AN INDEPENDENT VIEW.

The nomination of Hill makes a sharp and clean division between the vicious and reckless element who supported Maynard last year and the decent people who buried him under a hundred thousand majority. We consider Mr. Hill the most dangerous man in American public life. The people of New York owe themselves the duty of putting an end to his unprincipled career and bad example. That they will do so in the coming election we have not the least doubt. The majority against him ought to be larger than that against Maynard, because he was the principal where Maynard was only the puppet and the tool. Hill has never yet run for governor against a republican in whose support the party was united and in a year when there was no chance for trades. This is the situation which confronts him this year, and it is small wonder that he shrank from a campaign in which he must stand on his record. It seems to us that the proposition to run an independent or anti-machine candidate for governor, which the leaders of the reform democratic organizations in this city and Brooklyn are considering, is of doubtful wisdom. Of course the effect would be to make certain the defeat of Hill and the election of Morton. Now if Morton is to be elected anyway, what is to be gained by a third ticket? Maynard was defeated last year without the aid of a third ticket, and his defeat was far more crushing than it would have been had a democratic opponent to him been in the field. So this year it seems to us that the most effective way by which to rid the state of Hill is to bury him under the largest adverse majority possible, and this can best be rolled up by democrats voting for Morton. In that way every democratic vote for Morton will count two against Hill. A small majority for Morton would make his election a Platt victory; but an overwhelming majority for him would make it an anti-Hill victory. Nobody called Maynard's defeat last year a Platt victory, and a similar disposal of Hill would not be construed as in any way a triumph for Platt.—N. Y. Post. (Ind.)

WILLIAM S. HOLMAN, congressman from the fourth congressional district of Indiana, who is now styled "the watchdog of the treasury," because of his opposition to almost all appropriations, told the people of his state during the campaign of '92 that a vote for Cleveland meant $1.25 a bushel for wheat. Now as Father Holman was a great financier, many believed him and voted for Cleveland, and several even held their wheat waiting for the raise that Mr. Holman had assured them of. But it did not raise. No, it began to decline in price and has been declining ever since. One farmer who had known Holman for many years lost a great deal of money as a result of holding all the wheat he could store away. And to make a long story short, he recently brought suit against Congressman Holman for the money he had lost. Now it wouldn't surprise us to hear of some innocent admirer of Dan Voorhees losing a fortune by banking on his statement relative to the future of wool. But it won't be any citizen of his state. No, those Hoosiers are all too well acquainted with Dan. Why, he's one of the most innocent campaign liars that ever graced the political stump.

A DESPERATE mob, intent on lynching a black fiend back in Ohio Wednesday, was fired upon and several killed by the militia in an attempt to disperse them. While mob violence and promiscuous lynching is to be deplored, yet to a casual observer it would seem that the lives of three ordinarily quiet and law abiding citizens more than equal that of the perpetrator of a dastardly crime. Better have lost the criminal.

THE ship Ivanhoe is now more than two weeks overdue in a voyage from Seattle to San Francisco, and as there has been no news from the vessel, the general belief is that it has been lost. Fred Grant, ex-minister to Bolivia under Harrison and editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, was the only passenger on the vessel, and the gentleman's many friends and admirers are much worried because of no report from the ship.

THE DALLES express robbery is still attracting much interest. Many detectives are now in the city, but if they have any clue or opinion they are afraid to express it for fear it will be stolen. The Oregonian says the express agent, messenger and watchman have been arrested, however, the local papers say this is a mistake, at least, that is the information they get from the officers. Yet a robbery and no doors opened or locks broken looks very strange.

IN CONNECTION with the editorial in our last issue relative to the condition of the wool market, we desire to call the attention of our readers, and especially the Record editor, to the letter published this issue, written by Theodore Justice, of Philadelphia, to Senator Voorhees, of the editor's native state. If this is true it settles the question at issue. And if it were not true, we know enough of Daniel Voorhees, to believe that he would be making political capital out of it. So far he has not mentioned it, and it is safe to say that he has not accepted the offer made by Mr. Justice. Dan knows too well that you can't coin money on democratic assertions. No, they are only vote catchers.

THE Record's feelings are hurt because of our reference to Col. Breckenridge as "W. C. T. U." Breckenridge. Such reference was not intended as a fling at the W. C. T. U. However, those acquainted with Breckenridge, previous to the disgraceful affair with which he was connected, will remember him as an active worker for the cause of temperance and christianity. In fact some of his most brilliant addresses were to gatherings of this kind. As a silver-tongued orator and co-worker his colleagues were very proud of him. In introducing him to a gathering an enthusiastic admirer referred to him as "W. C. T. U." Breckenridge, which was loudly cheered. The newspapers spoke of him in the same manner, and afterward he was often spoken of in that way. It was the memory of this that caused us to speak of him in the manner we did, and not to cast reflection on the W. C. T. U.

THE WOOL MARKET.

A Very Pointed Letter to Senator Voorhees, of Indiana.

Theodore Justice, senior member of the Philadelphia wool commission firm of Justice, Bateman & Co., addresses the following letter to Senator Voorhees: PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 3.—Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees, Terre Haute, Ind.—Dear Sir: I am very glad to see in the Press of this date that in a speech at Jefferson, Ind., on Monday, you predicted that "wool would sell within two weeks at prices higher than prevailed at any time under the McKinley act." Every woolgrower will be glad to know that there is some prospect for a check to the decline in American wool which has taken place since wool was put on the free list on August 27, for since that date the finest wool in your state, viz., Indiana merino unwashed, has declined over 11 per cent and the price is still dropping, and Ohio XX, which is the standard grade of American wool, has declined over 15 per cent since wool was put on the free list, and still going down.

If you feel confident of your prediction that wool will sell within two weeks at prices higher than prevailed at any time under the McKinley act, the firm of which I am a member, can offer you an opportunity for a profitable investment in wool. They will furnish XX Ohio, which is about the finest grade of American wool, at 18 1/2 cents for such sold at 30 1/2 cents on March 1, 1893, a decline of over 39 per cent since the McKinley law was administered by General Harrison's administration and immediately before tariff revisions was begun, and which sold at 34 1/2 cents in March, 1891, immediately after the McKinley law was enacted. An advance in the price within two weeks from 18 1/2 cents to 34 1/2 cents, the highest price under the McKinley law, would be an advance of over 86 per cent, paying a profit of $160,000 on each 1,000,000 pounds of wool bought. Here is an opportunity to make money if your prediction is correct, which seldom occurs more than once in a lifetime, and if you desire to make the operation, my firm will furnish 80 per cent of the money required, and will buy the wool for you, and you can secure as many million pounds in the markets of Philadelphia and Boston as you will probably want, as every responsible wool-dealer in these markets will be glad to take your business on the same terms.

As the McKinley law on "manufactures of wool" is still in force, and as the reduced duties of the senate bill do not go into effect until January 1, 1895, and as the mills already have free wool of course they are busy. The contrast between busy American wool mills and a dull American wool market with falling prices is one of the first fruits of the repeal of the duty on wool. Many manufacturers who under the McKinley law wool schedules previous to their repeal were using American wool exclusively are now using foreign. Others are now using foreign wools to mix with domestic wool previous to the 27th of August were using the latter exclusively, so that the promised increased use of American wool (under the new tariff law) for mixing purposes has not been fulfilled, but, on the other hand, American wool has so far been displaced by the use of foreign as to make the former almost unobtainable, involving concessions in price in order to place American wool. It is exceedingly gratifying to learn that Americans are soon to have an advancing wool market, for under the new tariff bill the only declining wool markets in the world are in the United States, while foreign markets are advancing, as you will see by reading the daily cable reports of the London wool auctions. American wools have declined at a time when the American mills, which are still operating under the McKinley law, are the only mills in the world that are at present crowded with orders. Very truly yours, THEODORE JUSTICE.

THE BRANCH ASYLUM The state supreme court, says the Telegram, has decided the branch asylum controversy, and has decided it right. Judge Wolverson's decision is a clear exposition of the law relating to the matter, and there is no substantial reason for further caviling. The necessity for additional asylum accommodations was so apparent that the legislature had to make some provision for it. The advantage of having a branch asylum in the eastern part of the state was also apparent. And it is a pity that the work of construction has been delayed so long in order to await the outcome of judicial proceedings that were prompted by local and selfish considerations. The branch asylum ought to

Your attention is very forcibly called to the fact, from the very disagreeable odor that hangs over the upper end of town, that some 200 head of sheep died two weeks ago just outside the city limits to the east. These same dead sheep have not as yet been buried and are beginning to be almost an unbearable nuisance to the residents of the city in that neighborhood. If this matter is not attended to soon sickness will result. The authorities should look to this at once.

The success that has attended the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment in the relief of pain and in curing diseases which seemed beyond the reach of medicine, has been truly remarkable. Hundreds have been crippled for life with arms and legs, drawn up crooked or distorted their muscles withered or contracted by disease have been cured through the use of this remedy. ## PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringing on others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served ninety days, or over, in the late war, are entitled, if now partially or wholly disabled for ordinary manual labor, whether disability was caused by service or not, and regardless of their pecuniary circumstances. WIDOWS of such soldiers and sailors are entitled (if not remarried) whether soldier's death was due to arm service or not, if now dependent upon their own labor for support. WIDOWS of such soldiers and sailors are entitled (if under sixteen years) in almost all cases where there was no widow, or she has since died or remarried. PARENTS are entitled (if under sixteen years) in almost all cases where there was no widow, or she has since died or remarried. Soldiers of the late war, pensioned under one law, may apply for higher rates under other laws, without losing any rights. Thousands of soldiers drawing from $2 to $10 per month under the old law are entitled to higher rates under new law, not only on account of disabilities for which now pensioned, but also for others, whether due to service or not. Soldiers and sailors disabled in line of duty in regular army or navy since the war are also entitled, whether discharged for disability or not. Survivors and their widows, of the Black Hawk, Creek, Cherokee and Seminole or Florida Indian Wars of 1832 to 1842, are entitled under a recent act. Mexican War soldiers and their widows also entitled, if sixty-two years of age or disabled or dependent. Old claims completed and settlement obtained, whether pension has been granted under later laws or not. Rejected claims reopened and settlement secured, if rejection improper or illegal. Certificates of service and discharge obtained for soldiers and sailors of the late war who have lost their original papers. No charge for advice. No fee unless successful.
