The supplemental tariff bills have been referred to the finance committee.

It is intimated that Cleveland will veto Dolph's river and harbor bill on the plea of economy.

UNCLE SAM gracefully tips his hat to Miss Hawaii. The Queen's messenger can return now at any time. The gam is up.—Baker City Blade.

AS SOON as Cleveland learned that his house had passed the senate's tariff bill he immediately wrote his favorite lieutenant, Wilson, another letter, full of consolation over the defeat.

If Cleveland wants to win the undying affection of the sheepraiser and wool grower of Oregon, as well as the majority of those dependent on them, he can make no better strike than to veto his senate tariff bill.

HON. R. P. BLAND has been renominated by the democrats of the eighth congressional district of Missouri. This is the 12th consecutive time Mr. Bland has been nominated for congress. The republicans have nominated Dr. Jess Hubbard against him.

ONE look at the senate tariff bill and Cleveland is sick with malaria, which necessitates his going to Gray Gable for a week. If the sight of it makes one ill, life for the next few years under the effects of it, will be a choice between the summer resort and the graveyard.

THE largest convention in the history of the democratic party of Indiana, so it is reported, convened at Indianapolis on Wednesday. This might be accounted for by the fact that as most of the boys are out of a job they have plenty of time to turn out in full force. Wait until election day and you will see the unemployed laborers come out to once more vote themselves employment.

THE Indiana democrats are plucky in defeat, and are not a whit discouraged by the gloomy situation at Washington. The largest democratic convention in the history of Indiana is being held today. Possibly it is a case where they have all gone to the convention and there will be none left to go to the polls.—Wednesday's Telegram, Dem. About right. This is the republicans' year back in Hoosierdom.

FOUR members of the Hawaiian commission, who came here to secure redress for ex-Queen Liliuokalani or to prevent the recognition of the new republic, have departed. Their mission was a complete failure. There is every reason to believe also that the royal envoys failed to see the president before his departure for Buzzard's bay. It is understood the position taken by the state department was that when the United States offered to restore Liliuokalani on granting a general amnesty and she refused, the administration considered its relations with the ex-queen terminated.

Home and Abroad. It is the duty of every one, whether at home or traveling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with the remedy which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in every day life. Hood's Sarsaparilla keeps the blood pure and less liable to absorb the germs of disease.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafter, of the Freeman House, Middleburg, N. Y., on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafter has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same Remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. A WOMAN'S STORY.

THE WONDERFUL NARRATIVE OF A PATIENT SUFFERER.

How A Young Woman Was Cured of a Terrible Malady When She Was Near the Brink of the Grave.

The large, pretentious brick residence at 86 Miami avenue, in this city, is the home of the heroine of this interesting story. She is Miss Margaret Stenbaugh, and her interesting experiences during the past four years are published here for the first time.

Miss Stenbaugh is a pretty girl of about 20 years and is today the true picture of the ideal, healthy, robust and jovial American girl. She was not always so, as is proven by the accompanying statement made by her.

"Four years ago," she said, "I was a sufferer in all that the term implies, an unwell thought of being as healthy as I am today. Why, at that time I was such a scrawny, puny little midget, pale and emaciated by an ailment peculiar to women, that my father and mother gave me up to die. The local practitioner, whose name was Dr. Glasford (I was at that time living at Scotland, Ont.), said it was only a matter of days when I would be laid away in the churchyard. I was so informed, and as I was such a sufferer I cared nothing whatever whether I lived or died; in fact, think I would have preferred the latter.

"I could not walk. I became so weak, and regularly every night my father used to carry me up stairs to my room. I distinctly remember my telling him that he wouldn't have to carry me about much longer, and how he said, while the tears distended in his eyes, that he would be willing to do it always if he could only save me with him.

It was evidently foreordained that I would not die at that particular time, as a miraculous transformation in my condition was the talk of the neighborhood.

"I read, or was told by somebody, of the wonderful cures that were being wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and my father went to a friend, where he purchased a couple of boxes from W. Wallace. I commenced taking them, and I thought for a time that they did me no good, as they made me sick at first, but very shortly I noticed a great change. They began to act on my trouble, and in the short space of six weeks I was able to walk. I continued to take the pills, and in six months I was in the condition you see me now. I fully believe that they alone saved me from the grave, and you will always find myself and balance of our family ready to talk about the good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me.

"A short time ago I was feeling unwell and a slight derangement, and I at once bought a box of Pink Pills, and commenced taking them. I could usually feel the good results after three days, and I will recommend them to anybody ill affected as I was."

Sworn and subscribed to before me this 15th day of December, 1893.

D. A. DEANEY, Notary Public, Wayne Co., Michigan.

Druggists say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have an enormous sale, and that from all quarters come in glowing reports of the excellent results following their use. An analysis proves that they contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as leucorrhoea, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous debility, the after effects of influenza, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as depression, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

A CONFERENCE of those who believe "That no permanent improvement in the condition of the country can be hoped for as long as the present gold standard policy is pursued, and who favor the immediate restoration of the bimetallic standard in the United States, with the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1," was held in Washington City yesterday. Papers were read by General A. J. Warner, president of the league; Senators Stewart and Cameron, Representatives Bland and Shibly, Thomas Patterson and E. Wolcott, of Colorado. The policy to be pursued relative to the change in the monetary system of the government was also thoroughly discussed.

Brace the Nerves. Sedatives and opiates won't do it. These nerves do not make the nerves strong, and failing to do this fall short of producing the essential of their guidance—vigor. And while in extreme cases—and these only—of nervous irritation such drugs may be advisable, their frequent use is highly prejudicial to the delicate organism upon which they act, and in order to renew their quieting effect increased and dangerous doses eventually become necessary. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an efficient substitute for such pernicious drugs. It quiets the nerves by bracing, toning, strengthening them. The connection between weakness of the nervous system and that of the organs of digestion is a strong and sympathetic link. The Bitters, by imparting a healthful impulse to the digestive and assimilating functions, promotes throughout the whole system a vigor in which the nerves come in for a large share. Use the Bitters in malaria, constipation, biliousness and kidney trouble.

$100 Reward, $100. The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. AN AUTUMN REVERIE. The Happy Bride Was Entranced by Nature and So Was John.

It was in the month of October and they had been married four weeks. Four blissful weeks they had been together in that lovely country house among the quiet hills, says the Detroit Free Press.

Day after day the autumn sun had been painting the trees in wondrous shades of tints, and now the mountains were great banks of rich maroon, and the valleys, flowing silently between, or streams of grass-green waves and scarlet foam.

This afternoon she sat with him on the long, low piazza and gazed dreamily on the lovely picture spread before her.

At first she talked to him sitting there so comfortable in his great rustic chair, but her voice grew softer and softer until it died away in whispers and she was still.

The mystic, restful touch of the sweet October days was upon her, and it was blissful peace to sit idly in the sun and look upon the beauties of the scene—silent she, as it was.

The old life of her girlhood had gone and she stood upon the threshold of this new life—this wondrous hall of womanhood, extending far, far before her, as were the valleys spread before the mountainside.

There was upon her soul the ineffable calm of autumn time, and the magic of the afternoon fascinated her. And it was not for her alone, but for him; this man who now was part and parcel of her life.

He, too, she felt, must feel the rapturous thrill, the weird and witching spirit of the hour.

"John," she whispered, softly, as the hum of bees that knocks at the door of every honeyed flower.

But John did not respond.

Ah, he too, is clothed in this charm, she thought.

"John," she said, again, this time with eager tone, as if to call him from his reverie and share with her the rhapsody that moved her very soul.

But to her ears no answer came to lay its soft response upon her heart. John was sound asleep.

Grand Duchess Serge. Grand Duchess Serge of Russia, who, with her husband and Grand Duke Paul, has been to Baltimore on a visit to Queen Victoria, is the handsomest of the daughters of the late Princess Alice of Hesse. As a young girl Princess Elizabeth of Hesse attracted great attention, and she was only twenty when she was married. At the queen's jubilee, Grand Duchess Serge was immensely admired, while the jewels she wore at several state entertainments—they were magnificent turquoise and diamonds—excited universal envy. The grand duchess has no children, and it is an open secret that her married life has not been a happy one.

AN OWNERLESS COLLECTION. The Museum at the Dead Letter Office in Washington.

One of the most interesting places in the capital city, according to the New York Advertiser, is the museum in the dead letter office.

Several Indian hatchets give to a section of the cabinet an archeological appearance, and a pair of Indian pipes, a red sandstone cross each other in peaceful style.

A few years ago there came to the dead letter office a tin can upon which no address could be found.

The can was opened, and sixteen lively looking rattlesnakes made their escape. There was a stirring scene in the dead letter office for a few minutes.

G. A. R. NOTICE. We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new commissioner of pensions has been appointed.

He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors and their heirs, who have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is said to be retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, sailors, or their widows, children or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company, at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address, PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, JOHN WEDDERBURN, Managing Attorney, Washington, D. C., P. O. Box 383.

THE WESTERN PEDAGOGUE. We are in receipt of the May number of our state school paper. It exceeds any of the former numbers in value.

The paper this month contains many new and valuable features. The illustrated series on the schools of the state is introduced by a paper on the Friends Polytechnic Institute at Salem, Oregon. These papers cannot fail to be of great value both to the schools and to the public.

There are also several fine articles by our best writers and the departments "Current Events," "Saturday Thoughts," "Educational News," "The Oracle Answers," "Correspondents," etc., each contain much valuable reading for teachers or parents. The magazine has about 50 pages of matter, well printed and arranged. We pronounce the Western Pedagogue the best educational monthly on the coast.

Everyone of our readers should have the paper if they are at all interested in education. No teacher, school director or student can get along well without it. We will receive subscriptions at this office. Price only $1.00 a year.

When desired we will send the Western Pedagogue and Gazette one year to one address for $3.00. Call and examine sample copies. Teachers, directors and parents, now is the time to subscribe. If
