Get to work on the parts assigned to you, committees, and be ready for the governor and Mr. Metcalf the last of this week. They left for Eastern Oregon Monday and will not be accompanied by Mr. McBride, owing to the condition of his health. We must make a hard, long pull for the asylum.

The country editor who takes all advertisements out in trade will be gratified to learn that the new bill just passed, will keep a man alive a week without eating. All he wants now to make him happy is a liver syrup that will make one suit of clothes last 75 years. Heppner business men, please observe.

Union wants the asylum. Better locate it in "Webfoot" than in Grande Ronde valley. It is a wet, moist climate, very cold, and a greater part of the winter is surrounded by mountains of snow. We doubt that many kinds of vegetables will grow there. Heppner has a superb climate, plenty of water, electric lights, on the railroad and nearer the interior country than any other point. In fact, Heppner is right in the middle of the territory in which the asylum must be located. And as far as donations are concerned, we will make the assertion that Heppner will not be behind any town in Eastern Oregon.

The Dispatch, a free-silver paper, in commenting on Cleveland's noted opposition to that measure, concludes that though stronger on that side than Harrison, puts full faith in his wisdom to guide the currency question to the quiet seas of prosperity. In other words, the Dispatch is so democratic that it swallows the crow—a sacrifice of principle for partisanship. That paper then concludes with the following logical (?) piece of argument why gold is going abroad: "The McKinley bill has contributed largely to our debts abroad causing an unusual flow of gold from this country to pay them, which has in turn contributed to the disparity between gold and silver and participated the danger of a financial crash." In the name of goodness, how can that be? The Dispatch will, perhaps, find next that the McKinley bill has brought on an epidemic of "fever 'n' ager" in the mud flats and swamps of Indiana. Some schoolboy must have charge of the Dispatch's editorial department at present.

SOME EAGLES.

From our Long Creek Paper.

The snow on Greenhorn is reported to be six feet deep and quite soft.

Henry Blackwell came over from Fox Saturday. He looks rather pale since his illness.

Martin Gregg, the blacksmith for N. B. Oliver, who recently came to this place from Heppner, is ill with pneumonia.

Ghosts have driven all the workmen from the 700 foot level in the Anaconda mine, the great copper mine of Butte, Montana.

Thos. Nelson, who started the John Day Sentinel, now living in Heppner, which position he has filled with marked ability for some time.

Miss Olive Conlee returned to Heppner Monday, having completed a successful term of school in the Luce district near John Day. She thinks of returning to Grant county again this fall, where a school awaits her.

The mines on Lost Cabin creek, near Decolation lake, in which several local parties and E. E. Alexander, of Spokane, are interested, will be opened this spring, and the hydraulic put in operation. Wilbur F. Cook and Tom Letzmann having been employed to commence work on the property at once.

Hermion Lodge No. 40, K. of P., of this place, and Vernon Lodge, No. 43, of John Day, are expecting an official visit from Grand Chancellor Sharon, of Pendleton, this year. These two lodges have each been in existence about two years and have not yet recorded a visit from any of the grand officers.

The report is prevalent here in Long Creek that Judge Hazeltine and commissioners Johnson and Swick have designated their intention to appropriate $7000 of the money received from the state through the distribution of the five per cent. fund, toward the construction of a bridge across the North Fork at Monument. It is hoped that what this amount lacks in being sufficient to complete the structure, that business men of Heppner will make up the deficiency, and mean business for them.

We, your finance committee, have examined the books of the recorder and treasurer and find them correct and in good condition, and have compiled the above report from the same.

We find the city owes in cash and warrants, $14,394.15. The ($15,000) fifteen thousand dollars in water bonds have not been sold. The expenditures have been large, the city has a large property to show for it, and we trust it will prove of great benefit, in case of fire and for the health and convenience of the people.

Owing to the city having so much invested in fire apparatus, and no proper place to house and keep the same in order, and no place for the firemen to meet and transact their business, we think it might be best for the city to purchase property and erect a suitable building for all uses for the city and stop paying rent.

Hoping the city may have a more prosperous year for 1893, are the wishes of your committee.

The Roberts Case.

T. K. Roberts, whose arrest was alluded to last week, was discharged after an examination before Justice Hallock at Heppner. Roberts was arrested on a charge of forgery, when the warrant should have been one for obtaining money under false pretenses. The Herald stock disposed of by T. K. Roberts was signed by C. B. Roberts before the stock book left the office at Pendleton. The matter was adjusted by C. B. Roberts buying in all the notes that T. K. had disposed of and returning them to the parties who gave them.—Alliance Herald.

LETTER FROM HAWAII.

An Interesting Letter From an American in the Islands.

NOT IN FULL SYMPATHY WITH THE CHANGE

Of Government, And Less With The Queen's Course—Played Her Stakes High on a Bohemian Flush With The Usual Result.

EDITOR GAZETTE.—It has been my intention for months to write you a few lines for publication on some subject or other, or in fact perhaps a series of short articles. * * * Just now, when the subject is chosen of itself, it is not convenient to write for publication, for the very reason that the present government has passed an act defining treason, and that you can commit and not know it until after you are hung for it; and in order to further make themselves secure they have passed a Seditious Act that makes it a misdemeanor on the extent of two years imprisonment or $1,000 fine to think about a whisper. Hence, anything I may write you in this letter must be construed as confidential and not for publication.

However, I am sending you a 44 page pamphlet that gives a very concise and correct report of the whole proceeding. It is written by one in full sympathy with the movement, but it is very fair, all the same. In the very first place I may say that I am not in full sympathy with the scheme. I am not, again, in sympathy with the Queen at all. Her course was a foolish one, and she was good and well warned of the result by her friends, and preferred to listen to her pretended friends, among whom were not a few white men. She played for high stakes on a bob-tailed flush, and in the show down she was not "in it." She had visions of being a great Queen, perhaps equaling any of the Kamehameha line, and being for Hawaii what Bismarck was to Germany. Had she just went on drawing her pay and allowing the ministers to do the work, she would be on the throne today. Her salary was rather snug, too. Her salary from the government for the coming two years, $20,000 per year, with $5,000 allowances each year for the state dinner, etc., and then she had all the rents from the Crown Lands in her own right, which amounts to the cool sum of about $70,000 more, so that she is a big loser by her little bluffing game. One reason I am not in favor of the new government is that it only represents Honolulu, and only a few families and family compounds down there; and then again, I am not yet convinced that annexation will be a good thing—I mean a good thing for the states. There is no part of America that any way compares with this in population. Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California have a number of Spanish citizens, but not enough to make any material difference in the legislation. Minnesota and Dakota have a good sprinkling of Danes, Swedes and Norwegians, but not enough to in any way interfere with even the English from being the official language. Down here the government has to deal with almost every people on the earth, in more or less great numbers. The native Hawaiians number some forty odd thousand. Chinese come in next at some place near 20,000, Japanese at about 14,000; then comes the Portuguese at 10,000, and they are white men as well as ourselves, but seldom regarded as such down here. Americans, English and Germans come in numbers as named. Most of the money is in the hands of the last three. But if this country was annexed to the States, all would have to have a vote but the Chinese and Japanese, and if the vote was restricted in any way that would disfranchise any great number, it would lead to trouble, and most certainly would take much from the good name of Uncle Sam for fairness and honesty. So much for that side. But if they were to go in all free and alike, then Hawaii would go to the dogs in no time. The natives would take sweet revenge. They would elect almost every officer in the kingdom, and they would not elect many that would be against them and their desires. Hawaii would soon be what the Southern states were under Negro rule. At present only members of the legislature are elected, and one-half of them are elected by less than 3,000 votes. A property and income qualification disfranchises nearly every native and Portuguese in the country, and that is the way the whites have held control down here. To vote for a Noble, or upper house, you must have resided in the kingdom three years, or an income of $3,000 worth of taxable property, or an income of $600 from some lawful occupation. Money, therefore, elects one-half the house, and the other half comes "by chance," as Topsy says. Every other officer in the country comes from appointment.

The last session of the legislature has been remarkable in many ways. In the first place it has held on longer than any other, and has voted out more cabinets than any other, one cabinet lasting only 2 1/2 hours after coming in the house. The Wilcox cabinet was one that suited the people. Page 5 of the pamphlet tells of it, and the beginning of its downfall. The Queen went into the open market and bought right and left. She wanted Berger to win. He would not come over. She sent word to Wideman that if her cabinet went out she wanted him (W) for Minister of Finance. Of course he talked to Berger, his son-in-law. The Queen intimated to Berger that she wanted him (B) in her cabinet also. He went in and helped out the people's cabinet, and when they were out, she had no use for either Berger or his daddy-in-law, and formed a cabinet without consulting anybody. Samuel Parker, the Premier, had been voted out twice by the legislature. W. H. Corwell was the Premier of the "2 1/2 hour cabinet." A. P. Peterson had tried to form a cabinet and failed earlier in the session. He had been a cabinet minister in Kalakaua's last cabinet. J. F. Colburn is a long-eared ass, proprietor of a feed store, and with no particular ability in any particular line. He is generally supposed to have gained his appointment by promising to sign the constitution, and then failing to redeem his promise. Pages 9 and 10 give the proceedings, and actions of the citizens. Pages 14 and 15 give the Queen's back-down, and then follows the mass meeting, resolutions, speeches, etc. I call your particular attention to the report of the committee of Public Safety and to the Proclamation establishing the Provisional Government. Dale was one of the Supreme Court Judges, and is a man of strict integrity, and has the confidence of every man, woman and child in the kingdom. It is thought he has taken the place to check the rashness of others in the government. He has done so once, and it is reported. J. A. King is a sea captain, but is probably only in the place until W. C. Wilder returns, when Wilder will go in. P. C. Jones was a member of the Wilcox cabinet. W. O. Smith was a member of the house and is a fair lawyer. The original advisory council is much changed, as nearly all have changed as nearly all have worked themselves into something "good," and here is the worst feature. It makes it look so much like it was not an action for the good of the country, but for the good of men who had no office before. By making themselves a legislative body, they can create offices. They have created a Vice President of the Council, and elected S. M. Damon to fill it. Then A. Brown has been appointed Deputy Attorney General. He has had an office in Honolulu less than two years, and never had a case in his life, not even in the police court. His salary is about $3,000 per year. Not bad, is it? L. A. Thurston is a member of the commission to Washington, also W. R. Castle. W. G. Ashley has been appointed to the Marshal's office of the Kingdom; salary about $3,600 per year, and good "picking." W. C. Wilder is a member of the commission to Washington. When he comes home it is thought he will go in as Minister of the Interior. He has some sons. One has been appointed deputy marshal, at about $2,000 per year, and another is a lieutenant in the new army and commands the battery. As privates have been getting $2 per day and "found," I suppose a lieutenant must also command a company. Henry E. Cooper, the man who read the proclamation, is said to be booked for appointment as supreme judge in place of Dale. Only $5,000 a year and a life job! He came here only recently with a diploma from the California University Law School and has never made any attempt to practice, but has confined himself to abstracting land titles. Such has been the history of all revolutions here. The men who revolute must get the offices.

I would not want to see this country go to any other country than Uncle Sam, if it must go at all. But as long as they can govern themselves I would prefer to see Hawaii independent. It can be so under a Queen, but she must be placed under strong restrictions, or at least do as Victoria does. If it does not suit that way, then let the Republic of Hawaii be proclaimed. It is said by the Honolulu editors, who, of course, are wonderfully smart men, that Uncle Sam is not in the business of putting deposed monarchs back on their thrones, but they seem to forget that Uncle Sam did do that very thing down in Samoa, and that not only that the King had been deposed, but had also been transported half way 'round the world. I will send you some of this Honolulu papers by this mail. You can see for yourself what they are.

I will not try to influence your mind on this business at all. I notice that Oregonians is in favor of annexation, and perhaps most of the Pacific coast editors are. Further east I do not think it bothers them much. In case you comment on the contents of this letter, I must request you not to use my name at all, not that it would likely amount to anything but just for safety's sake.

HONOLULU, HAWAII, Hawaiian Islands, Feb. 10, 1893.

A BILL.—A man 70 years of age, giving the name of Ash, tried the bill set out on Eight Mile last week. He was stopped at Nathaniel Williams', and pretended to be looking for cattle. He borrowed a watch and a saddle at Heppner, and later $20 from Mr. Williams. The parties became suspicious of Ash, and he was overtaken at Condon where he made restitution by giving back everything. He was allowed to pursue his way without further interference. He has a very good horse which at last accounts he was riding bareback and is quite a smooth old man. Better look out for him.

CALLED TO CALIFORNIA.—REV. W. E. Potwine yesterday received a telegram from Redland, California, to the effect that his aunt, Miss Laura Thompson, was suddenly taken worse, and was falling rapidly. Mr. Potwine left on last evening's train for Redland. Miss Thompson went to California last fall, in the hope that the climate of that region would bring substantial benefit to her health. The news that she is in such a dangerous condition will be received with sadness by the many friends of the family in this city and county.—E. O.

BACK FROM THE VALLEY.—D. A. Herren got back Thursday from Salem and Portland where he had been for the past three weeks. Mrs. Herren is at the present at the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland where she is under care of Dr. Jones. She is recovering her health quite rapidly. Mr. Herren brought back some valley quails which he will turn loose up on his Bain Fork ranch. They are fine looking birds, but the Gazette thinks that there are few quails like the "Bob White" quail.

THE STOCK INSPECTOR.—Last Saturday Uncle Nathan McBee was chosen stock inspector to succeed himself. He has served in that capacity for the past two years, and, we believe, has given general satisfaction. The candidates were: Geo. Gray, J. H. Wyland, Tom Mathews, and Uncle Nathan. The commissioners decided to settle the matter by petition, and as Mr. McBee had the only one before the board, was chosen for the place.

THE WISE MAN SAID:

GOLD AND SILVER

In order to add quickly to the volume of money in the treasury of the company for the purchase of a new concentration mill, to be erected on the Monte Cristo portion of the properties of the above-named company, I now offer all or any portion of Ten Thousand Full Paid Non-Assessable Guaranteed Shares, at FIVE DOLLARS EACH, not cash, and will personally underwrite and guarantee the interest or dividend each and every year for ten years, dating from the purchase of the shares by the persons to whom they will now be issued.

The price of ten thousand shares now at this price will bring fifty thousand dollars to the treasury of the company, and this sum will enable Monte Cristo properties with a first-class mill, that will treat one hundred tons of ore per day, and thus yield a large revenue to the company.

The purchasers of these ten thousand shares will have that many of the full paid non-assessable shares in the company, and receive at least five per cent. yearly on the work progresses and the business of the company, for the period named. They will probably receive very much more each year as the work progresses and the business of the company is carried on for the benefit of those concerned, but will surely receive the five per cent. that is twenty-five cents per share on each share thus purchased.

This offer is made to justice money into the treasury of the company for improvement purposes alone.

A large 36-page pamphlet, illustrated, and containing matter giving absolute facts concerning the financial enterprises, sent on receipt of six cents in stamps to prepare postage. President Atlantic-Pacific Railway Trust Co., Rooms 46, World Bldg., N. Y. City.
