THE Gazette is under obligations to Congressman Ellis for some valuable reports and speeches of representatives and senators.

NEBRASKA and KANSAS, like cows in the evening, have come home. Yet the past should be a warning for future operations, and that no un-American ideas on finance or tariff will be tolerated.

The youngest railroad conductor is John C. Barnum, thirteen years old. He has charge of the Jacksonville-Medford branch, in this state, and fills the place satisfactorily to the management as well as the public.

HON. W. R. ELLIS has the bill for extending the time of payment on railroads favorably reported on by the committee on public lands, and has little doubt of its passage by both houses, and at an early date after the assembling of congress.

The price of silver is advancing as compared with gold. As the English price is one adopted by the world, there is no particular reason now to depress it, having accomplished all they desire at present in the United States. It may go up much higher.

The people of Multnomah county are after the county officials for not making out their reports and giving them the publicity the law requires. It seems that these worthies have been slack about these very important matters, and the people are waking up to find out how matters stand.

DAVID B. HILL bartered away principle to pass the unconditional repeal bill, hoping thereby to help his fight in New York to perpetuate the Hill machine. Behold the people rose up and smashed the whole thing, leaving David bereft of the respect that he had gained by his heretofore consistent stand on finance, and likewise bereft of control in New York.

DISPATCHES state that the old Randall type of democracy is coming to the front again in congress, and that no one-sided tariff bill will be passed. This is an outcome of recent elections in which the temper of the people was shown.

The overwhelming democratic majority of '92 had about convinced this valuable contingency that a near approach to free trade was what the people wanted. Now it is plain that the people got just what they did not want, and the protective element of democracy is again in the saddle.

This time for which payment on railroad lands can be made will be extended through the efforts of Congressman Ellis. It is but just and right. Otherwise the business men would find that many a dollar would be diverted from the channels of trade to the government, and now in these times of depression every dollar is needed here.

The government can better afford to wait than anyone else. The measure advocated by Mr. Ellis and so badly needed by a large section of Oregon and Washington, will help the people, and in their turn can reciprocate in a manner that will be felt from every hamlet and city of Oregon to Portland, and thence back to the busy marts of trade.

This recent elections in the East, with only a few exceptions in the South, went republican by larger majorities than were at first reported. Pennsylvania gave more republican votes than at any time since the national election of 1872. It will be remembered, too, that this state has more friends for silver in the republican ranks than any other Eastern state. The decision seems to be a sweeping denunciation of any attempt to change our tariff policy in favor of foreigners. But the victorious republicans must not forget that bimetalism in its most practical form is fixed in the minds of a majority of the American people. It has been misunderstood, misrepresented. Let us have equitable protection and an American money system.

FOR once the Oregonian talks hard sense on the money question. It is in favor of the coinage of the silver seigniorage, using for argument that it can't do any more harm, if harm it ever did, in the form of money than in bars, and it is much harder in the former condition and badly needed now by our government. The Oregonian admits that the depression in business cut down receipts while the expenses kept up at the old rate, the currency set aside failed to meet all demands and the gold had to go. The Oregonian ought to have talked this way at the right time, but as three-fourths of our delegation disagreed with his policy, it was little matter how it talked.

WHAT next? Gresham, Cleveland's secretary of state, advises the president by an official report to take away the republican form of government in Hawaii and restore the monarchy. While Cleveland is in that business he can find excellent material to work on in the old country. The example of a republic taking a hand in the restoration of a monarchy is galling to any American of patriotic impulses. Cleveland's unpatriotic action will be opposed from every part of our land. Already leading democratic papers are taking up the action of the president which is little less than treasonable and the criticisms are most uncomplimentary.

WHERE has UNCONDITIONAL repeal helped us? The less English capital borrowed by our people the better, and remember that nothing but American ideas put into practice will help us out of the ditch. The only difference now and in the past is that formerly we had $4,500,000 monthly added to our circulating medium, and now we are just short that amount. And if gold is due foreigners our treasury suffers just as much as before. The Sherman law was not hurting this country; that is not the trouble now and never has been. We need more of American ideas on money and no tariff tinkering.

OUR legislature has set apart Thanksgiving Day, and has given the executive the right to select the day. This year it is Nov. 23. Loyal Oregonians will doubtless observe this day and use Cleveland's selection in which to give him a good going over in the language peculiar to the section and to the case under consideration. There is nothing to thank Cleveland for, unless it is gold-bug legislation, suspension of the original Geary law and general disregard of the duties of his office. Any celebration on the Cleveland plan is bound to be unpopular with the masses in Oregon.

THE whole amount of cash, gold and currency in the government vaults is below the $100,000,000 mark. And yet tons of the money metal, silver bullion in the form of seigniorage, remains uncoined and of no more use than a lot of old junk. We suppose that the administration will make a bond issue and buy some gold, though at present no action has been taken in that direction.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by Slocum-Johnson Drug Co.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles. SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. sw 137.

PATENTS!

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household and on the farm, as well as in official life, require continual additions to the apparatus and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert, and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed to innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee.

THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, and general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepare and prosecute applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trademarks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives special attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

To many people who have the faintest scrofula in their blood, the agonies caused by the dreadful running sores and other manifestations of this disease are beyond description. There is no other remedy equal to Hood's Sarsaparil for scrofula, salt rheum and every form of blood disease. It is reasonably sure to benefit all who give it a fair trial.

A Military Display.

One of the most interesting exhibits in the government building at the world's fair will be a display of arms, uniforms, tents and flags in use in the United States army at various times since 1776. This display is being prepared in one of the Gray's Ferry arsenal buildings. A space of six thousand square feet has been set aside for this exhibit. The uniforms will be draped upon lay figures and arranged in realistic attitudes. The one particular group in which especial pride is taken is to consist of seven figures on horseback, representing a general of the present army and staff. The central figure will be as nearly as possible an exact likeness of Maj.-Gen. Schofield. All the articles were made entirely by Americans and of American materials. There is a collection of at least twenty-five flags, and these alone are valued at eight thousand dollars.

Bears' Gall is Worth Money.

A bear's gall was recently sent to a gentleman in this city, says the El Paso (Tex.) Herald, as a slight token of esteem from an intimate and dear friend in the country, with the suggestion that it might possess a pecuniary value in the Chinese language. Thinking that it was intended to imply that he lacked gall, our city gentleman threw it in the street. Soon afterward a Chinaman came in, and on being interrogated, offered one dollar for it. The work of redeeming it by a side door occupied one minute, and the price obtained was two dollars. They are considered very valuable by Chinese physicians, and are much sought after. We now quote a bear's gall in fair demand, with limited supply; political gall abundant, with few takers.

We will take wheat on subscription at 50 cents per bushel.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With a view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
