IN SPITE OF HIMSELF. An Amusing Smuggling Story Related by the Victim.

the Victim.

The rector of one of the most fashionable churches in this city tells this amusing story at his own expense, says the Philadelphia Record. During a visit to England a year or so ago his mother, who lives there, asked him to take back to this country a small silver tea set and some spoons, which were family heir locans, and which she wished to give to her married daughter in New York. The good rector said that he could only do so on condition that he declared the artisles and paid the daty on them, but womanlike, his mother would not hear of Uncle Sam's benefiting by her gift to her daughter, and so she continued to plead with her son to still the whisperings of his conscience and do this little bit of saugging even at the cost of a file. It was all in vain, however, and when the worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he worthy man bade her good-by she gave him a motherly scolding about his undufful treatment of her, and hoped he words and control to the source of the source The rector of one of the most fashionwould come to so regard his refusal and repent it as he ought. Safely landed in New York and at the residence of his dutiful treatment of her, and hoped he New York and at the residence of his sister he accepted her offer to unpack his loggage for him, and was as completely overcome with astonishment as she was in finding a teapot in one of his boots, a sugar bowl in another, and the balance of the ten set and a dozen or so of spoons hidden in the pockets of his slothes. And by the next mail came a letter from his mother, which was filled with gleeful mirth at his expense. But whenever the good man hears the fashonable sin of petty smuggling menioned he shivers at the thought of what the customs inspector had discovered

A lady, stopping in a New York hotel during a recent "hot spell," was much troubled by fear of burglars. SPOOL MAKING IN MAINE.

Oxford county, Me., turns out nearly butte or mound in the Simcoe foothills all of the spools on which the thread of this country is wound, says the Phila butte looks as though the top had caved despina Press. The speels are made from white birch timber and they are produced by the million in Oxfort county. There are many other points in western Maine, also, where the industry is important. There are many sawmills in that part of the state which are kept busy the year round sawing white birch logs into strips four feet long and from one to two in barrels by machinery, the polish soon exterminate the other fish. The resulting from the contact of the spools lake affords excellent boating, and is n the barrel. In the backwoods villages of Oxford county one sees scarce-ly any other industry but spoolmaking. in the business. The factories have been eating into the Maine birch forests for years, but there seems to be enough left yet to feed them well for years to come. Hundreds and thousands of feet of logs are cut and sawed into spool timber annually.
