing money. He stated that he had heard Stanley having his suspicions, got Marshal Carlisle and placed Lehman under arrest. Then Lehman pleaded guilty and returned the money. A good trade, and a fine making, is starting him in the face.

Space permitting, allow me to make some reply to the "type," who has taken exceptions to Dennis Hogan's criticism in regard to music. It is an old saying, that whoever the shoe fits, they should wear it. Hogan's criticism is a little too violent who was called upon to play in Heppner for a dance, that his dance music is beyond criticism, and worth as "type" has it, a round sum. It was a cold day when this "type" wore it. Hogan's criticism is a little too violent who was called upon to play in Heppner for a dance, that his dance music is beyond criticism, and worth as "type" has it, a round sum. It was a cold day when this "type" wore it.

Allenington, Jan. 21, 1893.

FROM BLACK HORSE.
EDITH GARZETT:—As I have written you news from these parts, I will pen you a few lines. Times are dull here at present, but health is good. Mrs. Doherty, who has been confined to her bed for about six weeks, is able to go out. She had a hard attack of influenza rheumatism. With care and close attention she will soon be herself again. The Black Horse school closed on Friday last with good results, with W. E. Gearty as teacher. This is his second term at the same place, which speaks well for him. He came lately from Nebraska and is a wide-awake teacher. Well, we had quite a large gathering at the head of Black Horse, at Mrs. J. P. Brown's, in honor of Grandma Gearty's 78th birthday. There were three daughters and two sons present and a host of friends and their children. After greeting each other and having a friendly chat, we were invited into the dining room where a long table was spread and loaded down with good things to eat. I thought to gladden the hearts of all present. After thirty had eaten dinner there was plenty left. Grandma got some presents, which she will find as good as long as she lives, for she has passed her three score years and ten. After dinner we had some singing. At the close the song was sung, "God be with you till we meet again," which was very appropriate for the occasion. Long may she live and prosper, was the wish of all present. One Was K. K. W. Black Horse, Jan. 24, 1893.

One reason why Scott's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda has had such a large sale is because it is "Almost as palatable as milk," but the best reason is that its curative properties are unequalled.
