THE purchasing clause of the Sherman act has been repealed, and yet the country's condition grows no better. Even the surplus in the U. S. treasury still goes the downward grade, all promises to the contrary notwithstanding. The people will learn in time that we needed no legislation to make money; robbing was demanded that would further debase our money to enhance the purchasing power of the other. If silver had received full recognition and tariff tinkering be laid on the shelf, these United States could now be full of business activity instead of what we are now getting a big doses and repeat. It transpires that England has no money to send here, and if she did have what permanent good would it do us? With the Bank of England on the verge of ruin it doesn't look much like even the English idea of finance was going to do us much good now. America need American idea on finance and tariff.

THE announcement that the way is clear for gold ascendancy, and consequent prosperity, reminds the Gazette that the plan is not working like a charm, according to the newspaper reports concerning the president's financial difficulties. It is much like the boy who reached into a hollow log for a 'toon, and to a companion exclaimed: "I've got him." "Well," said the other, "if you've got him why don't you pull him out." "Yes but he's got me too," tearfully rejoined the 'toon-hunter.

SOUTHERN manufacturers who are protesting against the abolition of the duty on iron ore and coal have issued a public statement to the democratic party, appealing for consideration in view of their well-known fidelity to that party, and saying, among other things: "The Southern iron men have resolved to resist repeal, forgetting for a moment all differences of political beliefs, and mindful only of the stable and better things to wit: domestic prosperity."

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla, what they think of it, and the replies will be positive in its favor. S. J. P. says that Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds its indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures for sunburn, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

LIBERTY RESOLUTIONS
WHEREAS, It has been brought to the notice of citizens of Liberty, Morrow Co., Oregon, in mass meeting assembled, that the citizens of Hardman in like manner assembled have passed certain resolutions asking that their creditors be as lenient as possible with them through the present crisis, to the end of an extension of the time of payment of their debts to at least ten months. Therefore be it
Resolved, That we, the citizens of Liberty and vicinity approve of said resolutions as being in the interest of our creditors as well as ourselves. And be it further
Resolved, That we ask his excellency, Governor Sylvester Penney, to convene the legislature in extra session at the earliest possible date to pass laws that will tide the debtor class of the state of Oregon over the present financial stringency. Be it further
Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given to the Heppner Gazette, Heppner Record and Alliance Herald, of Pendleton, for publication and also one sent to his excellency, Governor Sylvester Penney.

FIRST AWARD AT CHICAGO
Sheepmen will be interested to know that there is no longer any question as to the relative merits of the different sheep dips upon the market. Christy & Wise take pleasure in announcing that Hayward's Dips (paste and liquid) for which they are sole P. C. agents, have secured the first award at the World's Fair, and last year these dips received the silver medal at California State Fair and gold medal at Mechanics Fair, San Francisco. HARD TIMES.
Contributed by Jas. Neville.
First I went to the "loan bank"
I met a man lean, who's no crank;
"Business is good, we fear no crash,
For we have just now plenty of cash."
What should I see but Volcan's son,
And he known as A. M. Gunn;
With face long as you might expect,
"I've money out and can't collect."
Whom did I see but Dick Neville,
He's trying to keep things level;
Times are harder than people think,
For loans don't get a single drink.
I met the barber, Old Hatt,
And he reading Don Platt;
Times are hard we cannot deny
But they will mend some, by and by.
Next I saw was Ayers and Cohn
Their drugs and pills they keep a goin';
The doctors visit the sick
And take their pay mostly "in tick".
I walked into Minor's store,
They're doing business as before;
E. M. is there with his long face,
And times respect no time nor place.
Geo. Conner is a man most frank
And to George, "How is your bank?"
"Business," he said, "is very bad,"
But then we have no cash to spare.
I then came up to John Natter,
He's been sick and is no fatter;
I said to John, it is very queer
"But you drink no more lager beer."
I saw big Pat of the Gazette
A letter "boy" you have not met;
With long face, in need of a shave,
Times are hard, "Jim," said I must save.
Met Hamilton & Freedland too,
Tight now they haven't much to do;
Though they are men of intellect
Money is scarce and they can't collect.
I saw Kolman at the corner
In the lookout for the farmer;
He rubbed his hands and said "It's strange,
"Friend, when do you think times will change?"
All know Borg and Abramstreck;
Though Peter has hay in the rack
And watches many, Abe the clothes,
They can't sell, so the country goes.
At the Palace was Mrs. Von Cadov,
She lowered her rates, she had to;
Her house has very few drummers
Though she can get lots of bummers.
The P. M. here is Malory
And a pleasant old gent he is;
Yes he is a jolly old man
For his pay comes from Uncle Sam.
Geo Swaggart the same song he sings,
He had just come up from Well Springs,
"I tell you Jim that times are like h-l,
Not a pound of wool can we sell."
I couldn't miss the shop of Green
Customers were not to be seen;
Hayman remarked, "Jim take a chair
And Green will play the golden stair."
Dear neighbors, I walked up and down,
That way I took in the whole town;
All gave me their version and case,
Agreeing it "was mostly bad laws."

Are your children subject to croup?

It will prevent the attack. It is the sole remedy with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. JOSE PHILM.
Nice weather. News after the first and fog.
Snooding has continued but many have finished.
Some claim that the people are dejected by our president and governor. Chamberlain's we held last Sunday, both at Douglas and Ione. Rev. P. W. of the City was the preacher.
Our able blacksmith can now rest after a long summer's hard work. Business has slackened.
Come, all ye laborers and toilers, hearken unto the chief executives and let us have two Thanksgiving holidays these hard times.
Miss Ada Redford will have a grand entertainment on the last day of exercise of her school. She taught a good school, and undoubtedly will give you an interesting program, Friday evening, Nov. 24.
Mr. Roy Glassecock, who is giving good satisfaction as a teacher at the Wilmoth school, Sunday at Ione and assisted us with our Sabbath school.
The tide has turned. The people have come to our help. The recent elections in the East have given us something to be thankful for. That is the reason we by the grace of Cleveland and Penney, are to devour the fatted turkeys this fall.
Take notice, that beginning with the second Sunday of the New Year, we will have regular preaching at Ione. The Methodist minister, Rev. Powell, is an elderly man of great ability and a life-long experience, a pile of interesting both young and old to the fullest extent. Services will be held the second Sunday of each month.

Pimples, blotches, sores, and their causes, removed by Simmons Liver Regulator.
Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.
SYMPTOMS: Moisture; intense and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia, Pa. sw 1 yr.

PATENTS!

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the art and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household and on the farm, as well as in official life, require continual additions to the appliances and implements of use in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert, and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing deficiencies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable inventions have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially in this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, and general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said Company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepare and prosecute applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives special attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

GIRLS AND COMPLEMENTS.
They Belong Together, But Are Seldom Properly Harmonized.
Not to value honest praise, not to enjoy the appreciation of one's fellows, to be indifferent to their good as to their ill opinion, is less likely to be a mark of lofty superiority than of intense self-satisfaction.
Kindly people, friendly people, modest people like to be praised. They find a compliment agreeable which is sincere and not excessive, and in one way or the other are pretty sure to manifest their pleasure in it.
Often, however, they do so against their will, says the Youth's Companion, making all the time a poor pretense of indifference which they suppose to be demanded by modesty and politeness. Sometimes they get further, and insistently disclaim praise which they can not but know is fairly merited. Again they giggle foolishly, or try to waive the matter aside with an airy gesture and a laugh that does not ring true.
Girls especially, who are most likely to receive compliments, are least likely to receive them well. Often a pretty girl will destroy a delightful impression by her silly embarrassment at a few natural words of admiration for her youth and freshness.
Or a clever girl, who thinks it due to her reputation for cleverness to despise compliments, will repel where she has just attracted by airs of pooh-pooh-acted disdain.
There is no real difficulty in accepting a compliment. It is neither vain nor undignified, but rather gracious and becoming, to take pleasure in giving pleasure. Therefore, if a girl has given pleasure, either by her appearance or by her actions, and if some one tells her of it there is always something honest, simple and suitable that she can say in reply:
"I am glad that you were pleased," "I am glad you think I did well," or "I am glad you approve my work."
There is no need either to disclaim or to assent to the praise uttered, therefore there is no reason why one should be embarrassed in its acceptance. Let everyone admire honestly, but let one also honestly receive admiration that is courteous and properly expressed.
It is lovely to be loved, delightful to be admired, agreeable to be praised. That is what every girl feels, and what no girl need be ashamed frankly to acknowledge. She need be ashamed only if she magnifies a compliment, which is essentially a tribute, into something sufficiently important to disconcert her, or rewards honest appreciation with insincerity and pretense.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I ever used. There is a good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive measure for croup; no other affords so much relief in case of whooping cough. ### TOTAL DEPRIVITY.

We are again led to observe how low in the scale of life humanity can get. When we are forced to see those things calling themselves young men and young women who are making it a point to see how much disturbance they can create at the meetings now being conducted at the M. E. church, South. These disgraceful offspring of the saloon and red curtain element are to be pitied, but cannot be tolerated unless they endeavor to conduct themselves as ladies and gentlemen even though they are not worthy of the title.
We see these cigarette besotted rowdies dishing with girls whose countenances mark them as being in the lowest order of society, changing hats, whispering, laughing and making themselves conspicuous by their lack of manners and evident ill breeding. We all know that these things have no refined feelings to appeal to, and a term in jail or a heavy fine seems to be the only way to reach their consciences, as in their self-conceited ignorance they think their actions are sm't. Keep your eyes on the back of the church and you can see for yourselves.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.
With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
