Peppers of Kansas, says the result of the tariff fight will be to strengthen the populists all over the country. It may be so. But at the same time it is strengthening the republican party all over the land.

The Heppner Gazette has a fight on hand with president, C. A. Rhea, and vice-president, Frank Kellogg, of Heppner's First National Bank, wherein the paper seems to have just cause for the complaint.—Burns News.

The Patterson Pub. Co., publishers of the Heppner Gazette, are after the officers of the First National Bank of the town for using its business as a mode of persecution against that paper. The Gazette is retaliating in kind to the best of its ability, and will no doubt carry a part of the laurels.—Harney Times.

The California democratic state convention, which is now in session, has at last adopted a platform. As usual everything in sight is swallowed. Both free silver and the present administration are strongly endorsed. At the mention of Cleveland's name the convention broke into loud cheers lasting for some time. What next?

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, a grandson of the sixth president of the United States and a great grandson of the second president died a few days ago. Though a son of a family renowned in the history of the republic and bearing a name honored in its annals for patriotism and statesmanship, his death was scarcely noticed outside of the circle of his home associations.—Oregonian.

SENATOR WHITE, of California, who added to the finance committee, was known to be an advocate of free silver, and thought to be a believer in free trade, but now it appears that he is not very favorably inclined to the popular tariff bills, especially to the one relative to free silver lead ore, and as the republican members of the committee are of the same opinion it has been decided to drop this bill.

CLEVELAND remains very firm in his purpose to let the tariff bill become a law without his signature, although many congressmen have represented very strongly that should it not have the presidential approval their position on the stump will be embarrassed. The bill cannot become a law without the presidential approval until next Monday, and an adjournment of congress will hardly take place before next Tuesday.

EDITOR HARCOURT, of the Portland Mercury, made a target of a book on cancer yesterday afternoon in the Marquam building. The trouble was caused by the latter grossly insulting Harcourt's wife while out carousing, and from the report we believe Mr. Harcourt's action was justifiable. Fortunately for himself the man got into a room just in time to be missed by a shot through the door. No arrests were made.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freemaner House, Middleburg, N. Y., on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same Balm is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. DEATH BY HEART FAILURE.

So finds the coroner's jury. Brief History of the Deceased.

On receipt of the news of David Leatherman being found dead, Coroner Ayers, as stated in Tuesday's issue, left at once to investigate the cause. Arriving at the home of the deceased he empaneled a jury composed of the following persons: Wm. Gilliam, C. W. Fuller, J. W. McFerrin, John Gaunt, Ralph Berge and S. W. Oresson. Free Green, John Bonjue and H. C. Corbin all testified that they were present at the house Tuesday morning, about 10 o'clock, they found Mr. Leatherman lying on the front porch, face downward and chair tipped over as though he had fallen out of it. After hearing the testimony and carefully examining the jury made the following report: We, the jurors empaneled to investigate the cause of the death of David H. Leatherman, having heard the testimony and made a thorough examination, report that he came to his death by heart failure or some unknown cause.

The body was brought in and interred Wednesday morning under the auspices of Heppner Lodge No. 69, A. F. and A. M., of which he was a member.

David H. Leatherman was born in Arkansas Jan. 2, 1827, and at the time of death he was 67 years, 7 months and 19 days of age. In the summer of '51 he was married to Miss Mary Wells, sister of Abe Wells of this city, who died but a few months after their marriage. Mr. Leatherman left Arkansas in '54, crossing the plains he arrived in California in '55. Mr. Wells came out the next year, and for the following 14 years they were partners in business. In the season of '58 they joined a party of emigrants and crossed through this country locating in British Columbia, where they remained until '63, when they returned and located in Unadilla county, where they carried on a freighting business between Unadilla and the Idaho mines for three years. In '67 they engaged in cattle business and shortly afterwards located on Rhea creek, where Mr. Leatherman has since resided. Soon after his move he purchased Mr. Wells' interest in the cattle business, and carried it on alone quite extensively for a number of years. Mr. Leatherman's brother, Tom, who was formerly a resident of this county, but who now lives in California, is the only member of the family now living on this coast.

THE DEMAND FOR TRAINED TEACHERS RAPIDLY INCREASING. The demand for teachers with normal training is growing rapidly in this state. The state normal school at Monmouth reports that out of the forty-six members of the graduating class of 1893 but one were employed as teachers during the past year. Of its graduates, exclusive of this year's class of fifty-one members, 164 are reported as at present engaged in teaching. The first class was graduated eleven years ago.

The demand for teachers with training and experience is far beyond the supply; the supply of untrained and inexperienced teachers, on the other hand, is far beyond the demand.

Both for the good of the teacher and the good of the schools, a thorough normal course should be taken by those who expect to seek positions in the public schools of the state. It pays to prepare to compete for the best places.

BRACE THE NERVES. Sedatives and opiates won't do it. These nerves do not make the nerves strong, and failing to do this fall short of producing the essential of their quietude—vigor. And while in extreme cases—and these only—of nervous irritation such drugs may be advisable, their frequent use is highly prejudicial to the delicate organism upon which they act, and in order to renew their quieting effect increased and dangerous doses eventually become necessary.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an efficient substitute for such pernicious drugs. It quiets the nerves by bracing, toning, strengthening them. The connection between weakness of the nervous system and that of the organs of digestion is a strong and sympathetic link. The Bitters, by imparting a healthful impulse to the digestive and assimilating functions, promotes throughout the whole system a vigor in which the nerves come in for a large share. Use the Bitters in constipation, consumption, biliousness and kidney trouble.

IONK ITEMS. Heading grain is nearing its close. Holland Bros. purchased a new three harrow. A. C. Pettys expects to build a new home on his ranch. The county superintendent was down visiting relatives and friends. A. T. McNay, of Heppner visited the lone neighborhood or business. During the coming week several threshers will be in full operation. Ben Case, our industrious blacksmith, has work enough on hand for two. Rubie Sperry and family are residing in their old quarters during harvest. Walter Cason has been selling fresh beef to the harvesters for some time. Quite a number have been securing the creek bottom for elder berries and returned, well laden.

Several from this neighborhood expect to go to the mountains during the coming week for recreation and amusement. Laborers, who have been through Morrow County, claim that we have the heaviest grain in the northern portion of our county. JAKE IONK, OR., AUGUST, 17, 1894.

THE OREGON STATE FAIR.

To be held at Salem, for One Week Beginning September 17.

The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Oregon State Fair will be held at Salem on the State Fair Grounds from September 17 to 22, inclusive, and from present indications the Fair this year will be one of the most successful ones—if not the most successful—ever held in the State. The premium lists have been thoroughly revised for this meeting, and many new and attractive features have been added. Everything has been modernized, the old ideas being consigned to the archives. The new grand stand is commodious. The new regulation track is the fastest on the Coast, and some of the best horses in the West will be in attendance. The pavilion will be filled as never before, and a new machinery hall has been constructed to accommodate the large number of exhibitors. This year one ticket admits to all—there being no extra fee charged at the race course gates. The railroads all grant special reduced rates on exhibits, and announce excursion rates during the Fair. There will be ball races, and bicycle races, and novel unique attractions every day. Indians from the Grande Ronde and Siletz reservations will give a representation of an Indian village, and engage in war and feather dances during the daytime. There will be concerts in the pavilion during four nights of the week, and upon these occasions there will be addresses by Oregon's Governor, Governor elect, and ex-Governors, and other celebrities. One day will be devoted to horses and cattle, another to pioneers and State officers, another to fruit, and another to hops, etc.—every day will be a special day.

The State Fair was created by the legislature to advance and encourage the development of the various resources of the State—mineral, agricultural, horticultural, etc., and every section of the State will be accorded an equal opportunity with every other section to exhibit its respective resources, and it is earnestly desired that each section be properly represented at the exhibit.

G. A. K. NOTICE. We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new commissioner of pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislative. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If the U. S. soldiers, sailors, or their widows, children or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company, at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address: PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, JOHN WEDDERBURN, Managing Attorney, Washington, D. C., P. O. Box 383.

Something in Them. The wife of the western congressman, who was living east for the first time, had to take her turn eating shad, just as every person does who gets into the east to live. One morning at breakfast she pushed her plate back with considerable asperity.

"I do," said the small daughter across the table, whom the mother suspected of affecting eastern customs too readily.

"What, pray?" and the mother's tone was tinged with her suspicions.

"Hones," responded the small daughter, and the mother took hope again.

$100 Reward, $100. The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative power, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. DEATH OF RANGLIN MORGAN.

The many relatives, friends and acquaintances were grieved and much surprised also, to hear of the death of S. N. Morgan, of Sand Hollow, which occurred Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock at the Hospital in Walla Walla. For a short time past Mr. Morgan had been engaged as riding boss for two threshers in that country. A few days ago a letter was received from his son, Bob, who was also working up in that country stating that his father was unwell Tuesday morning a telegram was received stating that he was seriously ill with typhoid pneumonia, which was followed the same afternoon by another telegram announcing his death after a brief illness of nine days.

The remains were shipped Wednesday and were met at the Willows by a delegation from the masonic lodge of this city and brought up on Wednesday morning's train. The funeral occurred yesterday afternoon, at 2 p. m., under the auspices of Heppner Lodge No. 69, A. F. & A. M., and Whitmore Lodge No. 45, A. O. U. W., both of which he was a member.

Samuel N. Morgan was born in Davis county, Iowa, Dec. 14, 1853, and was aged 40 years, 8 months and 7 days. He came to this coast in '61 locating in Walla Walla, where he resided for about 10 years, when he moved to this section and located on Sand Hollow where he has since resided. A few years before leaving the Walla Walla country he was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Salang. A wife, ten children and many acquaintances mourn the loss of a true husband, a devoted father and a faithful friend. The sympathies of all are extended to the family in this hour of bereavement.

Last June Dick Crawford brought his twelve-month-old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and had always been sickly. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one ounce of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and purer constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this Remedy. J. T. MANLY, M. D., Tamaron, Ill. For sale by Slocum Johnston Drug Co.

ALMOST DRAGGED UNDER. Adventures of a Seal Hunt in an Eskimo Kaik.

The author of "Eskimo Life" describes a day's hunt, when the men of the village put out to sea, each in his cranky little kaik, after seals, alks, fish, or whatever other game might present itself. Tobias began by chasing a seal which dived and did not come up again within sight, but the man is one of the best hunters of the village, as the reader may judge by what follows. He had sighted another seal, and was skimming over the sea toward it, when the huge head of a hooded seal popped up right in front of the kaik, and was harpooned in an instant.

It makes a frightful wallowing and dives, the harpoon line whirled out, but suddenly gets fouled under the throwing stick of the bird-dart. The bow of the kaik is drawn under with an irresistible rush, and before Tobias knows where he is the water is up to his armpits, and nothing can be seen of him but his head and shoulders and the stern of the kaik, which sticks right up into the air. It looks as if it were all over with him. Those who are nearest paddle with all their might to his assistance, but with scant hope of arriving in time to save him.

Tobias, however, is a first-rate kaik man. In spite of his difficult position he keeps an even keel while he is dragged through the water by the seal, which does all it can to get him entirely under. At last it comes up again, and in a moment he has seized his lance, and, with deadly aim, has pierced the seal through the head. A feeble movement and it is dead.

The other men come up in time to find Tobias busy making his booty fast, and to get the piece of blubber to which each is entitled. They cannot restrain their admiration for his coolness and skill, and speak of it long afterward.

The increased cultivation of poppy in various parts of Europe has, it is said, led to a marked growth in the percentage of opium contained in honey, the properties of which are much influenced by the flowers from which the bees gather it. This is nothing new, for Xenophon relates that his soldiers were intoxicated by eating Trebizond honey, extracted presumably from the poppies which abound in that region.
