PROPORTIONAL LEGISLATION.

Proportional representation gives every party representation in proportion to the number voting its ticket. Suppose a vote and entitled to five representatives, than any candidate receiving eight hundred votes, or nearer that number than any other candidate, is justly elected, because he represents one-fifth of the votes. Under the present system, if the democrats have sixteen hundred votes and the republicans, populists and prohibitionists eight hundred votes each, the democrats would elect all five representatives and shut out the other three parties, having twenty four hundred votes, from any representation or hearing. To prevent this wrong, let each voter set the figure 1 opposite his first choice, 2 opposite his second choice, 3 for third choice, and so on. Then if each democrat marks A as his first choice B as his second choice and C as his third choice, when eight hundred ballots are counted for A, he is elected as the representative of one-fifth of the votes; the other eight hundred ballots are then counted for B; their second choice, and he is elected; no votes are left for C. Every democrat has voted; they have elected their share of representatives and cannot get any more. Each of the other parties, having about one fifth of the votes, will elect one representative and will be heard in the council or legislature in proportion to the number of votes it casts. All the people will be represented, and instead of party government by party machinery, we will have a country governed by all the people. Under this system each party will nominate only as many candidates as it probably has votes to elect.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

A number of our readers have asked us to explain the initiative and referendum. The initiative means that any citizen may write a proposed law, and if three percent of the citizens sign a petition in his favor, the secretary of state must submit it to a vote of the citizens at the next election. The legislature has no power over the initiative method of making laws. The law is proposed by some of the people, filed with the secretary of state and by him sent direct to the people at the ballot box. The referendum means that the legislature has the power to propose bills, but any act must be accepted by a majority of the voters at the ballot box before it can become a law. Consensus adjourned last Friday. It had never convened the country would be better off, but not that enough mischief has been accomplished, if this adjournment could be carried over for about four years, the American people would breathe freely. It is this confounded tinkering from one thing to another which is raising the deuce. The ways and means committee report that the new tariff bill will be a "conservative" revision of the McKinley law. "Conservative" is a good word. Cleveland has appointed his Thanksgiving Day, the 31st inst. The Gazette will do its thinking on the Penneyer

Elsewhere in this issue appears a copy of the resolutions adopted by a number of citizens, in mass meeting assembled, out at Hardman. Wild rumors concerning this meeting and their action have been about for some days, but a perusal of the resolutions will at once convince our readers that the makers have told more truth than they have quoted poetry. It certainly is impossible for debtors to realize now on what they possess, and suits and foreclosures will result in great loss to both debtors and creditors. So far as the Gazette's editor can see, the members of the Hardman mass meeting only ask such leniency as their creditors can bestow upon them, believing it to be in the interest of all parties concerned. As to certain threats that are reported to have been made, such does not appear in the resolutions either by import or declaration. We are quite sure that the business men of Morrow county are granting, and will continue to extend, all possible favors to those indebted to them.

Hon. D. W. VOORHEES now points with pride to the fact that conditions of business are better than they were six months ago. It is not the case, strictly speaking. We have passed the flurry and like all broke men, have settled down to a hard time basis. All the apparent prosperity enjoyed by this county came long before the Sherman purchasing clause was repealed. We will not return to former conditions till we reject British interference and come down to American ideas. Tariff tinkering will complete what anticipation has begun.

EASTERN state elections occur today. The States of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Iowa, Virginia and Nebraska are included in the list. The popular vote in each will carry Virginia and Nebraska, but, of course, this is only a matter of conjecture. The states above-mentioned will doubtless go the same old way, that is, a few years back. The populists, however, will make a good showing in many of the states.

The English papers are all rejoicing over the repeal of the Sherman law. The people of this country are wondering what they have done that makes their enemies across the water rejoice so hilariously. All that England now lacks of being perfectly happy is for the U. S. to adopt their free trade policy.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Gov. Penneyer on Nov. 1st issued his Thanksgiving proclamation. As usual, the governor strikes out in his fearless way, ignoring any suggestions that Pres. Cleveland might have to make regarding this holiday. It reads as follows: "I do hereby appoint the fourth Thursday of the present month as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings he has bestowed upon this commonwealth during the present year. God has, indeed, been most beneficent to our state and nation and yet unjust and ill-advised congressional legislation, having made good show full legal tender money, has so dwarfed and paralyzed business that the bounties of Providence are now denied to hundreds of thousands of people within the national domain, who are not only without employment but are also without the means of procuring food, raiment or shelter. While, therefore, the people of Oregon return thanks to God for his goodness, I do most earnestly recommend that they should devoutly implore him to dispose the president and the congress of the United States to secure the restoration of silver as full legal tender money, in accordance with the policy of the fathers of the republic, whereby our industries may be revived, and the honest toilers of the land may procure their daily bread, not as alms, but as the reward of their labor."

Mr. Hamilton, who is employed in the horticultural department, tried to raise a large squash. Five hills were planted and as soon as they were large enough were grafted into one vine. Only one squash was allowed to grow and as this was fed by all five vines it was expected to be a large one. We were sorry to learn that the seed was not of the large kind, but nevertheless the squash is of good size.

DOES PROTECTION HELP THE WOOL-GROWERS?

We have often heard the above question discussed by the woolgrowers of our country, and while some would uphold the affirmative, others would say that as our Boston market was ruled by the London wool sales, we derived no benefit from the tariff. Others again would even declare that with free trade in wool we would realize a better price. Being personally interested and wishing to solve the problem to my own satisfaction, I visited two of the largest woolen mills in Scotland last week, and in their large store rooms had a good opportunity of ascertaining the difference in the prices of merino wool here and in Boston. All fine wools are imported from Cape Colony and Australia, and first grade wool such as we grow in Morrow county costs the manufacturer at the factory 32 cents per lb., scoured. Seeing that freight to Boston from these points are much the same as to London, it is at once apparent that with absolute free trade, first grade merino wool can be handled in Boston and delivered to the manufacturer for 32 cents per lb. This means that wool shrinking 70 per cent, (which is about the average shrinkage for the district) would be worth in Heppner, from 5 1/2 to 6 cents. This is everyone knows would be a losing game.

Before the "tariff for revenue only" party was elected to office our wool was bought in Heppner on a basis of 50 cents per pound, scoured, in Boston; this year there is no demand for it, and we cannot expect more than free trade prices till our present duties are guaranteed by the democratic party. The following extract from a wool merchant's circular shows how the British and Colonial merchants expect to realize higher prices when they can find our market open to them: "While the home trade is undoubtedly on a sound basis, there seems little prospect of any improvement emanating from that source. More grounds for hope of higher prices rest on the promised reduction or abolition of the imports on our wool into America. The question as to how far and how soon the United States government may give effect to the expected legislation on the matter will be of lively interest to farmers as well as to the trade, as action on that side will be immediately reflected on prices here."

So long as our present duties are upheld we may look for living prices, but throw our markets open to the world and we must take world prices.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE NOTES.

The monthly examinations are over and the grades will soon be made out and handed to the students. The class in mechanical drawing occupies a room in the new hall.

The fourth year English class are studying Shakespeare's "Macbeth" under Prof. J. B. Hornor.

A reading article consisting of the third and fourth chapters of "The Story of the World" was read by Miss Smith and read by Miss Casser.

The classes in the mechanical department are doing splendid work. The text book used this year in analytic geometry is a new one written by Prof. E. W. Nichols, professor of mathematics of Virginia Military Institute, at Lexington, Va. It is an interesting fact to know Professor Nichols was a former pupil under Prof. J. D. Letcher of our college.

The two inch piping formerly used for heating the small forcing house has been replaced by four inch pipe, as heretofore it has been difficult to get sufficient heat. The new greenhouse is also being fitted with four inch pipe, and will soon be completed.

Mr. Hamilton, who is employed in the horticultural department, tried to raise a large squash. Five hills were planted and as soon as they were large enough were grafted into one vine. Only one squash was allowed to grow and as this was fed by all five vines it was expected to be a large one. HARDMAN RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, The producers of Morrow county, owing to the action of trusts and combines which are the illegitimate offspring of our government, are unable to realize more than cost of production of all farm products, and

WHEREAS, Through the failure of crops in this county and the universally low prices of produce, stock, etc., raised by the people of this community, they are unable to meet their obligations, and

WHEREAS, The merchants and men of all trades are dependent on the producers for money to meet their obligations, and

WHEREAS, Owing to the demoralized condition of money matters, and the market, it will be necessary to have an extension of time for all debtors, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the people in mass meeting assembled, declare that for creditors to enforce payment of obligations in the present distress would bring disaster and ruin on both debtors and creditors, and prove a calamity to the county, and be it further

Resolved, That we condemn the forcing of mortgages, and the issuing of judgments, and the action of some creditors in attempting to rush in and seize all the debtors have, thereby ruining the debtors and preventing other creditors from securing anything, and be it further

Resolved, That we commend creditors who are lenient on the people as they are small and sympathize with them, and urge all debtors to pay all their indebtedness they possibly can without sacrificing too much. And be it further

Resolved, That we disapprove, at this time, of the collecting of delinquent taxes, especially when the amounts are small and the costs large. And further be it

Resolved, That we, the people in mass meeting assembled, do ask our creditors to extend the time of credits at least ten months. And be it further

Resolved, That we declare our intentions to sustain all debtors with in our influence until such times as by reasonable industry and economy they can meet their obligations. And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Heppner Gazette and Heppner Record for publication.

HOME ITEMS.

Farmers are engaged in sowing wheat and rye. Mr. Charles Stratton is on the sick list. W. W. H. is ill.

A few are occupied with threshing, but the work is almost done. Miss Lonia Parbore was down from Lexington Sunday.

Miss John Ritchey recently arrived from the East. The pupils of the lone public school enjoyed a vacation of two days.

One Glock rented Ed Holloway's house for two years. You are in it, Gus.

Mr. R. C. Sperry moved to the mountains for the winter, to attend to a band of sheep.

Mr. A. T. McNay arrived from Heppner the other day to look after his stock and ranch. Mac feels the hard times like the rest of us, even in the magnificent city of Heppner.

Weather prophet Hicks, of St. Louis, prophesies a long and cold winter, such as has not been experienced for many years. We hope this does not include the Pacific coast, for the summer has been hard enough.

Miss A. J. Balsiger today enters upon her duties as assistant teacher in the Heppner public schools. She resigned her position in the Wilmoth school, and left for Heppner Saturday evening. Mr. Roy Glascock, of Heppner, completes the rest of the term.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I ever sold. There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly, no other is so certain a preventive and cure for cough, no other affords so much relief in case of whooping cough. PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
