resident of that place, is here for his health. Mr. Price is feeling better since his arrival at Heppner. Call at the Gazette and get a program for the spring races. Sunday last was a fine day, and is about the first real spring day for a week past.

City, Union and other small-city places want the earth, duly fenced, but Heppner is modest and wants the asylum and can show the committee why we should have it.—Tribune. Yes, we get a mail every day now, and a daily mail service to the interior country to which we are nearer than any of our neighbors.
