Give your business to Heppner people and therefore assist to build up Heppner. Patronize those who patronize you.

We hold each and every correspondent responsible for his or her communication. No correspondence will be published unless the writer's real name is signed as an evidence of good faith.

Did you ever read about the Man who hid his light under a bushel? Yes? well that is like doing business without advertising. All the subtle schemes in the country will not accomplish half as much as a good ad. In a good, live, legitimate newspaper, one that is read by the people, and that owns its own soul; that uses its space like merchandise, worth dollar for dollar.

AFTER arresting forty members and bringing them in, the democratic house has succeeded in gathering a quorum together.

The New Year's edition of the Salem Statesman is at hand. It is nicely illustrated and in all a very creditable edition, indeed.

The Hawaiian matter has been side-tracked for the Wilson tariff measure. There seems to be no probability of any substantial financial legislation in the near future.

Quite a destructive fire occurred on Jan. 8th among the World's Fair buildings. The loss to exhibits still remaining and to buildings will foot up to $1,000,000.

They used to josh the writer around by asking "Where's Heppner?" It don't take much trouble to find Heppner on the map now, and a letter gets here without having the county added to the address. In fact, Heppner is the "biggest little town" in the Northwest.

EDITOR FLAGG has given up the management of the Salem Democrat and at once accepts a position in the Journal office, while it is reported that the good will, machinery and press franchise of the Journal is to be transferred to the Democrat. They must have swapped offices down there.

BILL NYE truthfully said: "A man who will use a wart on the back of his neck for a collar button, or pasture his mother's grave to save corn, fails to cross his 't's or dot his 'i's to save ink, stop his clock at night to save the wear and tear, is a credit to the man who refuses to patronize or subscribe for his home newspaper on the childish excuse that he does not like the editor."

The latest from Hawaii is to the effect that Minister Willis has made a demand on President Dole to surrender the provisional government to the queen, which Mr. Dole most emphatically refused to do. He is to be congratulated for having taken such a stand. The patriotic masses of America are with the provisional government and it is hoped that they may never have to surrender to a low-bred queen.

The severe cold wave which was prophesied for this country about two weeks ago seems to have landed in England, where the temperature in many places is the lowest ever known, and though the thermometer registers 5 to 10 above zero, the suffering is as great as at 20 below in the United States. People are entirely unprepared for it, and suffering among poor is intense. Many deaths have occurred from exposure, and a heavy snow storm prevails.

BLACKMAN'S appointment seems to have opened up the eyes of the faithful. Blackman has been the least conspicuous of any of the candidates, but he has worked none the less faithfully for the place. Instead of getting endorsements haphazard, he secured the best men of the Northwest and of the nation in his behalf. These men were fortunate in being in a position to get close to the president, hence all the side play and bombast thrown upon Secretary Carlisle went for naught. The Oregonian struck it right when it said that "the brass band method of seeking office is not always efficacious."

At first the ex-queen of Hawaii positively refused to go back on the throne at the request of Willis unless supported by the force of American arms, but now she is ready and willing to be reinstated. What brought about this change was not at first understood, but it has since been learned that her British friends have been advising her to accept Willis' proposal and thus gain restoration by power of United States diplomacy and arms, after which, the provisional government being out, she could promptly apply to Great Britain for support and turn the islands and dependencies over to Great Britain. This could not be regarded in the light of an effort to the United States by Great Britain, because President Cleveland had, for the United States, withdrawn the treaty and rejected all overtures looking toward annexation. However, it is a pleasure to state that the provisional government still holds the fort, and will continue to do so unless forced out by the Cleveland-Willis tactics.

The Chinamen in Salem have refused to register. They assigned several reasons for not doing so. In the first place they say hard times have struck the Chinese the same as all other classes and they could not afford to spend the money required to have their pictures taken; that if these were furnished them by the government he thought that they would not hesitate to go at once and register. Another reason is given by a Chinese merchant who says that the Chinamen do not dare to comply with the law as it meant sure death to them. He said they had been threatened by the highbinders and the criminal element, and that they would undoubtedly carry out their threat. This class of Chinamen are not eligible to registration and for that reason they are trying to overthrow the law. So it is plain to be seen that the extension of the Geary law will amount to nothing. It should have been enforced before.

HENRY BLACKMAN reached the internal revenue plun. He is a good fellow with many friends, who will rejoice with him over the appointment. A week ago it seemed to be a sure thing for Mr. Munday, but one can never tell where Cleveland lightning is going to strike.—Telegram.

The committee on Indian affairs has reported favorably Representative Ellis bill extending the time of the Unatilla Ditch Company for three years.

Deafness cannot be cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for circular free.

A NATIONAL APPEAL.

The American Protective Tariff League in special and extraordinary session on December 18th, responding to the earnest request of wage earners, unanimously agreed that it was necessary to call upon the press of the United States to urge every patriotic citizen to assist in defeating the proposed Wilson free trade tariff, which is now before congress. If this measure becomes a law, the demand for labor in all productive employments in this country will be decreased. This will reduce the wages and earnings of every man, woman or child among us; permanently lower the standard of living in this country; and, reduce the purchasing power of our wage earners who constitute the great consuming force in this land.

Every person, rich or poor, high or low, old or young, who is not in favor of lower wages and less comfort in life, should at once write a postal card to the congressman from his or her district, protesting against the passage of this bill and demanding that the McKinley tariff be left unchanged. Write a postal card today, and urge every friend of yours to do the same. Perhaps your effort will defeat free trade and save protection.

Catarrh in the Head is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. Catarrh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

DEMOCRATIC PRAYER.

From the National Reform. Oh, almighty, all powerful, all-wise, most glorious, grand and worshipful Grover. Thou who sittest in Washington and smitest thine enemies with the lightning of thy wrath; who rewardeth those who serve thee and chastiseth those who do not thy bidding the lightning of thy wrath is terrible. We bow before thee in humble submission. Stick out thy big toe that we may kiss it. Oh, most powerful, most adored and most feared Cleveland, how can we humble ourselves enough before thee? Help us, our great political master, to make ourselves little that in our insignificance thou mayest be magnified. For thee, most powerful master, we will eat dirt. Like the sow, we will "return to our wallowing in the mire." We will not only take up our own vomit, but take up that of any other dog which thou tellest us to. We live for none but thee. The more thou kickest us the better we will love thee. Though our wives and children cry for bread, we will march in the procession, carry a torchlight, wear a democratic rooster in our hat, and sing praises to thy name. Oh, mighty father of magwump democracy, there are none so great as thee. Whosoever knideth thy wrath is denied the wedding garment. He cannot enter into the guest chamber, nor can he eat of the official pie. In the greatness of thy strength thou hast put to flight the senators of ten states. Congressmen before thy terrible wrath like leaves before the autumn wind. With the jawbone of an ass Sampson slew many Philistines. But with thine own jaw-bone, which is not as good as the ass', thou hast put millions to flight. Thou hast smote the people hip and thigh. Thou hast caused a great plague to fall upon them—even the plague of poverty. With thy strong right hand thou hast made pleasant the paths of thy friends, but thine enemies hast thou smitten with a terrible smite. They have been left out in the cold. No postoffice or consular signs gladden their hearts. Though they yearn for the fleshpots, and gaze wistfully at the official pie counter, they are not allowed to partake thereof. Their sin of disobedience to thy word pursues them at all times. They are made to feel the inconvenience of thy displeasure. Oh, most gracious master, our hearts are full of love for thee. Thou, oh, Cleveland, who is great in stature, great in the bigness of thy neck and paunch, great in name and great in action! Thou, in the greatness of thy greatness, can't be president and fish half thy time. Thou callest congress together and tellest them what to do, and it is done even as thou hast ordered it. Thou makest a Moses out of John Sherman and an Aaron out of Dan, the "tall yankee of the Wabash." Thou commendest the people to follow them out of the wilderness of "Free Silver Coinage." The elders have done so and thy people will follow. Thou smiteth the rock of silver coinage and lo! there was a dearth of money throughout the land. There was weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. The banks had closed and the people were "left in the lurch." Rachel weeping for her "savings money" and would not be comforted. The fiery serpents of "depreciated silver dollars" were biting the people throughout all the land. And the people cried unto thee for succor. And thou didst command Sherman and Dan to put a golden serpent upon a pole, that whosoever had been bitten might look upon it and be saved. And the elders fell down and worshipped the golden serpent and did everything as thou commandest them. Oh, most powerful Cleveland, help us sing praises to thy name. We know we are unworthy to lick the dust off the soles of thy feet. We lie down on our bellies and put our noses in the ground, even as an Arkansas hog rooteth after the acorn long since buried. We implore thee to come and sit down on us with all the avoidipolous of thy political weight. Let thy fatness spread out over us even as a sick buzzard would fall upon a dead rat. Walk on us to our hearts' content. What are we here for if not to add to thy greatness, to love thee, adore thee, worship thee and serve thee? We thank thee, oh Cleveland, that we are alive and permitted to even speak thy name without sinning against thee. We faint would touch the hem of his garment, but we couldn't stand it. It would throw us into a fit. We would shake thy hand and gaze into thy broad and lovely countenance, but it would kill us to come in contact with so much greatness. Suffer us, most worshipful master, to blindfold ourselves and kiss the end of thy big toe. This would be glory enough for us. We would then lie down and wriggle with joy and gladness all the rest of the days of our lives. When we die we would have our lips cut out and preserved in a jar, to be handed down from generation to generation, labeled: "The lips that kissed the end of Cleveland's big toe." Oh, mighty

PATENTS!

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household and on the farm, as well as in official life, require continual accessions to the apparatus and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert, and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially in this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, and general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said Company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepare and prosecute applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

Cleveland, we thank thee for consenting to be president. Thou art the only man in the party that has sense enough to be president. We thank thee for the good times thou hast brought us. We thank thee for the low price of wheat—we could buy two bushels and a half for a dollar, if we had the dollar. We thank thee for the millions that are out of employment, for now we can hire a hand when we want to and him at our price. We thank thee for the hungry people in the land, for hunger is good for dyspepsia. We thank thee for the patches on the seat of our pants for the people will not mistake us for a banker. We thank thee for the good dollar that we have not got and for making the mortgage on our farm better than it was. We thank thee for the meat we sold to the banker and for the eggs we sold to the grocer to get money to pay last year's interest on our note. Take us into thy protecting care, kick us whenever it suits thy pleasure, grind our noses into the dust of political corruption, tell us what you want done and how you want us to do it, give us occasionally a piece of official pie, and thou shall be the political glory as long as our patches can be made to hang together. Amen.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, It has been the divine decree to remove from our midst, our worthy and beloved companion James P. Bushie, therefore be it

Resolved, That it be the sense of Heppner Chapter No. 25, R. A. M., to express at this date a feeling of sorrow and grief for the loss of one who was always a patriotic citizen and ever a faithful companion. And be it

Resolved, That in their hour of deep grief and tribulation, we tender to the bereaved family and relatives our sympathy. May the Grand High Priest of the Sacred Sanctuary above look down upon them in compassion, and make their great trial fall upon them not as a burden, but as those looking forward to the meeting of the loved one, gone forever, in the great day of judgment above.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of Heppner Chapter No. 25, R. A. M., a copy sent to the bereaved family, and one each given to the Heppner Record and Heppner Gazette for publication.

FOR INVENTIONS. Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventors are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary, if others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
