Photographs $1.50 per dozen at Shepard's gallery, near opera house, north Main St., Heppner, Ore.

Frank Lee is authority for the statement that every pound of wool now in the warehouses has been sold.

You can't knock the spots off the sun, but after August 1st Minor & Co. will knock the spots off of competition.

The Heppner Flouring Mill Co. will sell flour at $2.50 per barrel in any quantities. All flour warranted.

During harvest the Liberty Meat Market will exchange meat for wheat. Farmers should take advantage of this offer.

The report that a stage driver was killed and robbed on the Portland-Mount Hood route seems to have no foundation.

Nine commercial men came up on yesterday morning's train and after thoroughly canvassing the town departed last evening.

Prof. W. A. Wetzel, for several years county superintendent of Multnomah county and a veteran in the school room, is in town on business.

Ex-Superintendent Saling is presiding over the destinies of a mow on in Sand Hollow, and was in town yesterday getting repairs for his machine.

Stage leaves for Echo Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, returning on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. H. Wade, Prop. T. W. Ayers, agent.

The illumination of Mount Hood occurred on the night of the 19th, so many watchers. The fact is not an ounce of red fire was burned at that time.

L. L. Woodmansee, representing P. C. Tomson & Co., of Philadelphia, manufacturers of the famous Red Seal Lye, was in the city yesterday interviewing our merchants.

Frank Lee, the general wool buyer, has bought a number of clips during the week, among which was the Farnsworth clip of 172 bales. Frank will sustain the reputation of being a rascal.

Green Mathews, east side of Main street, has a neat barber shop and does work at popular prices, 25 cents shave or hair cut. These have been his charges for months. Don't forget him.

The Edimonton bank trouble at Walla Walla is still being agitated, and now it is claimed Geo. L. Fitzhugh had a hand in the matter. We hoped, as we have known Geo. from boyhood, and he always bore a good reputation, that the Gazette might see a good man fall.

Eld. Geo. E. Barnaby departed last evening for Montana to be absent during the month of August. It is expected that he will return to Heppner by the 1st of Sept. to labor for the Christian church here for a time, as the congregation is now making an effort to secure his services.

Whether Pasteur's and Koch's peculiar modes of treatment will ultimately prevail or not, their theory of blood-contamination is the correct one, though not original. It was on this theory that Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., nearly fifty years ago, formulated Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Mr. Frank Readek, late leading man for White's Dramatic Co., who made such a big success in the drama called "A Gambler's Wife," is playing a two-weeks' engagement at Astoria. He will then return to Heppner and join forces with Dan Wolf.

A. C. Carle, of Boise City, Idaho, has purchased the tonorial parlor formerly owned by Gid Hart, at the Matlock building next door to Simon's blacksmith shop, where he invites the patronage of all who desire strictly first class work at reasonable prices. Haircut, shave or shampoo, 25 cents each. Give him a call.

The regular subscription price of the Semi-Weekly Gazette is $2.50 and the regular price of the Weekly Oregonian is $1.50. Any one subscribing for the Gazette and paying for one year in advance can get both the Gazette and Weekly Oregonian for $3. All old subscribers paying their subscriptions for one year in advance will be entitled to the same.

The Record may be right in saying that the Gazette's editor has a sweetened head, but we know mighty well that our pocket-book isn't so afflicted, and in this connection an invitation to pay up is in order. We need some money now, and, patrons, you cannot confer a greater favor on us than to help us a little, financially.

Heppner has been granted a special rating by the Pacific Insurance Union. This means a reduction of from 1/2 to 3 per cent, or an average of about 1 1/2 per cent, in the rates of insurance for this place. Such a reduction is indeed very acceptable just at the present time.

S. W. Spencer and Chas. McDowell left this morning for an outing over on Desolation lake. They expect to be gone about a month. From the amount of ammunition taken with them, it looks as though there might be a drug in the west market on their return.

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver, and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely, and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Mrs. A. Mathiot and daughter, Rowena, arrived on this morning's train, and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Patterson while in town. They will shortly visit Mrs. Mathiot's parents, Grandpa and Grandma Florence, on Willow creek.

The Gazette's editor saw some freight cars yesterday down at the depot that had gone through the recent flood. They had evidently stood in water deep enough to almost cover the cars.

R. A. Hunsaker runs stage between Heppner and Monument, arriving every day except Monday and leaving every day except Sunday. Shortest and cheapest route to the interior. P. Cohn, agent.

Wednesday last the families of Geo. Conser and Dr. P. B. McSwords departed for the head of Rhea creek for a few week's outing. They were accompanied by Miss Ada Rhea.

Hood's Pills win new friends daily.

JUST LIKE HIS WHITE BROTHER.—Lo, the poor Indian, was up before his poor Recorder Dufar this morning charged with filling his dusky and mucky hide entirely too full of the pale-faced brother's coffin varnish.

The dark brown flavor of his breath, matching so prettily with his complexion, had remained with him all night, and was present at the time he appeared to plead. His cavernous eyes and noble mien, failed to awaken a responsive cord in the judicial bosom of his judge who fined him five dollars.

He took it stoically, not the five dollars, but the fine, and as he inserted his right hand under his left brachiate and gave five distinct digs with his fingers to impress the amount on his mind, and also to relieve a temporary annoyance caused by a personal friend of his, the marshal bustled him from the witness of the now into the henceness of the elsewhere.

He looked sad, for the sacred fires within had burned low, but the proud steinism of his race, and the briefness of his English vocabulary, forbade him making any protest. He was broke, and also broke to lead, and so he uncomplainingly followed.—The Dalles Chronicle.

CROOKED YET.—Deputy Sheriff Kimbark has been over in Union county looking for two persons who are wanted in Dayton, Wash. Some time since a man and woman hired horses from a Dayton livery keeper and did not return. Their names are Hugh Medlock and Sadie Malatt. The couple came to Oregon and soon the woman assumed male attire and the two robbed several sheep camps along the Woodward toll road leading toward the Summerville and Elgin branch roads. There has been no recent trail struck, and the officers are on the lookout, thinking the fugitives are up in the mountains.—E. O. People of Morrow county will remember that Hugh Medlock "went up" from this section for wrong doing some years ago, and he seems to have not forgotten his old tricks.

BEANED TO DEATH. Sunday a tempest it was discovered that the residence of A. Anderson, an aged Swede, of Canyon City, was a mass of flames, and as the hose was not of sufficient length to reach, all that could be done was to prevent the spread of the fire. Fortunately the wind was blowing from the south, and as it was the last house the danger was very much lessened.

During the fire the query arose as to whether Mr. Anderson had been seen before the fire, or whether he had been caught in the flames and perished. In about an hour this question was settled when the fire had sufficiently cooled to make it possible to determine the question. The body of Mr. Anderson was found lying on his face in one corner of a back room. The body was very much charred and the right foot was burned off. Justice Robinson immediately took charge of the body as ex-officio coroner and had same removed to the old tinshop, when a coroner's jury was summoned.—G and C News.

SECURE JUSTICE. How a French Soldier Brought About the Recognition of His Merit.

It is usually possible to secure recognition for real merit, but to accomplish this some ingenuity is required at times. A French writer tells a story of a French soldier, Chevert, who was as modest as he was brave, but who felt that he had waited for promotion long enough.

He had every claim to the command of a company in his regiment, but the colonel asked that the appointment be given to one of his proteges. Chevert went to Versailles and obtained an audience with the minister of war. This official said that he knew nothing about very well," said Chevert, "simply write to my colonel and ask him to recommend some brave and skillful soldier for an important and difficult task."

ESQUIMAUX USE TOBACCO.

They Mix the Weed with Fine Cut Wood to Make It Go Farther. Perhaps there is nothing more peculiar about the Esquimaux of Point Barrow than their methods of using tobacco, which, of course, they procure from the whites. The whites get it from mad tobacco, says the Washington Star. When they get hold of a few pills of commissary tobacco from a vessel of the United States navy they show a marked appreciation of it. The habit of chewing the weed seems to be universal. Men, women and even unwedded children keep a quid, often of enormous size, constantly in the mouth. The juice is not spit out, but swallowed with the saliva, without producing any symptoms of nausea.

These people, for the sake of making their tobacco go further, cut it up very fine and mix it with finely chopped wood, in the proportion of about two parts of tobacco to one of wood. Willow twigs are commonly used for this purpose, possibly because they have a slightly aromatic flavor. The mode of smoking the weed is thus prepared is very odd. The smoker, after clearing out the bowl of his pipe with a little picker or bone, plucks from his deer-skin clothing in some conspicuous place a small wad of hair. This he rams down to the bottom of the bowl, the purpose of it being to prevent the fine tobacco from getting into the stem and clogging it up. The pipe is then filled with tobacco, of which it only holds a very small quantity. The tobacco is then ignited and all of it is smoked out in two or three strong whiffs. The smoke is deeply inhaled and is allowed to pass out slowly from the mouth and nostrils.

The method of smoking would be found exceedingly trying to any white man. In fact it usually brings tears to the eyes of the Esquimaux, often producing sickness and almost always a violent fit of coughing. A native will sometimes be almost prostrated from the effects of a single pipeful. These people carry their fondness for tobacco so far that they will actually eat the food, only refuse from the bottom of the bowl, the smallest portion of which would produce nausea in a civilized person. This habit has likewise been observed in northern Siberia. They also eat the tobacco ashes, perhaps for the sake of the potash they contain.

CUNGRITY is the thirst of the soul. CUNGRITY discovers little at a time. CUNGRITY is very often confounded with opinion. EVERY man has some favorite topic of conversation. CUNGRITY is always scorned and deceit universally detected. We are more pained by ignorance than delighted by instruction. CUNGRITY, like all other desires, produces pain as well as pleasure.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Jewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 24th N. Y. Cavalry and of the 11th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best compound remedy that compares with them. In preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Jewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, enclosing postal note. They prefer to cash unless otherwise ordered.
