A PROBABLE INCREASE.

A point that has been overlooked in computing the political complexion of the next senate is the admission of Utah with two senators. The act of the last session of congress admitting Utah provides that in March, 1895, the constitutional convention shall be held. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday of that year the constitution is to be submitted to the people, and if ratified and found by the president to be in accordance with the act, he will issue a proclamation admitting it as a state. The act also provides that a representative to the 54th congress shall be elected at the time the vote is taken upon the constitution; also state officers and a legislature shall be chosen, and that, if the constitution is ratified, the legislature shall immediately meet and elect two United States senators. As there is about a month from the time the election is held until the 54th congress meets, there will be ample time to have all the formalities complied with and Utah proclaimed as a state in time for the senators and representative to participate in the organization of the next congress. This would make in all 90 senators, and as the next senate now stands, the politics of the Utah senators would cut an important figure.

Another probability which arises is the admission of both New Mexico and Arizona, which may be accomplished in time so that four more senators would participate in the organization of the next senate. Bills have already passed the house for the admission of both these territories. The senate committee on territories has reported them favorable to the senate, and they are now on the calendar. Senators of both parties have been urging their passage. It is therefore quite likely that the battle for the control of the senate will yet be fought out in Utah, New Mexico and Arizona next year. The admission of these new states would make a total of 94 senators, and any party, to control, would need 48 for a majority. With the vice president the democrats could control the senate with 47 senators.

IF DAVID B. HILL is not elected governor of New York today there will be many disappointed democrats in Portland. Since they have begun to watch him and his methods, most of them have become his enthusiastic admirers. Two years ago in the state convention, he was scouted and the one or two men that dared mention his name were scorned. Everyone was a rampant, militant adherent of Cleveland; now most of them have become very weary of him. They did not understand either man thoroughly. At last they have learned that Hill is the ablest politician, and probably the greatest administrator in the country. And their opinion of Cleveland has fallen in a like ratio. But I cannot see why one may not have a proper respect for each. If Hill is elected today, Multnomah county will demand his nomination in the next national convention. The Multnomah democracy has a large idea of its importance in national conventions.—Tomahawk. But now since Hill has been snowed under by more than 150,000 plurality what will the Multnomah democrats demand?

TEXAS comes to the front with some republican congressman. Texas even changes with the rest of the South.

UP IN Washington the republicans have more members in the legislature than both other parties together. The democrats have but thirteen. This alone will hoodoo them.

The old saying of Lincoln about fooling the people is true beyond doubt or denial. You can't fool all of them all the time. Very few of them seemed to have been fooled last Tuesday.

WITH North and South Carolina, Missouri and West Virginia in the republican column, and Tennessee in all probabilities in the same line, it looks as though the "Solid South" was a thing of the past.

O. P. MASON and B. P. WATSON former editors of the Portland Mercury will have to serve a year in the county jail. The decision of the lower court having been affirmed by the supreme court.

THE Alliance Herald, of Pendleton, a very creditable populist publication, has been compelled to suspend publication owing to the failure of the party to give it sufficient support. R. H. Whitson, formerly of Lexington, was manager of the Herald.

"MISSOURI gone republican!—I—d—i believe it," was the forcible remark of one of the faithful on our streets last Thursday. They have always considered this one of the political impossibilities, however, they should remember, in the language of Napoleon, that nothing is impossible.

THE next house of representatives will be republican overwhelmingly, and the senate from present appearances will have a working majority the same way. If Grover were out of the way, the year 1896 would see the old regime doing good work and prosperous times at hand. The people have learned a lesson.

IT is said that the Missouri democrats in this state disown their birthplace since the republican victory in that state, which from time immemorial has been a democratic stronghold. This is not right. They should give their brothers at home credit for knowing what they want and let them vote that way.

CAP. JOHN W. LEWIS, late register of The Dalles U. S. Land office, is talked of as the next Adjutant-General of Oregon. Capt. Lewis was a gallant soldier for the Union in war times where he distinguished himself so greatly that he was commissioned in the regular army. He has made a model United States land office chief at The Dalles, and he will make a model adjutant-general, if Gov. Lord makes him his appointee.—Monro Observer.

THE Portland Tomhawk pays the following compliment to Capt. Lewis: "The two leading candidates for the position of adjutant-general of the National Guard are Mr. John W. Lewis, of The Dalles, re-register of the United States Land Office, and Lieutenant Charles E. Roblin, of Salem, adjutant of the second regiment. Judge Lord after his inauguration will doubtless appoint a republican to the place, which is now held by Colonel R. W. Mitchell. At least he is expected to do so by the stalwarts and if he fails to commence the process of decapitation immediately, there will be great hue and crying. I am told that Mr. Lewis stands the better chance, for Lieutenant Roblin's residence in Salem, from which place there will be dozens of candidates for every position, will handicap him."

The Most Successful Gas Engine

In the market is run without an electric spark battery. Theory is all very well, but the everyday experience of constant practical use is the best test of merit. The man who runs a launch and finds himself drifting with tide and wind because the "spark" fails to ignite the charge of gas in his engine, the man who prints a daily paper and fails to get it off on time because the "spark" again fails; the man who has fruit that is injured for lack of irrigation because the "spark" fails in his engine that runs the pump; not only such parties but others who have trouble from like causes should bear in mind that the Hercules Gas and Gasoline Engine is free from such difficulties. The ignition is simple and sure. Send for catalogue. If you want second-hand engines of other makes at cheap rates we can supply you. We have a number taken in trade and cannot take any more until they are realized on. FALMER & REY, 175 FOGDON, Front & Alder Sts., Portland, Oregon.

AN IMPROMPTU JOLLIFICATION.—Saturday evening a few republicans congregated and decided unanimously that we should celebrate the grand republican victory. Accordingly S. S. Horner elected himself financier and with little assistance, which was not needed, soon collected the amount necessary to purchase dynamite, powder, wood, coaloil etc., for the occasion. The explosion of dynamite on the hill above town and a large bonfire on Main street at the Palace hotel corner soon congregated a large crowd. At this point some joshier "turned on" the fire alarm which brought out the hose companies to the scene, when the democratic element good-naturedly attempted to attach the hose and put out the fire and disperse the crowd, however, the republicans were equal to the emergency and soon overpowered them when the hose cart was returned to the engine house. An improvised stand, consisting of a dry good's box, was brought out when Hon. J. N. Brown was captured and placed upon the box. Mr. Brown pleasantly entertained the crowd for a short time and in conclusion introduced Hon. John Gill, of Portland, ex-representative from Multnomah county, who in a few well chosen words convinced all that he was much pleased with the victory. His remarks created much enthusiasm. A. W. Patterson, chairman of the Morrow county central committee, was next introduced to the box which he held down for a short time. J. W. Dawson was then captured and convinced all that he was pleased with the result. Rev. J. T. Hoskins, of Galloway, and Hon. John Q. Wilson, of Salem, ex-representative from Marion county, also spoke briefly and were roundly cheered. Several others were captured and placed on the box, where they were held until they had at least bowed acknowledgments. After giving three cheers for the wonderful victory and for the three republican standard bearers, Harrison, McKinley and Reed, the celebration ended.

Their success in treating these cases is shown by thousands of references from trustworthy people all over the country. Persons having afflicted children or friends should convince themselves of the excellent results of the system of treatment by this institute. One or more of these surgeons will be at the Palace Hotel, Heppner, Thursday, Nov. 15th, one day, to examine cases. Send for circular. Reference may be had to Hon. Thos. L. NOT A TRUE BILL.—At the recent session of a circuit court in Union county the grand jury brought in "not a true bill" in the case of John Young, which only a few weeks ago killed Mrs. Murphy and wounded her husband, John Murphy, over in the Eagle valley. Union county papers state that the lack of sufficient evidence to prosecute is given as the reason for not finding a true bill for indictment.

HOBBIES OF NOTED WOMEN.

Actors and Singers, Particularly Noted.—The princess of Wales has a mania for collecting postage stamps. Queen Victoria's hobby finds vent in the collection of curious coins. The late Countess Ruspoli spent many years of her life in collecting Napoleonic relics and succeeded in acquiring a very valuable assortment.

Professional women are, according to the Philadelphia Times, most given to this sort of thing. Clara Morris and Mrs. Langtry dote on horses, the latter having put to good use her love of them by the discretion she exercises in buying those that win many a purse for her on the turf.

Mrs. Bernard Boere buys mechanical dolls as other women invest in bonbons, and her collection is a large and valuable one. Fanny Haughton goes for antique jewelry and odd hair pins, while Pauline Hall's more modern taste inclines her toward sapphires and turquoises. It is said she possesses more beautiful marriage rings than any woman in the profession.

Christine Nilsson has a fancy for fans of rare lace and exquisite workmanship. This little hobby is one of most expensive ones that can be thought of, and unless one possesses royal friends or a royal pocket-book the mania should be transferred to something less apt to bankrupt one.

Agnes Repplier, as a representative literary woman, divides her time between her essays and a large and interesting family of cats, that she adores. Bernhardt's fairs are too numerous to mention, while there are many women in private life who let their fancy run rampant on shoes, old silver, lace, autographs and in fact hundreds of queer fancies, for individual tastes lie in different directions, and the world of women is ever growing larger.

Weak Mothers and all women who are nursing babies, derive almost inconceivable benefits from the nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion. This is the most nourishing food known to science. It enriches the mother's milk and gives her strength. It also makes babies fat and gives more nourishment to growing children than all the rest of the food they eat. PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS. Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of inventors, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.
